State Grange Leads Fight Against Rural Phone Rate Increase

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange has been leading a battle against a proposal by a major telephone service provider that is seeking to increase the rates to rural customers in order to lower its urban and city rates.

During a public hearing on telecommunications deregulations held Thursday by the state Senate Consumer Protection and Professional Licensure Committee, Brenda Shambaugh, legislative director for the Pennsylvania State Grange testified against a proposal by Bell Atlantic to "rebalance" its rates.

In January this year, Bell Atlantic proposed to the state Public Utility Commission that it be allowed to restructure and rebalance its rates with the observation that "The total effect of this rate rebalancing will be revenue neutral to Bell Atlantic and Pennsylvania." The effective date of the filing was to be March 17.

The reason for the proposal is increased competition in all the markets — in effect, Bell is being challenged by small companies for city customers. Bell has an estimated 4.2 million customers in the state. According to 1990 census data, Pennsylvania has about 11,881,643 residents.

Most Pennsylvanians live near Philadelphia or Pittsburgh, with the Scranton/Wilkes-Barre region also higher in density.

The state PUC is described in the most recent issue of the Pennsylvania Manual as "... an independent, quasi-judicial agency created by the Legislature in 1937 to establish and maintain reasonable rates and safe, adequate service in the regulation of the state's public utilities."

It has a 1995-96 budget of $37,439,000, and covers a range of public utilities and services, from railroads, truck, taxi and bus operators, natural gas gas pipelines, water and telephone lines, etc. Its funding comes from an assessment on rates, which in effect are user fees, because utilities pass on their costs to customers.

The gist of the proposal is that Bell suggests that it is seeking a shifting of its rate charges that will not increase the total income Bell derives from offering phone service, nor will it increase the total amount Pennsylvanians pay them as a whole.

Instead, it seeks to raise rates for customers in already economically

PDA's Pesticide Container Recycling Dates, Places Given

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will again be conducting plastic pesticide container recycling this year in many areas of the commonwealth. The recycling program, which is available to all pesticide users, is entering the third year for collection of clean, plastic containers.

The initial year (1994) included 3 counties, Adams, Franklin and Lancaster and yielded over 7,500

HERSHEY (Dauphin Co.) — "It's time to set aside your troubles for an evening of enjoyment," John Hoffman, executive director of the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation, told 1,400 people on Wednesday evening at the Federation's annual fund raising banquet.

Producers and agri-industry representatives from all over Pennsylvania and states including Tennessee, Arizona, and others enjoyed an evening discussing some of the pleasures and challenges of the $600 million per year state poultry business.

Also, after a meal of turkey breast and a dessert featuring the "Hershey Snowball," guests listened to the country sounds of music star Ricky Skaggs.

William Trace, chairman of the Federation, reminded the poultry producers and industry representatives of the importance of the annual fund-raising event, in light of January's "terrible Farm Show" and the plummeting business at the Federation's Food

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — Professional opportunities in agriculture are greater now than ever before, Al Wenger told the Penn State Poultry Science Club at its sixth annual banquet on April 19.

Head of Wenger Feeds in Rheems, Wenger emphasized the dire need for college graduates who have specialized skills in such areas as market management, computer programming, public relations, human resources, and foreign languages. He also advised students to "make yourself increasingly valuable throughout your career" by constantly expanding knowledge and experience in areas where people are in demand.

Many World Champions Get Start At Win Blu Stables

WAKEFIELD (Lancaster Co.)—For Vicki Greer and her husband Charles, this story started in 1982 when the son of a world champion, WindHoverEnchantmint (Mint), became available as a yearling. Well, at least the horse-breeding part of the story started then.

Vicki started riding, driving, and training horses as a youth. The gelding that was her first horse when she was a teenager is now nearly 30 years old and still graces the Win Blu Stables' 30-acre farm pastures. Charles was a quarter horse man. But gradually the Greers fell in love with the Morgans.

"I like to ride a horse that has a lot of strength but still has the calm personality that allows for family use," Vicki said. "The Morgan breed, which started 200 years ago in the US with a mutant that looked neither like his father nor mother, gives you that all-round horse."

Versatility is one of the major characteristics of the Morgan breed as the offspring of Mint has proven. But that's ahead of the story.

When Mint was a yearling, Vic-

PRICES TO RETAILERS WERE UNCHANGED TO LOWER FOR THE LARGE SIZES, AND MEDIUM WHITE EGGS IN PHILA. WHILE MEDIUM BROWN EGG PRICES WERE UNCHANGED. PRICES PAID TO PRODUCERS FOR BROWN EXTRA LARGE THROUGH MEDIUM WERE LOWER, AND THE BALANCE WERE UNCHANGED. THE MARKET TONE WAS WEAK. DEMAND INTO RETAIL CHANNELS REMAINED DISMAL UNLESS FEATURED. SUPPLIES OF EXTRA LARGE AND LARGE WERE FULLY ADEQUATE TO AMPLE, MEDIUMS WERE ADEQUATE TO INSTANCES FULLY ADEQUATE WHERE DEMAND HAD SLOWED, AND JUMBOS AND SMALLS WERE GENERALLY NO MORE THAN ADEQUATE. OFFERINGS FROM OTHER AREAS WERE PLENTIFUL. BREAKING STOCK SUPPLIES WERE AT LEAST ADEQUATE FOR THE MODERATE DEMAND, AND PRICES WERE MOSTLY UNCHANGED TO INSTANCES LOWER; PLANTS RAN FULL SCHEDULES FROM COMMITTED SHELL EGG SUPPLIES AND EXTRA PURCHASING WAS MINIMAL.

PHILADELPHIA: PRICES TO RETAILERS, SALES TO VOLUME BUYERS, USDA GRADE A AND GRADE A WHITE EGGS IN CARTONS, DELIVERED STORE DOOR, CENTS PER DOZEN: EXTRA LARGE .77-.85, LARGE .75-.83, MEDIUM .70-.74.

NY Phil Frozen Eggs

APRIL 19, 1996

Yolk prices were higher under a firm trade sentiment. The balance of prices were unchanged to higher under a fully steady market tone. Demand improved, especially for yolks, and was fair to fairly good with the majority of sales for less-than-trucklot volumes. Supplies of yolks were tight, and the balance of products were barely adequate to adequate. Shell egg offerings were no more than adequate, and prices were unchanged to higher. Edible liquid and frozen eggs (ingredients included) processed under federal inspection in the Eastern region for the week ending April 13, 1996 were 13% greater than both last week and the same week last year.

Delmarva Broiler

APRIL 24, 1996

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds was moderate to good and best on the closely balanced to short supply of 2.5 and 3 pound sizes; offerings of heavier weights were adequate and clearing satisfactorily. Live supplies were mostly moderate; weights were light to heavy, mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were moderate to heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 56 to 68 cents. Trade sentiment was fully steady to firm. In the parts complex, breast items were short of inquiry. Leg quarters were balanced to closely cleared. Wings remained in heaviest supply and were generally slow to clear.

APRIL 24, 1996

Trucklot buying interest continued to improve on breast items, other parts were at least fair with the exception of wings which were difficult to move. Offerings were in very close balance to instances short of needs on breast items, ample on wings, and in balance on the remainder. Retail and distributive movement was generally fair with most activity centering around dealers building floor stocks in preparation for the first of the month. The market tone was fully steady to firm in instances.

National Egg Market

APRIL 24, 1996

Prices were unchanged to lower for large and extra-large in the Northeast and Midwest, and the balance of prices were unchanged. The market tone was barely steady to weak for large and extra-large, and steady for mediums, smalls and jumbos. Demand was light to instances fairly good, mostly fair, and best where featured. Supplies were adequate to ample for the large and extra-large, and light weight eggs and jumbos remained no more than adequate. Breaking stock supplies were adequate from regular sources and surplus offerings, and the market tone held steady. Live hen offerings were fully adequate to ample for the limited demand.

New York Egg Market

APRIL 24, 1996

Prices were lower for the large sizes, and unchanged for mediums. The market tone was steady for mediums, and weak for large. Demand continued to slow and was generally no better than fair unless featured. Supplies of the large sizes were at least adequate with offerings from outside the immediate area surplus, and medium supplies remained generally adequate.

Wenger Feeds. Preserving a Tradition of Value with the Best Technology Available.

We at Wenger Feeds believe that good stewardship is the heart of agribusiness.

That's why we take great pride in offering an improvement in nutrition—and protection for the environment: Wenger's MW Feeding Program with Natuphos™ from BASF.

Quality feed is a precise formulation and a key ingredient to your business success. Our commitment to your success is another reason that we now include the important new ingredient Natuphos™ in our feed formulations for layers. And we're the first Mid-Atlantic feed manufacturer to offer this improvement.

Our tests have shown that Natuphos™ can:

- Enhance the nutritional value of feed by improving digestibility of phytate-bound phosphorus in grain.
- Protect the environment by decreasing phosphorus in manure and its entry into surface water.

Two important feed benefits from two names you can trust . . . Wenger Feeds and BASF.

TM Natuphos is a trademark of Gist-Brocades B V

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
APRIL 24, 1996

Wheat and corn bids turned higher after trading lower earlier today. Soybean bids weakened due to profit taking. Wheat 4 to 24 cents higher except St. Louis 3 cents lower. Corn 8 to 11 cents higher. Sorghum 7 to 23 cents higher. Soybeans 2 to 3 cents lower. Although traders believe the markets have been overbought and not much new to talk about, wheat futures hit the ceiling again. Some liquidation was noted in early morning trading but the market turned around fast and moved up the limit for another day. Dryness continues in winter many wheat areas and crops have not improved. Lack of new export orders limited cash gains for wheat. Another good day for export business as Mexico and Taiwan purchased corn and some beans. Parts of the Midwest are receiving moisture and planting delays have been reported. Profit taking on the board has sent soybean bids lower for the second consecutive day. YOUR TOP COWS ARE PAYING YOUR BILLS

During these times of extremely high grain prices it's critical that you get the right feed to the right cows. Cutting back feed on all the cows may be cutting into the milk production on your top cows who are making your best profits.

Below are some typical income and feed costs on cows milking 40, 60, 80 and 100 lbs. of milk per day. As you can see, the 80 and 100 lbs. cows have a higher feed cost, eat more expensive feed, and yet these are the cows that will produce the most income over feed cost - and it's income that pays the bills.

40 lbs. of Milk Per Day

	lbs. Fed	Cost/Ton	Cost/Day
Alfalfa Hay	16 lbs.	$150	$1.20
Corn Silage	40 lbs.	$35	.70
Pennfield #72516 Valu-Tech 16% Flake	8 lbs.	$231	.92
		TOTAL COST PER DAY	$2.82
		40 LBS. MILK @ $12.95* CWT	$5.18

INCOME OVER FEED & FORAGE $2.36 PER DAY

60 lbs. of Milk Per Day

	lbs. Fed	Cost/Ton	Cost/Day
Alfalfa Hay	12 lbs.	$150	$.90
Corn Silage	40 lbs.	$35	.70
Pennfield #72516 Valu-Tech 16% Flake	20 lbs.	$231	2.31
		TOTAL COST PER DAY	$3.91
		60 LBS. MILK @ $12.95* CWT	$7.77

INCOME OVER FEED & FORAGE $3.86 PER DAY

80 lbs. of Milk Per Day

	lbs. Fed	Cost/Ton	Cost/Day
Alfalfa Hay	12 lbs.	$150	$.90
Corn Silage	40 lbs.	$35	.70

		TOTAL COST PER DAY	$5.19
		80 LBS. MILK @ $12.95* CWT	$10.36

INCOME OVER FEED & FORAGE $5.17 PER DAY

100 lbs. of Milk Per Day

	lbs. Fed	Cost/Ton	Cost/Day
Alfalfa Hay	12 lbs.	$150	$.90
Corn Silage	40 lbs.	$35	.70
Pennfield #72516 Valu-Tech 16% Flake	21 lbs.	$231	2.43
Pennfield #52020 Target 21% Top-Dress	14 lbs.	$302	2.11
		TOTAL COST PER DAY	$6.14
		100 LBS. MILK @ $12.95* CWT	$12.95

INCOME OVER FEED & FORAGE $6.81 PER DAY

Areas To Increase Profitability

1.) Use 2 feed program for milk cows. Fresh cows must have a high energy, nutrient dense feed designed for peak performance, and lower producing cows are fed a least cost ration.

2.) Increase forage feeding to lower producing cows - this will reduce the amount of purchased feed needed to balance their feeding program.

3.) Milk in the tank pays the bills - see your banker and buy some fresh cows to see you through the summer months.

4.) Cull the lower 10% of your herd and use the proceeds to buy fresh cows.

5.) Sell off 50% of the heifers that are not due to freshen in the next 3-4 months. Heifers to freshen in 1997 won't do you much good if you are forced to sell out in the summer of 1996.

The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

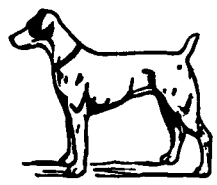
APRIL 29-MAY 5 1996

FULL FLOWER MOON, MAY 3.

BE KIND TO ANIMALS WEEK

The first full week in May (beginning May 5) has been designated by the American Humane Association as a time to appreciate pets and other animals. Dogs and cats go back to ancient times as friends to humans, and both were once worshipped as gods in some societies. Dogs were probably the first domesticated animal, up to 15,000 years ago; the history of cats runs more like 5,000 years. In the 11th century A.D., a dog named Saur was named king of Norway by his master, the real ruler, who was angry with his subjects. Closer to home, Dr. Samuel Johnson fed his favorite cat, Hodge, fresh oysters every day, while Theodore Roosevelt invited the double-toed Slippers to diplomatic dinners

A cat may look at a king.



TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ When choosing a pet, keep its lifespan in mind. Cats and dogs may live 20 years or more.

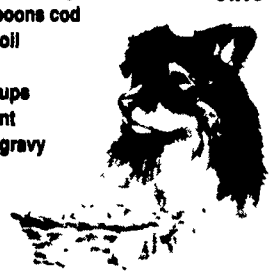
MOXIE "COOKIES"

These were Moxie's favorite treat. Your dog will love them, too!

3-1/2 cups whole wheat flour
3 cups rolled oats
1/2 cup powdered milk
1/2 cup bacon grease
2 teaspoons cod liver oil
2 eggs
1-1/2 cups instant beef gravy

Combine all ingredients into a sticky dough. Drop by tablespoons onto ungreased cookie sheets and bake at 325° F for 50 minutes. Cool on rack and store in plastic bag.

Makes about 30 dog biscuits.



The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

Hoar frost on May 1 indicates a good harvest.

Shear your sheep in May, and shear them all away.

Special Offer: Handy chart full of interesting weather proverbs. Send $3 to Weather Chart, Dept. UF, The Old Farmer's Almanac, Box 520, Dublin, NH 03444.

OPINION

Celebrate The Grange

This week has been celebrated as national Grange Week and state Gov. Tom Ridge officially proclaimed the recognition for Pennsylvania.

With expectations of perhaps an even more corporate environment for agriculture because of the new Farm Bill, free market agriculture without government subsidization, and cooperative mergers, some may question the value of the 125-year-old Pennsylvania State Grange.

There are, after all, many other business and professional organizations that formed in support of the agricultural sector since the Pennsylvania State Grange was formed.

The Grange is important however and can be expected to continue in rural Pennsylvania by providing a voice about legislative issues for more than the fewer than 2 percent of the population that still live on farms.

The Grange is about providing service for all rural families and communities. It has a niche that can be expected to continue.

Not only is the Grange an organization that seeks to protect agricultural interests, it provides members with competitive services such as insurances and a credit union, and opportunities to work together for the betterment of their own communities.

The Grange has three main aspects — legislation, member service, and community service — none more important than the other.

Also Grange members don't have to own a farm or raise crops or animals to join.

The Grange also means different things to different communities, but mostly is means improving the quality of life for rural Americans.

The Pennsylvania State Grange and its subordinate organizations conduct educational training in such things as farm rescues (for which it won a national award) and sign language, roadside cleanups, maintaining parks, providing forums for meeting political candidates, and raising funds for worthwhile efforts through making and selling crafts and foods.

Their recipe books are common, but they also make quilts, blankets and comforters for at-risk babies, and they provide stuffed toys for hospitals, ambulances and Ronald McDonald Houses to help hurt and injured children to be comforted.

To find out more about the organization call the state office at 1-800-552-3865.

To Evaluate Spring Planting Of Alfalfa

This year's spring weather has been anything but helpful in getting crops planted on time.

Normally by the beginning of May, nearly all the seedings of alfalfa are done. As we move later into what would be considered the normal growing season, the question is, "Was the optimum planting time for a particular crop missed?"

Alfalfa may be planted through the month of May with good results. However, plantings which have been delayed will be under a lot more pressure from weeds if a herbicide is not used.

Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, states there are many things that should be considered when deciding whether to plant alfalfa this late or plant corn or another crop. It may be worth saving an old alfalfa field until next year and planting another crop this year.

If a short season corn is planted for silage, it may be possible to plant a fall seeding of alfalfa. Careful selection of corn herbicides is necessary with this plan.

To Evaluate Planting A Nurse Crop

A good method of controlling weeds in alfalfa is the use of a nurse crop.

The most common crop used is oats. Companion crops offer several advantages. Because oats gets off to a quick start, they will help to control weeds and reduce erosion during early season storms when the alfalfa is small.

Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, reminds us there are also some disadvantages. First, fields which have a nurse crop never seem to be harvested at the proper time. If the oats are harvested at the proper stage of growth, the alfalfa is harvested too young. This early harvesting can be hard on a new seeding. If the alfalfa is harvested at the proper stage, the oats are too mature and makes poor quality feed.

Second, many farmers do not spray for leafhoppers when oats are seeded with the alfalfa. Usually leafhoppers do a lot of damage to these new seedings.

Recent research at Wisconsin and Minnesota found the highest yields and feed quality were obtained with alfalfa planted with oats, when the oats was removed during early growth using a post-emergent grass herbicide. In the study, they found the oats should be killed when it is six to eight inches tall. Growing inexpensive oats worked as well as using a more expensive seed.

To Look At Weed Control

Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, notes that in recent years a segment of the American population has been asking if society benefits from the agricultural use of pesticides.

Pressure to reduce the amount of herbicides used for weed control is being applied by these groups. They suggest that the use of herbicides is not profitable.

However, the development of techmologies which can monitor yields "on the go" during harvest have farmers expressing surprise regarding the loss in crop yield from a seemingly low population of weeds.

How much weed control is enough? The level of weed control you should strive for is dependent on several factors. These include crop price, crop yield, weed species, weed seed bank, harvest problems caused by weeds, poisonous seeds, and losses in crop quality.

It could be very important to achieve the highest level of weed control possible to avoid future production loses and feeding problems.

HOW CLOSE DO YOU LIVE?
April 28, 1996
Background Scripture:
John 15:1-17
Devotional Reading:
John 15:18-27

I confess that I have never fully appreciated John 15 until just now. It always seemed to be going in circles, repeating over and over the same words. I do prefer writing that goes directly from point-A to point-B without making detours along the way.

But, having just read John 15 again I am surprised to find that it so clearly and plainly sets forth what God wants from us. If you reduce Christian discipleship to a few key concepts, they are all found in this 15th chapter of John. What he expects of us is not successful churches, rituals or dogmas, but first of all, to abide in him.

I counted no fewer than eight items in John 15:1-17 that he uses the term "abide" and maybe there was an "abide" or some that I missed. "Abide in me," he invites us (15:4). "If you abide in me and my words abide in you, ask whatever you will ..." (15:7). To "abide" with Christ means simply to live as close to him as we can. It is from this close relationship with Christ that we derive our power to serve him. How close do you live to Jesus Christ?

TO BEAR FRUIT

The second admonition in John 15 is the bear fruit. I count eight places in John 15:1-17 where the word fruit is mentioned almost always of bearing fruit. "Every life is intended and expected to be fruitful, to produce positive and constructive results. The emphasis is not upon our words, but our deeds. In Matthew 7:20 Jesus said, "By their fruits you shall know them." What Christ expects of us are tangible evidences of our devotion to him. How fruitful is your life?

What is fruitfulness? Jesus says, "If you keep my commandments, you will abide in my love, just as I have kept my father's commandments and abide in his love." The evidence of our abiding in Christ is in the keeping of his commandements. Keeping his commandments keeps us close to him and his love, creates an empowering friendship. "You are my friends if you do what I command you" (15:14).

So, what are these commandments that we are to obey. You can hunt through the four gospels and list them one by one, but there's another, simpler way. "This is my commandement, that you love one another as I have loved you" (15:12). Add all of Jesus' commandements togther and the sum total is love, love for one another, love that is epitomized as: "Greater love has no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends" (15:13).

HOARDING LIFE

This is the example that Jesus has set before us. He laid down his life for his friends. If Christianity ends there, in Jesus' own self-sacrifice, it withers on the vine. What he expects of us is that we will also be willing to do the same for each other.

Why do we hesitate laying down our lives for others? Like our material possessions, we are afraid that if we give of what we have, there won't be enough left over for us. Life itself is even more fragile than things. It can be over in an unguarded moment. It can slip away when we least expect it to do so. It is understandable that we should want to hoard and protect our minutes, hours and days of our lives.

But, just as we can only have back what we are willing to give away, so we can save our lives only by being willing to give it away. That's too hard for most, if not all, of us. There is not enough faith or strength to lay down our lives for others. The power to do so, however, comes not from ourselves, but from God. If we live close to him, we will have all the power we need.

So, how close to him do you live?

Editor,

This letter is regarding getting an emu program available for kids for a 4-H project.

This idea started out last Sept. 95 at the Annual South Mountain Fair.

I bought a $5 ticket on a chance at winning a female emu. "You know a shot in the dark." This was Sat. morning. Came home Sat. afternoon and Sunday evening. No phone calls. The kids were upset.

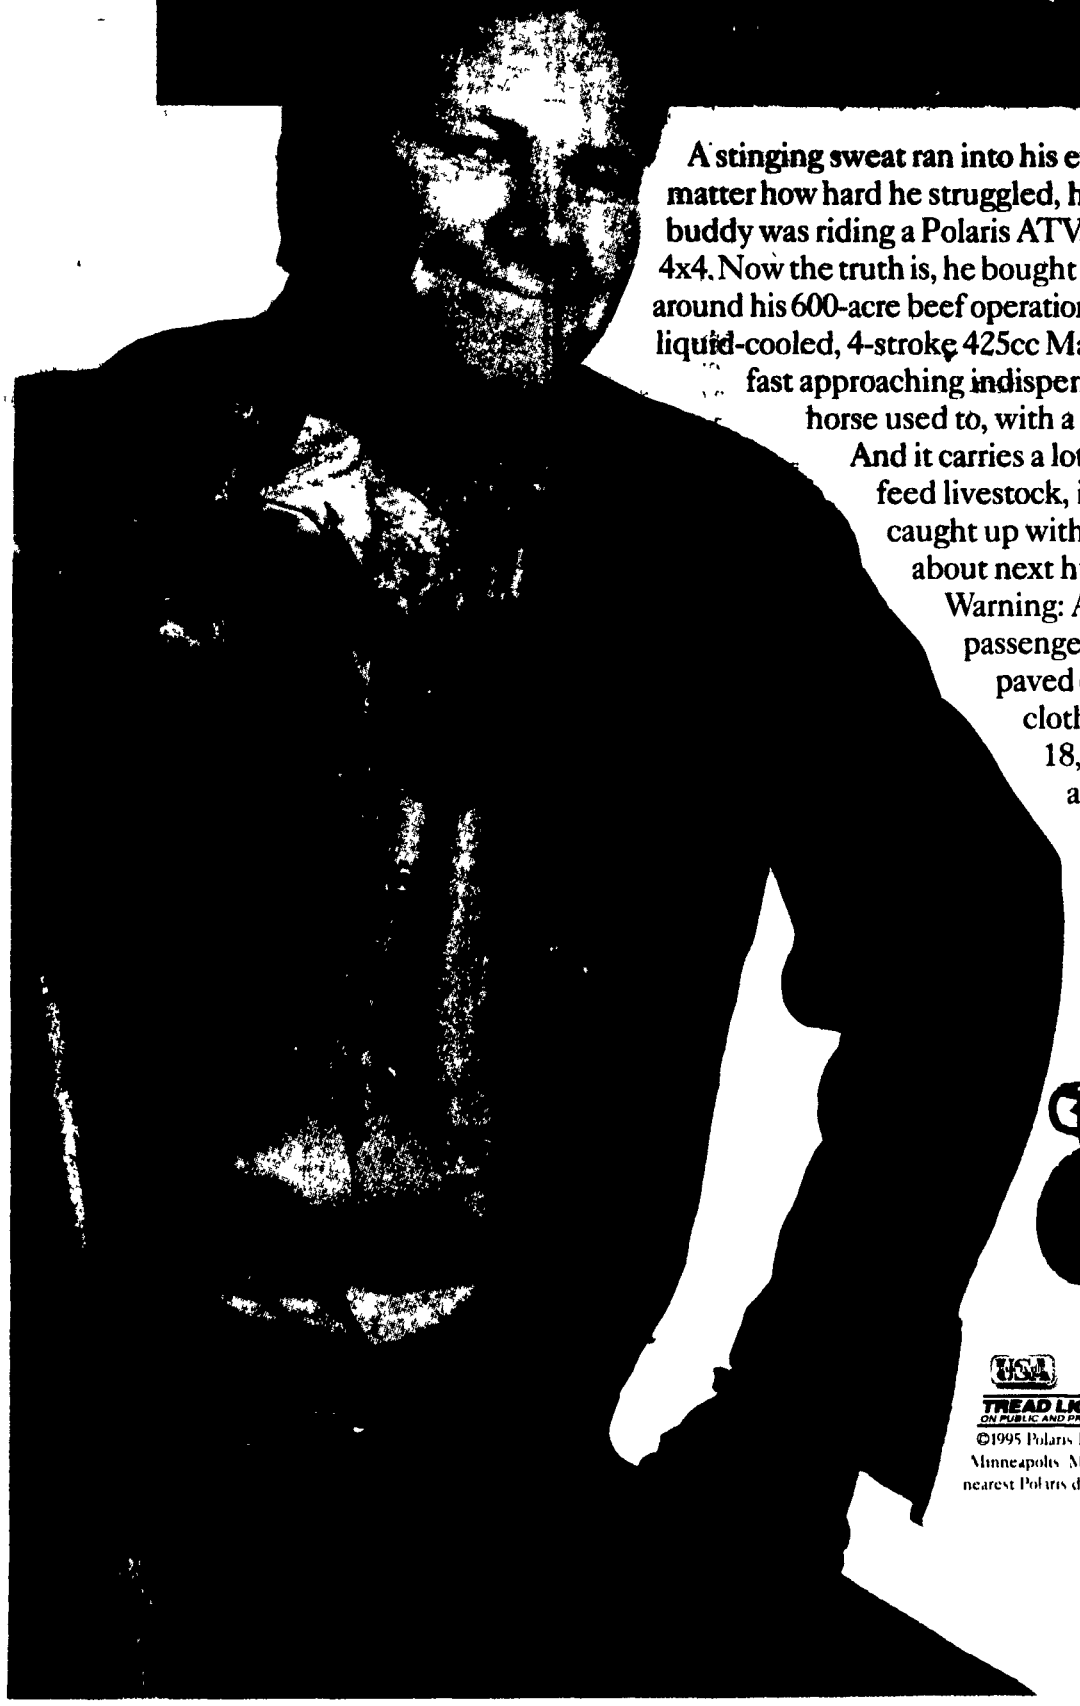
A rancher's dream. You can mount it from either side and it never leaves something nasty to step in.



A stinging sweat ran into his eyes as he watched his buddy crest the next hill. No matter how hard he struggled, he kept falling behind. Auggie Rose knew why. His buddy was riding a Polaris ATV, he wasn't. So he got himself a brand-new Magnum 4x4. Now the truth is, he bought it for its hunting prowess. But if it proved to be useful around his 600-acre beef operation outside Morgan, Utah, so much the better. Well, that liquid-cooled, 4-stroke 425cc Magnum 4x4 quickly went way beyond useful. In fact, it's fast approaching indispensable. That Magnum 4x4 takes Auggie everywhere a horse used to, with a few added advantages: it's much easier to sit on all day. And it carries a lot more equipment. Auggie's riding it to run fence line, feed livestock, irrigate – even pull a harrow. And when Auggie's all caught up with his work, he looks out at the high country and dreams about next hunting season.

Warning: ATVs can be hazardous to operate. Never carry passengers. Be especially careful on difficult terrain. Never ride on paved or public roads. Always wear a helmet and protective clothing. Polaris ATVs may not be ridden by anyone under 18, and all riders should take a training course. For safety and training information, see your dealer or call Polaris at 1-800-342-3764.

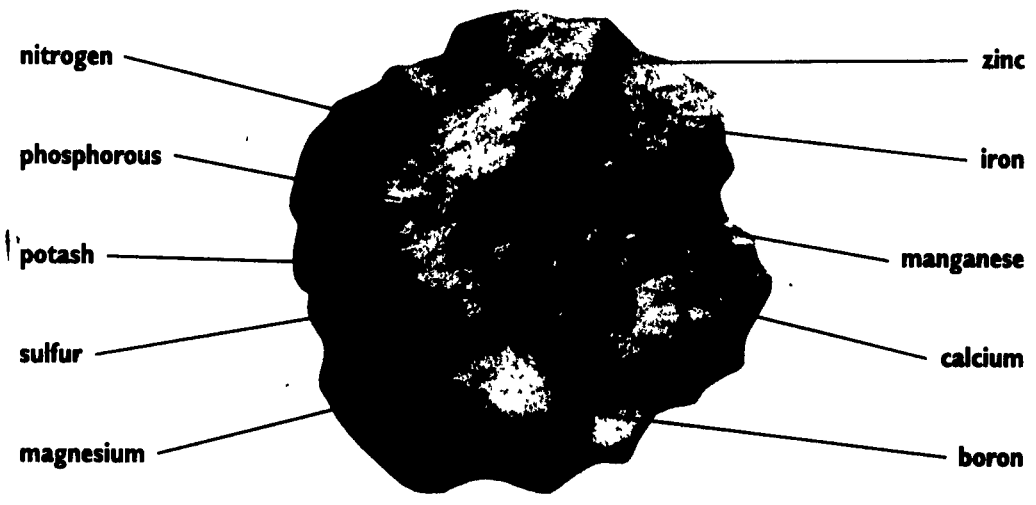
Lebanon Extra Plant Food

For over 47 years, farmers have been choosing Lebanon Extra for premium homogeneous/ammoniated plant food. Lebanon Extra is ideal for use in row applications where nutrient safety and consistency is crucial to yields. And its homogeneous/ammoniated granules offer superior performance over so-called "Custom-formulated" blends.



A blend of raw materials can result in uneven feeding. Unlike homogeneous/ammoniated granules which deliver all the primary nutrients and micronutrients in each particle — ensuring even distribution for consistent performance.

Farmers Testify: Keep New Farm Bill Regulations Realistic

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

WYOMISSING (Berks Co.) — Farmers testifying Monday before a special panel of representatives of those associated with conservation provisions of the 1996 Farm Bill urged panel members to be "realistic" and to "keep decision-making local."

The special hearing was one of nine held across the nation this week to gather testimony from those affected by conservation provisions of the new Farm Bill so that the USDA can create regulations to implement the conservation provisions.

Other hearings were held in Spokane, Wash., Sioux Falls, S.D., Longmont Colo., Washington, D.C., Abilene, Texas, Sacramento, Calif., Springfield, Ill.

According to Oertly, the sites of the hearings were identical to the sites used by the USDA in 1994 to collect testimony on developing the Farm Bill.

"Now we've come back to get testimony to create regulations to implement conservation provisions," she said.

The length of time the USDA has to create regulations varies by program. Some have to be done within 60 days, while others have allowances of up to 180 days.

Testimony will still be accepted on the conservation provisions by April 30, postmarked, or by fascimile. For more information call (202) 720-1838 or mail comments to Cheif Paul Johnson, USDA NRCS, P.O. Box 2890, Washington, D.C., 20013.

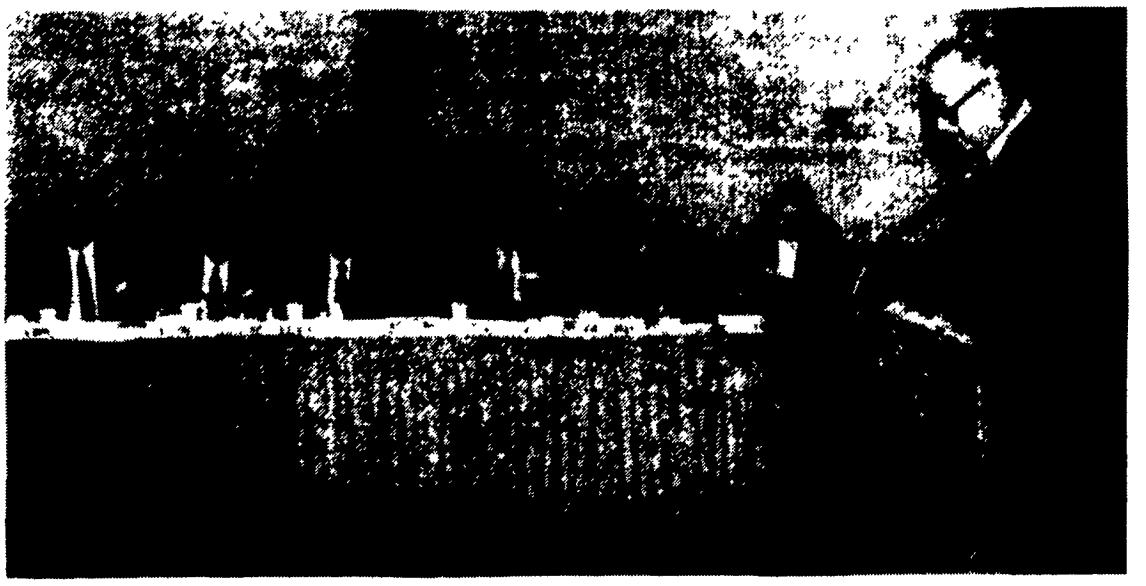
The hearing in Wyomissing was held for Pennsylvania, surrounding states and Vermont. There were 14 speakers by mid-day.

On the panel were Rich Duesterhaus, deputy chief of soil science and resource assessment with the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) formerly the Soil Conservation Service); Gary Margheim, with NRCS strategic natural resources issues staff; Janet Oertly, Pennsylvania NRCS state conservationist who served as panel moderator; Bill Baumgartner, state director of the Farm Service Agency; Ken Knauer, deputy director of the USFS Northeast area; Karl Brown, executive secretary of the State Conservation Commission; Kurt Leitholf, executive director of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation Districts; Dave Kantner, CES assistant to the Southeast regional director; and Obie Ashford, resource conservationist for the NRCS East Region.

The agenda of the meeting was to provide a briefing on the conservation provisions of the Farm Bill and then to open the floor to specific interest groups to discuss different subjects of the Farm Bill.

Some of the comments made concerned the state technical committee which oversees some of the conservation programs. It was recommended that it be expanded and that is should have the authority as to who administers and enforces cost-sharing provisions, because every state is set up differently.

Another recommendation was that cost-sharing for livestock be set up similar to the Chesapeake Bay Program.



Ed Hartman, president of the Berks County Farm Bureau, testifies before a panel of officials involved with creating regulations to implement conservation provisions of the 1996 Farm Bill.

It was also recommended that the $35 million included for a federal farmland preservation program is not enough and that the $100 to $200 per acre that it would equate to would hardly provide much incentive to preserve farmland where taxes run from $30 to $40 per acre.

Further, it was said that the program has to be administered by a local board.

It was also suggested that programs that work now should not be changed.

Volumnous paperwork sent to farmers for permits to remove sediment blocking waterways should be reduced or help should be provided in helping to have it completed in a reasonable time.

One speaker said that when he went to his local office to get paperwork to get a permit to remove sediment from a water-

How To Beat Rising Feed Costs—Improve Forage Quality

JUD HEINRICHS
Professor of Animal Science
Penn State

If there was ever a time to set goals and start planninng for your herd's 1996-1997 ration program, now is the time. The forecast is for corn and soybean prices to continue rising and it appears that other byproduct feeds will also follow the same trend. The best alternative in overcoming higher feed costs is to produce as much energy and protein from forage as possible.

The optimal way to lower purchased feed costs is to improve forage quality by harvesting first cutting at the proper stage of maturity to optimize energy and protein content. The first cutting sets the tone for the entire harvest season. If the haycrop forage is harvested too late, then the harvested material may be too mature and low in feed value and may result in a missed third or fourth cutting.

Examine last year's forage analysis reports of the first cutting haycrop forage(s). What improvements can be made in fiber levels, both acid detergent fiber (ADF) and neutral detergent fiber (NDF), as well as the protein level? For example, if 1995's first cutting mixed mostly grass forage tested 13.1% crude protein, 37.0% acid detergent fiber, 58.2% neutral detergent fiber and .62 Mcalb/lb. net energy of lactation (NEL), where do you want this year's first cutting to be? A realistic goal for 1996 may be harvesting forage that is 17% crude protein, 31% ADF, 50% NDF, and .69 Mcal/lb. NEL. How does one go about achieving this goal?

Forage type	Harvesting stage
Hay-crop (perennial) forage*
Legumes	▪ Well-budded to 10% bloom
Grasses	▪ As heads emerge from boot or sooner
Mixed stands	▪ According to legume status, unless largely grass remains in a stand
Oats, wheat, barley*	▪ Early flowering (10% or less) or soft dough (avoid milk stage)
Rye	▪ Boot to early head

* Stages indicated are for first cuttings of established stands.

Harvesting forages at the recommended stage of maturity provides an inexpensive energy source to the lactating dairy cow, Table 1. As the forage plant matures or ages, the chemcial composition changes which can include lignification and a decreased proportion of leaves to stems. The later has more of an influence on alfalfa quality than it does for most grasses. Increasing maturity generally means less protein, more fiber, less energy, and lower digestibility of the forage.

There have been numerous articles in the popular press about methods which can be used as tools to help determine the best time to harvest. Stage of maturity is probably the first method of when to harvest that comes to mind. It is recommended that legumes, such as alfalfa, be harvested in the pre-bloom stage and grass and grass-legume mixtures at the pre-head stage. This requires going out in the fields on a regular basis to observe how the plants are growing.

In a study conducted at Michigan State University, using growing degree days to help predict when to harvest alfalfa proved to be an effective tool. The common thread in all well managed systems is that time is spent walking through the fields and really examining the plants. The other commonality is that decisions to harvest should not be made using the calendar date but rather by stage of plant maturity.

There are many other factors which play a role in harvesting top quality forage which can be obtained from your agronomy consultant or from cooperative extension. Remember, harvesting forages at the proper stage of maturity is of utmost importance. If you have a large amount of acreage to harvest, start early so that on average your entire acreage of a crop is harvested at the proper stage of maturity. Waiting until it is all at the optimal stage to begin harvesting will ensue an overly mature crop.

Poultry Producers

Court Stand as a result of the Blizzard of '96. He said business at the stand was off by "two-thirds" and attendance was way down.

He told Lancaster Farming that the Federation depends even more on the fund-raising banquet to make up for the losses in sales at the Farm Show.

Poultry commodities rank number two, just below dairy, in the state in the dollar values on a yearly basis.

Last year, 1,500 people sat down for a night of dinner and entertainment, according to John Hoffman, executive director of the Federation.

The Federation provides a number of important benefits for producers, including:

- Food safety. The Federation is the only state agricultural organization that employs a veterinarian to manage food safety programs for producers and processors.
- Poultry health leadership. The Poultry Health Committee continuously monitors flock health and avian influenza surveillance data to maintain effective control and eradication programs, including the use of the Federation indemnity fund.
- Nutrient management. The Federation constantly participated in the development of nutrient management legislation and regulations to ensure effective but fair requirements for poultry and egg producers.
- Communication. The Federation keeps the industry informed through the Poultry Post newsletter. Also, the Federation sponsors the Northeast Poultry Show, held at the Lancaster Host Convention Center; the Poultry Progress Day, held at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center; and other meetings.
- Industry savings and protection. The worker's compensation program and medical insurance programs have saved the industry millions of dollars every year. Also, the Federation is involved in government relations, youth programs, turkey and broiler checkoff funds, scholarships, and other efforts.

The Federation operates two checkoff programs, including one for broilers and another for the turkey industry. These are all volunteer programs to fund industry research.

William Trace, Trace Pheasantry, is chairman of the Federation; Bob Bucher, Bucher Associates, is Egg Council president; and Dave Boyer, Wampler-Longacre, is Poultry Meat Council president.

Federation board members, Egg Council, include Jim Adams, Bob Bucher, Toby Catherman, Glenn Esbenshade, Mel Gehman, Jay Greider, Paul Hann, and Paul Sauder. Federation board members, Poultry Meat Council, include Mickey Baugher, Dave Boyer, Lynn Henninger, John Martin, Jim Skinner, Bob Sydell, and Bill Trace.

FFA LEADERSHIP FOR A Lifetime ©

HERE'S THE SEQUENTIAL FOR ANY TILLAGE PRACTICE.

A sequential program of PROWL® herbicide soil applied, followed by PURSUIT® herbicide early post, gives you season-long control of over 50 weeds and grasses in your soybeans.

PROWL, applied up to 45 days before planting, controls tough grasses and lambsquarters. And, because of its surface stability, PROWL provides maximum flexibility.

PURSUIT, applied early post, provides broad-spectrum control of grasses and broadleaf weeds. Through contact and residual activity, PURSUIT will keep your fields clean all season.

No matter what conservation or conventional tillage program you choose, PROWL followed by PURSUIT gives you the most effective and flexible weed control possible. See us about PROWL and PURSUIT.

The sequential program for any tillage system.

Dr. Haenlein Receives Worrilow Award

SUSAN MORSE BALDWIN
Communications Specialist

NEWARK, Del. — It's not hard to guess how George Worrilow would have felt about Dr. George F.W. Haenlein winning this year's Worrilow Award.

The former dean of the College of Agricultural Sciences would have like the idea just fine. After all, to hear Haenlein tell it, if it hadn't been for Worrlow, he would never have become a professor at the University of Delaware.

"I have had many awards and honors in my career, and no award has meant as much," said Haenlein, the sound of a youth spent in Germany still in his speech, even though he immigrated almost 40 years ago.

"This honor carries with it the spirit of a great man, an inspiring leader, both insightful and encouraging, a man who taught me so much."

Each year, the UD Ag Alumni Association presents the Worrilow Award to a graduate who has exhibited outstanding service to agriculture. Measured by any yardstick, Haenlein more than fits the description.

Haenlein's office in the department of animal and food sciences — a repository of 40 years of research, references and records — leaves little more for skirting the at least 30 upricht filing cabinets.

Scale models of different cow breeds (one sports six first-place ribbons, draped jauntily over its plaster horns) peer down at him from atop bookshelves and files. Ask him for a fact sheet on any dairy subject, though, and he can put his hands on it within seconds.

When asked just how Dean Worrilow was instrumental in Haenlein's coming to the university, the dairy professor and Cooperative Extension dairy specialist leaned back in his chair, reflective, fingertips together, his hands positioned somewhere between a prayer and a child's finger game.

An imposing figure with white hair and blue eyes that radiate amusement, Haenlein doesn't look like a man approaching 70. He is full of enthusiasm for life and his work.

"Well," he began, and one can't help but lean forward in anticipation. Haenlein's stories are like great adventures, replete with grand vistas, side streets and nuggest of home-grown wisdom.

"Even though I had a Ph.D. from a German university, I was working as a herdsman on a Delaware dairy farm, where Dean Worrilow would visit regulary," Haenlein said.

"Of course, he knew me from my graduate student days on scholarship here at UD in the early 1950s. He kept prodding me to take a job here at the college as a research associate to study forages for dairy cows and sheep. That was 1957."

Soon after he arrived, Haenlein was handed the management of the dairy herd.

"The dean told me that if I didn't take over managing the college herd, he would sell it," Haenlein said with a chuckle.

"The herd, which was made up mostly of Guernseys and Holsteins, wasn't paying for itself. Production was low and the two managers didn't care. It's just a research herd, they said. Anything goes, right? Wrong! A research herd must set an example and serve as a model on how a dairy farm can make a profit."

Dr. George Haenlein, a dairy expert at University of Delaware College of Agricultural Sciences kneels next to a registered Holstein at the college farm where he has been managing the herd and conducting production research for almost 40 years.

Within a year, the herd was operating in the black.

Under Haenlein's management, a raggle-taggle herd of 80 cows milking 8,000 pounds per cow a year gradually became a 100-head herd milking 22,000 pounds per cow a year.

Today's award-winning university herd serves as an example of a profitable dairy farm. Haenlein has proven that even herds close to urban areas can be profitable. He also has demonstrated the efficiency using computers for dairy herd feeding, milking and nursing calves.

Haenlein has served as a judge of cheeses and dairy animals in national and international competitions. And his monthly dairy management column — Cow Tales — appears in newspapers and dairy trade magazines throughout the United States.

After working for several years as a research associate, serving as the Extension dairy agent, teaching dairy management, and managing the breeding and production for both cows and sheep, Haenlein asked Worrilow for a year off to pursue a Ph.D. from an American university.

So, in 1996, with Worrilow's encouragement and a grant from the National Science Foundation, he packed up his wife, Lizzie, and their five children and moved to the University of Wisconsin in Madison to complete a doctoral degree in dairy science.

From the beginning of his career, Lizzie had helped him with records, handled the university herd in his absence and "silently put up with the stacks of folders and clutter" as he gathered data and prepared publications. That's why he views this honor as a recognition for her, too.

"I wouldn't be where I am today if it were not for Lizzie. She is my partner in everything — she has made it all possible," he said. "This award belongs just as much to her, if not more, and to my family. If your family is behind you, you can do anything."

And in 49 years at UD, Haenlein's pace hasn't slowed.

This year he's taught Dairy Management, Judging Dairy Animals and Introduction to Ani-

Penn State Poultry Club Holds Banquet, Presents Awards

Wenger characterized the changes in the ag industry, particularly in Pennsylvania, as a revolution, coming so fast that we haven't grasped how to handle it and what the future will bring. He said we need to update the image of Pennsylvania agriculture as the biggest business in the state, bringing in billions of dollars in domestic and foreign sales, in order to attract skilled people to unfilled jobs and to get better support from the state government.

Because of the lack of leadership in agriculture in Harrisburg, Wenger stated, the state legislature passes poorly written laws which hamper ag businesses. Also, he criticized the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture for not communicating more with other state governmental departments on issues such as marketing or food-related health problems.

Wenger encouraged colleges, employers, and employees to commit themselves to establishing and making use of on-going training programs to provide people with needed occupational and leadership skills.

Also at the banquet, awards were presented to the following club members: Jennifer Brickley for having the highest grade point average in poultry science; Kelli Monahan for having the highest grade point average overall; Andy Bradford, outgoing club president, for being the most active club member; and Jennifer Zerby, for being the most active new club member.

Certificates of Appreciation went to: Linda Houtz for secretarial assistance; Joe Garber and Andy Long for speaking to the club about Eggland Industries; Dick Sharrer for a tour of the Ag Club; and Dr. Ed Mills for assistance with the smoked turkey sale.

The new officers for 1996-97 are: Tadd Burch, president; Matt Sharrer, vice president; Jenny Zerby, secretary-treasurer; and Stephanie Bowman, Ag Student Council representative.

Club advisor Dirk Wise recapped club activities for the past year, including making trips to the Tyson and Wampler companies, working at Shavor's Creek as a community service project, holding the annual smoke turkey sale (for which Wampler and Wenger Feeds donated 250 turkeys), and participating in the Northeast Poultry Show and International Poultry Expo as well as the Penn State Ag Olympics and the Products Spectacular, at which the club won first prize for its display.

Here is the 1996-97 Penn State Poultry Science Club.

Pa. Apple Marketing

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Pennsylvania's apple growers recently approved a promotion funding increase for the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program (PAMP).

The two-tiered assessment increase will double promotion funding over the next four years. PAMP's annual banquet is expected to increase from $250,000 to $400,000 with the first increase in 1996 and to $550,000 with the second increase in 2000.

"This is an important move forward for Pennsylvania's apple industry," said Kay Hollabaugh, a grower from Adams County and chairperson of the Pennsylvania Apple Marketing Program. "As growers we recognize the vital role of marketing and have taken the challenge to better support our current markets and to develop new opportunities."

The assessment increase is the first for the state in 14 years. The board of directors requested the funding vote to better address interstate and export marketing opportunities to curb spending cuts which have resulted from inflation.

The new funding will support sales of fresh Pennsylvania Eastern Select apples through farm markets and retailers in the mid-Atlantic region.

Funds also will support the Processed Apple Show-off Promotion. More than 4,000 retail display entries from across the nation competed in the promotion last spring. A new, state-wide promotion of fresh apples and processed targeting third and fourth grade students will be launched during November and December of 1996.

The approved referendum will raise the current assessment on fresh apples to 12 cents per bushel beginning with the 1996 crop and to 15 cents per bushel on the 2000 crop. The assessment for processing apples will increase to 6 cents in 1996 and 8 cents in 2000.

The statewide referendum passed by a vote of 84 to 56 with 60 percent favoring the increase. The affirmative votes represented 4,194,203 bushels or 69.7 percent of the volume.

Dairylea CEO Joins NLPA Executive Committee

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Rick Smith, chief executive officer of Dairylea Cooperative Inc. and president of Empire Livestock Marketing Inc., a subsidiary of Dairylea, was recently elected to serve a three-year term as a member of the National Livestock Producers Association (NLPA) Executive Committee at the association's 75th annual meeting.

The eight-member Executive Committee directs the business of the National organization in the interim between full board meetings and is comprised of both farmer-directors and cooperative management representatives.

Smith has served as a director of NLPA since 1994 when the board of the association was restructured to include management members and contributes greatly to the expertise and depth of the board. The Empire organization has been a member of the NLPA since 1988.

The NLPA, with headquarters in Denver, Colo., represents 13 regional marketing cooperatives and five regional credit corporations nationwide. In addition, its first international member, Heartland Services, Regina, Sask., became a member of the organization during 1995.

The members of the National association marketed more than 12.6 million head of livestock worth nearly $3 billion during 1995 for over 200,000 livestock producers in North America.

NLPA celebrated its 75th anniversary at the annual meeting and many of the past leaders of the organization were recognized for their contributions through the years.

NLPA represents its members in the areas of legislative and regulatory issues, provides educational and business support services, and facilitates communication and cooperation opportunities among its members.

Dairylea is a Syracuse-based cooperative with more than 2,500 member-farms throughout the Northeast. It markets a total of 4 billion pounds of milk annually and participates and is invested in a milk marketing network stretching from Maine to Maryland to Ohio.

Empire Livestock Marketing Inc. owns and operates eight auction markets, one collection facility and one direct marketing facility throughout New York State. Empire commands in excess of a 50-percent market share of all livestock marketed in the region. It is headquartered in Syracuse, N.Y.

Pa. Grange Legislative Day

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Pennsylvania State Grange is celebrating the end of state and national Grange Week with its annual meeting and legislative banquet Monday, April 29 at the Sheraton Inn-East, in Harrisburg.

Grangers and non-Grange members were invited to register for the afternoon workshops and banquet. The event is held to educate Grange members and legislators about Grange policy.

Grange policy is developed by the members first and then further refined according to agreement, logic and popularity. About 400 Grange members are expected to attend and discuss issue of importance with state legislators.

"The legislative reception and banquet is grassroots at work as our members meet with their legislators to affirm Grange policy and express their concerns about agricultural and rural issues," said Brenda Shambaugh, Grange legislative director. "It also gives our members an opportunity to discuss one-on-one the problems facing them."

Some of the issue of concern include local tax reform. The State Grange policy endorses legislation that requires less reliance on property taxes and more emphasis on equal taxes. The Grange also support more local control on the tax formula because one tax base is different than another, across the state.

The Grange has also been a leader in fighting attempts by Bell Atlantic to have its rates "rebalanced," which means they are seeking to increase rural rates while lowering city and urban rates because of competition in high density areas. Bell doesn't have competition in rural areas.

The Grange wants the governor and legislators to remember that state policy calls for consumers and oil franchises to split the difference in gas taxes proposed to raise funds to repair roads damaged by this past winter's severe storms.

The Grange also endorses changes and reforms in state educational policy, such as proposed sabbatical reform, which passed the House and was in the Senate Education Committee. That reform would prohibit teachers from using sabbaticals for travel, early retirement, or as severance pay, but could be utilized for educational or health reasons. Shambaugh said the Grange is pleased with the legislative proposal, and seeks to have the lawa restructured to include only sabbatical leaves for study, or for restoration of health without pay.

The Grange position on the state budgtet is that it wants funding for the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine restored, and it wants the incentive program restored for rural teachers and agricultural students who return to work in rural areas.

For more information on the Pennsylvania State Grange, call (800) 552-3865.

Schuylkill County Drought Disaster Assistance

POTTSVILLE (Schuylkill Co.) — Effective March 11, Schuylkill County has been declared a natural disaster area due to the drought which occurred from April 1, 1995 and continued through the summer of 1995.

This declaration covers both physical and production losses which occurred during this disaster period.

Eligible family size farmers may qualify for Emergency Loan Assistance for physical and production losses. Eligibility criteria is as follows:

-Applicants must be in compliance with the Highly Erodable Soil Conservation requirements.

-Applicants must have purchased Multi-peril Crop Insurance during the disaster period.

-Applicants must not be able to obtain credit from commercial sources.

-Applicants must have operated the farm during the disaster year and intend to continue farming after the disaster year.

Interested producers who want more details or wish to receive an application should contact the FSA/Credit Division at PO Box 806, Bloomsburg, PA 17815, or call (717) 784-9033, or call the Schuylkill County FSA at (717) 622-1555.

mal Science, teaching both semesters.

Still the state dairy specialist, he is a member of Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA), corresponds with hundreds of people around the United States and world, and is a guest speaker at international conferences.

A world-recognized dairy expert, Haenlein's USDA text, Extension Goat Handbook, has become the bible worldwide for the dairy goat industry. And his Nutrient Requirements for Goats, which was commissioned by the National Research Council and was the first publication of its kind, is still considered the best source on the subject.

A champion of alternative dairy farming, he is recognized internationally for his research with dairy goats.

In 1988, he founded Small Ruminant Research, a monthly international journal for which he serves as editor-in-chief. In addition, the U.S. Agency for International Development has asked him to assist in dairy development programs in Third World countries.

At 68, Haenlein is not considering retirement. "What would I do with myself? As long as I am healthy and can still make a contribution, I'll keep at it."

Maryland Brown Swiss Breeders Association Honors Members

NEW MIDWAY, Md. — The Maryland Brown Swiss Breeders Association held its annual meeting and convention recently in New Midway, Md., with more than 100 breeders of the dairy cattle attending.

Scott Hood, president of the MBSBA, cogratulated the members on their achievements the past year, including placing first in state herd honors at all 1995 national breed shows.

Some of those shows in which the state herd won top honors were the Eastern National Show in Harrisburg (during the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show), the Central National show at the World Dairy Expo in Madison, Wis., and at the Southeastern National show in Louisville, Ky.

According to Cynthia Warner, vice president of the association, the strong attendance at the convention represented one of the largest crowds ever. In a news release, she stated, "Maryland once again posted another successful year throughout state activities and on the national level."

According to Warner, Maryland also reached a crowning achievement in topping the nation in having the most All-American points. "There were 20 entered in the All-American contest and there were 19 nominated.

"Out of the 19 nominations, there were three All-Americans, five reserve All-Americans, and four honorable mentions," she stated. "These results continue to show the progress and quality of Brown Swiss in Maryland."

Junior-aged members of the MBSBA also recorded a stron year in showring competition with numerous national and reserve Bellringers, Warner stated.

It was announced during the convention that Robert Sigler, of Middletown, Md., was the winner of the 1995 Youth Achievement Award for District III, of the national organization. Sigler is to attend the National Brown Swiss Breeders 1996 convention in July at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, to accept the award.

Key speaker for the MBSBA meeting was Evans Wright, of Kentucky, who is a director for the national association and manager of Limited Edition Swiss, a Kentucky operation.

"There is real progress to be made in the breed," Wright said. "We need to be more active and participate. Breeders need to pull together, send in more registrations, and advertise ... .

"The Brown Swiss breed offers the most efficient cow in the world," he said, according to the news release.

"You are proving this in Maryland and other states will follow your leadership."

According to the release, Wright said that Maryland breeders show "the kind of commitment needed in the Brown Swiss breed to move foward."

He also commended the state's youth program, which is one of the best in the country, according to Warner, and also encouraged Maryland breeders to "stay on target with increased production and components."

In support of the breed's achievements in Maryland, Dr. Lee Majeskie, University of Maryland Extension dairy specialist, presented production information (DHIA data averages) that showed that in Maryland, the Brown Swiss breed is the top breed for protein production.

According to the data provided, Maryland Brown Swiss on test averaged 629 pounds of protein (18,040 pounds energy corrected milk), compared in descending order to the Holstein breed with 611 pounds protein (19,000 pounds ECM), Ayrshires with 515 pounds (15,260 pounds ECM), Guernseys with 508 pounds protein (14,300 pounds ECM), and Jerseys with 488 pounds (12,960 pounds ECM).

In other business, Hood announced that the organization has been selected to serve as host for the 1999 National Brown Swiss Convention, and that committees and breeders have begun making plans. The last time Maryland hosted the national convention was in 1989, according to Warner, and 1969 prior to that.

Hood also presented production awards.

George Smith III, of Frederick and George Bassler, of Emittsburg received the top award for herds with 10 or more animals. Their herd had an average of 27,169 pounds of milk.

Scott and Judy Hood received the top herd management award, a recognition of most significant improvement.

O. Clayton Smith, of Jefferson, had the top milk producing herd among those herds with nine or fewer animals. His three cows averaged 23,471 pounds.

Tom and Joy Crothers received recognition for the herd with the lowest somatic cell count.

In individual animal production recognitions, Gary Bassler had the high producting junior 2-year-old, Sand Rock P Roxanne.

Joy Crothers had both the highest producing 3-year-old and 4-year-old, Brownswitch Johnny D Mira, and Brownswitch K Sweet Pea, respectively.

Officers of the Junior Md. Brown Swiss Breeders are Mark Valentine, persident; Robert Sigler, vice president; Christina Harper, secretary; Norma Fleming, treasurer; Gary Bassler, reporter; and Aimee Smith, historian.

Youth directors are Howard Long and Norma Fleming. The youth advisor is Becky Long.

In addition to Hood and Warner, officers of the MBSBA are Mirian Bell, treasurer, and Cindy Stowers, secretary.

Directors are Dennis Smith, Daphne Sigler, Donald Leishear and Allen Bassler (newly elected).

Denise Valentine was honored for her service as secretary, and Richard Black retired as director.

Maryland/Virginia Board Reorganizes

RESTON, Va. — Russell Wachter, Keymar, Md., has been re-elected as president of the Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers board of directors. This marks Wachter's eighth year as president of the cooperative. Wachter owns and operates Clovertop Farm, Inc.

Also continuing service to the cooperative is John Hardesty, Harvue Farms, Berryville, Va. Hardesty was re-elected to his ninth term as first vice-president.

Newly elected to the post of second vice-president was Steven Graybeal, Peach Bottom, Pa. Graybeal replaces Herbert Miller, Woodbury, Pa., who did not run for re-election.

Officers assumed their positions at the recent April board meeting.

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, headquartered in Reston, Va., is a milk marketing and processing cooperative which markets milk for 1200 dairy farmers throughout Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and Delaware. The cooperative includes Marva Maid, a milk processing division in Newport News, Va.; a manufacturing division in Laurel, Md.; and an equipment division in Frederick, Md.

MILK AMERICA'S HEALTH KICK

Isn't it time you updated that old milking parlor too?

You'll milk more cows in less time with Kipe Steel stalls, gates and rails. Updating your present herringbone parlor or switching from stanchions to a flat barn increases your throughput. Add a crowd gate and entrance lane and you'll move 15% more cows an hour.

You can modernize your existing barn. You don't need expensive construction because Kipe Steel customizes your new stalls to fit your present space. And our modular construction means anyone with farm welding skills can install it. (Kipe Steel guides you through the process with detailed instructions and phone support.)

You'll cut maintenance. You can hose down our clear span design in a lot less time. Even after years of daily cleaning, it stays rust-free. And Kipe Steel uses 12 gauge galvanized square tubing for strength and more durable weld joints that stand up under heavy use.

You'll spend less than you think. Compare the dollars and you'll find Kipe Steel is competitively-priced. But add in Kipe Steel's durability, easy installation, custom-sizing, and labor-saving design, and your investment will pay for itself.

DAVE SLUSSER
General Manager

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) — The 2nd annual Pa. DHIA MUN (Milk Urea Nitrogen) Advisory Committee meeting was held here April 16 and was attended by 17 veterinarians, nutritionists, university personnel from Penn State and University of Pennsylvania-New Bolton Center.

A presentation of research results by Dr. Jim Ferguson at New Bolton Center started the meeting and sparked indepth discussion. The information and advice given Pa. DHIA will be used in guiding the Pa. DHIA MUN promotion and educational program.

The first event scheduled to use this new information is a series of six seminars planned for Pennsylvania from April 29 to May 6. These meetings will serve our members by helping their consultants do a better job of interpreting MUN summary information.

The largest single cost of running a dairy farm is feed cost. Monitoring your feeding efficiency, especially this year, can be the determining factor between profit and loss.

The committee emphasized that MUN is a valuable tool to add to the information arsenal of dairymen and their consultants. To assist our members educational programs and material must include the lastest of research findings.

News articles and research papers will be written and distributed so our members get the latest information as it appears.

Approximately 900 members' herds are tested monthly and another 150 herds are on a testing schedule every other or every third month, averaging around 60,000 cows per month on MUN analysis.

An additional number of cows and herds are being tested from other DHIA associations in the north and southeast.

While the committee felt the program's acceptance was very good, promotion and news articles need to continue so dairymen use MUN during the critical time of the year when feeding rations change rapidly, pasture comes into the picture and heat stress occurs.

During hot, humid summer months inadequate water intake could elevate MUN levels.

Pa. DHIA is the only Dairy Records Processing Center that collects MUN analysis results and disseminates the data for research and field use.

Jim Boyer reported that our processing center is now hooked into the Internet and veterinarians, nutritionists, researchers, educators and dairy farmers can now download MUN information from the Internet.

New Bolton Center and Pa. DHIA are connected and MUN summary information will soon be available through New Bolton's Web page. Pa. DHIA also is developing a Web page for direct access to DHIA information including MUN data.

Dr. Ferguson's report compared Pa. DHIA MUN cow information with BUN (Blood Urea Nitrogen) test taken the same day that the DHIA technician was in the herd.

He also tested the milk in their lab using wet chemistry and spectrophotometric techniques and

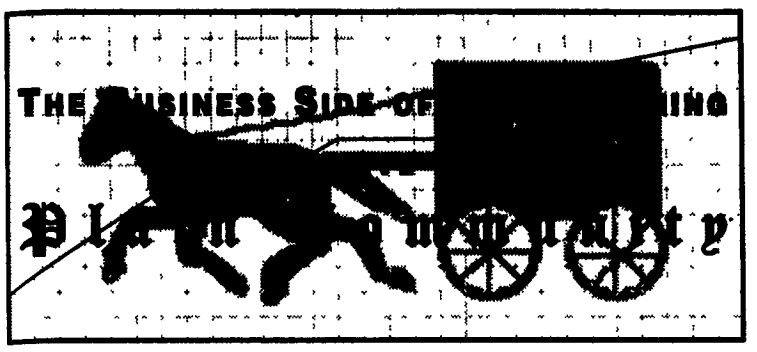


GRAPHING DAILY MILK PRODUCTION

One of the most used tools on our farm is a graph of the pounds of milk per cow per day. Probably almost every dairy farmer knows what his daily average per cow is, but we find it useful to keep this graph and compare it to previous years to track seasonal trends, slumps due to heat, increases due to forage changes, and the typical spring slump due to everybody being busy in the fields. Also, it often points out management changes which affected production that we had forgotten about.

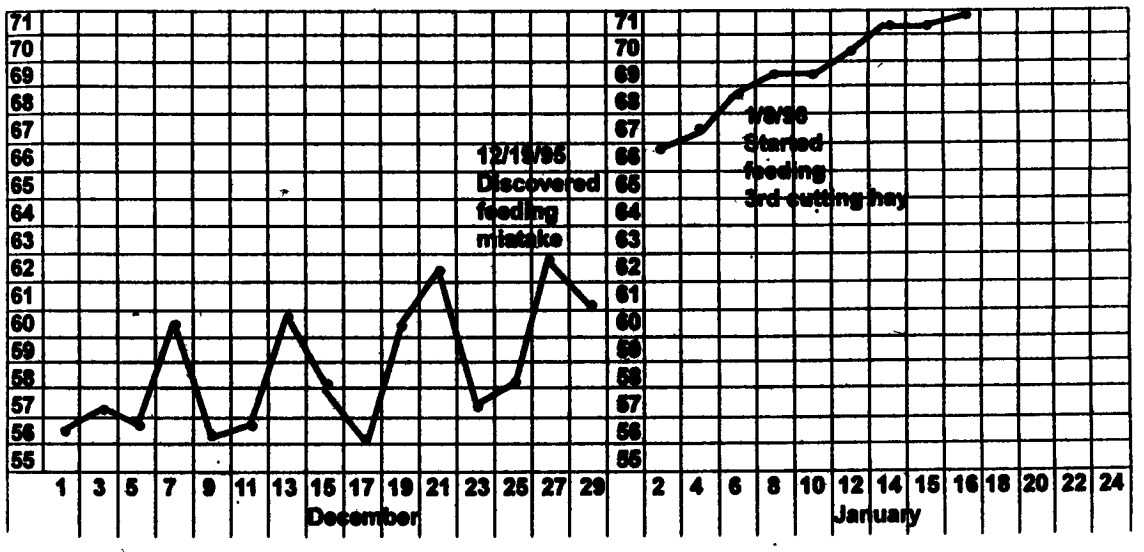
Seeing daily milk production on the graph and then identifying any problems causing decreases in production presents an opportunity to avoid the same thing from happening again.

To make the graph (it's easiest to do it on graph paper), we write numbers (55 to 85) for the pounds of milk (average per cow) on the left hand side and the dates the milk truck is due on the bottom.

Next we divide the total pounds for the day's milk pickup by the number of cows whose milk is in the tank that day.

Example: 4500 lbs. divided by 40 cows = 1125 divided by 2 days = 56.25 (or 56.3) lbs. per cow. So on December 1, we put a dot between 56 and 57.

Another thing this graph will show is milk production that changes a lot, such as shown in the period of December 7 through December 29. If production changes more than two pounds per cow per day, something is changing too much. So we think of possible causes for the change, such as cows being fed differently too often, variable quality feed, bad water, or poor ventilation. All kinds of things can make milk production bounce around.



In one case on our farm, for example, the boy who was doing the feeding Tuesday through Friday wasn't feeding enough of the protein supplement: therefore, the cows were short on protein those days, and, of course, they dropped in production until Saturday when they got their proper amount again. We find it helpful to write any changes, such as starting to feed from a different silo or a different cutting of hay, on the chart.

The graph also indicates if we are getting a positive response from using products such as bST or a feed additive. Then we can decide whether or not it is worthwhile to spend the extra money on these products.

In summary, by graphing the daily production and making notes of conditions that might affect production, we have one more tool to help us pinpoint changes in production, good or bad, that we may have missed otherwise. The graph is like a thermometer — it won't make it warmer outside, but it helps us to make necessary adjustments, such as how many clothes we need to wear.

As always, your comments are appreciated!

Lamb Merchandising Workshop April 30

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — The Lancaster County Sheep and Wool Grower's Association and Penn State Cooperative Extension will present Innovative Merchandising of Lamb to Today's Consumer on Tuesday, April 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lancaster Farm and Home Center.

Bill Fox, President of Fox's Market (with stores in Middletown, Hershey, Harrisburg, and Camp Hill) has been a sucessful merchandiser of lamb in his stores in the Harrisburg area. Fox will discuss the type of lamb he likes to purchase, how he markets lamb products, and what producers can do to increase the demand for lamb.

Dr. Bill Henning, Penn State Extension red meats specialist, will provide insight on innovative ideas for merchandising and marketing lamb. Dr. Henning has worked extensively with meat packers and processors throughout Pennsylvania while on the faculty at Penn State.

Pa.DHIA MUN

found the results to be very similar: feed change recommendations for the herd would have been the same regardless of the type of urea test used.

When plotting the cows sampled the same day by several different methods, he found the urea levels and ranges very close to each other.

The infrared system used by Pa. DHIA provided results that were quite comparable.

During the discussion, the different factors affecting MUN readings in herds drew several questions. Whether a herd is high or low can be affected by protein levels, soluable protein, energy levels, water availability, heat stress, feed delivery system, disease, or body organ problems.

The next meeting of the Advisory Committee is set for mid-August. It will analyze the MUN data and the latest research findings. Of special interest will be what will happen during the grazing and heat stress season.

Dekalb Genetics Declares Three-For-One Stock Split

DEKALB, Ill. — The board of directors of DEKALB Genetics Corporation has declared a three-for-one stock split of both its Class A and Class B Common Stock, subject to the approval of shareholders. Following the split, the quarterly cash dividend will be adjusted to 7 cents per share. This represents the equivalent of a 5 percent increase when compared to the current rate. Assuming shareholder approval, the record day of the split will be May 10 and the payment date will be May 24.

A special meeting of shareholders has been scheduled for May 21. The total number of DEKALB Genetics Corporation's outstanding Class A shares will rise from approximately 800,000 to approximately 2.4 million and the Class B shares will increase from approximately 4.9 million to approximately 14.6 million.

"A stock split is appropriate considering the significant appreciation in the value of common stock over the past 12 months," said Bruce P. Bickner, chairman and chief executive officer. "A lower stock price will make it possible for a broader range of investors to buy DEKALB common stock."

DEKALB's Class B Common Stock closed on the NASDAQ National Market System at $79.25 on April 18, compared with a closing price of $33.25 on March 31, 1995.

"The action taken by the board also underscores our confidence in DEKALB's future," Bickner said. "Sales momentum has been growing for our seed products during the past three years. At the same time, we continue to strengthen our intellectual property position in the area of biotechnology, which should help build sales and earnings in coming years."

Based in DeKalb, Illinois, DEKALB Genetic Corporation is a worldwide leader in agricultural genetics and biotechnology for seed and swine. DEKALB Genetics Corporation Class B Common Stock is traded on the NASDAQ National Market System under the symbol SEEDB.

Monday morning got a phone call telling my son Jamison, age 11, he had won an emu. He was excited.

After the fact, we found a place to raise the emu. But needed some work.

It's Christmas time now, my wife and I decided to get a male emu for my daughter, Kenalle, age 8, for a Christmas present.

We finally have possession of the emus, and I wanted to get the kids enrolled in 4-H for raising emus as a 4-H project.

I called our local 4-H representative and they do not have a program available for kids on raising them.

The 4-H representative said that their insurance will not get the program.

So I decided in getting our local newspapers involved in writing a story on our kids in getting a 4-H program started. They are interviewed in doing stories on them. Also, I got the TV news coverage involved. They all think that this is a unique story.

I have written letters to President Clinton, Governor Tom Ridge on Pa. and letters to Rep. Bill Goodling, sen. Arlen Specter, Rep. Steve Maitland of the 91st District Adams County and County Commissioners for their help and support.

My question is to you is if you would be interested in getting yourselves involved in getting this program started for kids.

Carroll County 4-H Recognizes Its Own

LOIS SZYMANSKI
Md. Correspondent

WESTMINSTER, Md. — The annual Carroll County 4-H Volunteer And Youth Awards Banquet was held last month here at Martin's.

At a difficult time — when Carroll's County Commissioners have been meeting weekly for over a month to debate a drastic budget cut which, if made as proposed, would practically eliminate the 4-H program in this county — more than 360 people turned out to help honor the 4-H program.

Carroll County has more than 1,200 4-H enrolled, more than 700 volunteers, and a total of 50 clubs.

To many, the awards banquet was a time to relax and reap the benefits, putting aside the fears and worries each and every involved members and volunteer has been facing.

Awards presented included individual club awards for Outstanding First Year 4-H'er, Up And Coming 4-H'er, Going And Growing 4-H'er, and Clover awards.

County judging teams were recognized in the areas of dairy, food and nutrition, forestry and wildlife, Horse Bowl, horse/hippology, horticulture, hunter education, livestock, poultry, and rabbit. Individual project medals were awarded, top candy salesmen and women were recognized, and top record books were announced.

The 1996 junior ambassadors were named. They were Jennifer Bassler, Jessica Boyd, Rebecca Bradley, Tim Cole, Laura Gibson, Emily Hester, Jessica Hester, Amy Petkovosek, Christina Ramirez, Katie Sterling, Danielle Wilmson, Jeremy Withnell, and Sarah Zimmerman.

Then the 1996 4-H ambassadors were named. They were Jason Watt, Jen Brothers, Tammy Robrecht, Rachel Dyky, Amy Gesell, and Melissa Miller.

The 1996 Alternative Miss 4-H named was Amy Davidson, and the 1996 Alternate Mr. 4-H named was Jeff Painter.

The smiling 1995 Miss 4-H, Amanda Boyd, handed her crown over to the 1996 Miss 4-H, Rebecca Dowsley. The 1995 Mr. 4-H Mac Bair, had the hnor of handing over his crown to the new 1996 Mr. 4-H, his own brothers, Ross Bair!

Vegetable Growers Should Watch For New Pests

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Vegetable growers can expect problems from the usual insects this season, but there could be some new pests to watch for in the fields, said Celeste Welty, Ohio State University entomologist.

Colorado potato beetle is a key pest for potato growers each year, but the beetle is beginning to feed on tomato plants as well, Welty said. Potato beetles have been a problem on tomato plants in southwest Ontario, Canada, for several years, and there have been some reports of damage from northern Ohio.

"A few decades ago, potato beetles would rather starve than eat the tomato plant," Welty said. "So evidence that the potato beetle is eating tomato plants is a rather drastic thing."

The potato beetle damages plants by either devouring the leaves or actually cutting the stem early in growth. They have been known to completely devastate a potato crop, Welty said. However, introduction of a new insecticide last year called Admire could reduce potato beetle concerns for potato and tomato growers.

"The news from potato growers is that they're not that concerned with the potato beetle this year," Welty said. "The new insecticide worked extremely well last year, and growers were really happy with it."

In fact, it worked so well that many potato growers didn't scout their fields as often as they should and were hit hard by leafhopper later in the growing season. Even with a reduced risk from potato beetles this year, growers should always be on the lookout for other pests, Welty said. She also warns that the potato beetle has a history of developing resistance to insecticides quickly, so growers should use the new chemical carefully.

"Still make an effort to use alternative methods of pest control like field rotation," Welty said. Exposing every field's beetle population to the new insecticide will increase the chance of the beetle developing resistance."

Another insect becoming more of a problem for tomator growers is the stink bug. Stink bugs pierce the flesh of the tomato, leaving yellow blotches on the surface and other discolored damage underneath the skin. The stink bug is a reclusive insect that usually stays low on a plant and does not feed where it can easily be seen. Growers may have noticed the problems associated with stink bugs for a while but didn't know what the cause was.

Keep New Farm Bill Regulations Realistic

way, he was given paperwork, filled it out and had it returned rejected because it was the wrong form. He said he was sent a packet of paperwork an inch thick. He said that it took hours to fill out that paperwork, whereas it would take about a half hour to remove the sediment.

Ed Hartmand, president of the Berks County Farm Bureau, said he has benefitted from USDA programs and on their farm, his one son handles all dealings with the USDA and makes monthly visits to each office to try to stay on top of paperwork and notices.

The programs should be operated and administered by local farmers, the people who are involved in the program.

Another speaker said that the USDA must stay in touch with reality. That speaker said that USDA must keep in mind that most of the Pennsylvania forestland is owned by homesteaders with most owning less than 20 acres of land. She said the boards administering USDA conservation programs should accurately reflect those who are affected and that includes small homesteaders.

Further, she recommended that penalties should be commensurate with violations.

One speaker testified that habitat incentives should be realistic in that the speaker was frustrated with the state's deer management program and that wildlife habitat enhancement should also include some ability to protect cash crops from damages more effectively than current practices allow.

A representative from a Delaware-Maryland farm retailers organization said that funds should be used to get the maximum benefit. The speaker said that as far as dairy farm situations, the easy problems have been solved. He said that each region has its own barriers to achieving complete success and that the USDA must look at the barriers individually and stop interagency battles.

He said that in practice, "We must get away from cheerleading for one group of governments that's going to get funding and work on solving problems."

In Maryland, that speaker said that small dairy farmers have most of the problems with conservation and the money should be targeted toward helping the small farmer.

Also, the monies allocated for the new Fund For Rural America should be used to help create value-added.

It was suggested that in determining who should get funds, that criteria be established similar to that used with NPDS permits.

As far as getting the private sector to participate in conservation programs, it was suggested that the USDA do everything it can to keep funds allocated for improving the environment from being used to pad staffs and create unecessary jobs and draining the money away from its intended purpose.

Another said that public dialouge needs to be opened about the USDA programs and the dollars available and not allow one "good old boy" system be traded in for another.

Another major issue was the USDA's use of unexplained acronyms in its handout explaning programs. It was suggested that at a minimum, in documents created by the USDA for public use that it include an index explaining the meaning of the acronyms.

The subjects covered during the day included, the new Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP), Farmland Protection Program; Flood Risk Reduction Program; Conservation Farm Option; Conservation of Private Grazing Land Initiative; and Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program.

Also covered were changed programds such as swambuster and wetlands provisions, conservation compliance.

"A strong, prudent board of directors challenges management and staff to seek the greatest return on our investment in ADC, creating the highest net return to its members back on the farm."
—Richard & Janet Kriebel
Benton, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

A high net return and a strong board of directors – the outstanding benefits that Richard and Janet Kriebel refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be."

depressed areas such as Coudersport, Potter County, and Altoona in Butler County, while lowering the rates where economic activity has been increasing — Pittsburgh, Chestnut Hill, Scranton, etc. — and where competition is picking up to undercut Atlantic's rates and services.

In its filing of a rate rebalancing, it gave an example of the effect of its proposal, assuming a typical residential dial tone line with touch tone service and local unlimited calling.

Just as most statewide business or service organizations divide the state into regions, the phone company calls them "cells."

Bell provided a comparison for Cell 1 Pittsburgh city stating that the assumed typical customer there would currently be paying a $13.58 rate. The proposal would reduce that by $1.13 to $12.45.

Meanwhile, in Cell 4 Group B (a further subdivision) Coudersport is currently paying $9.53. The rate would increase there to $11.55 for a proposed $2.02 increase.

The Pennsylvania State Grange was the first advocacy group to take notice of the proposal for redistributing and began took the lead in trying to protect its rural membership of 31,000 in 66 of the state's 67 counties.

In a January news release, the Grange warned of the proposal by Bell Atlantic.

In that news release, Shambaugh stated, "There are many areas in the state where Pennsylvanians believe they are living in an urban area. However, as far as Bell Atlantic is concerned, those areas could be classified as rural. It appears that the only areas that would receive a rate reduction are Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. If that's true, the impact of the rate increase could affect a large number of Pennsylvanians."

On Thursday, Shambaugh testified before the Senate Committee in front of a crowded hearing room in the state Capitol. The reason for the hearing was to gather testimony on the progess of telecommunications deregulations and to gather a progress report on the implementation of Chapter 30 of the Public Utility Code.

"Specifically, the Grange would like to target the Bell proposal to 'rebalance' their rates," Shambaugh said. "We consider this rebalancing to be in direct violation of the (PUC's) 1994 Bell order under Chapter 30.

"As you know, according to that case, Bell is required to adhere to a rate freeze," Shambaugh said. "In our opinion, a freeze means all rates for all customers.

"Restructuring Bell's local charges means an increase for a segment of their rural clientele whose rates are not frozen," she said.

"It seems to us that a rate rebalance creates two classes of customers, which Chapter 30 was enacted to prevent."

Shambaugh said that the Grange understands the competitive nature of the phone business. That is why the industry was deregulated.

"We understand that (Bell Atlantic) must stay competitive to protect their market. We also understand that they must have a profit if they are to stay in business.

"Unfortunately, we part company when it comes to who must suffer as a result of this competition. In this case, rural telephone customers do not have the benefit of competition and suffer from the absence of other service carriers," she said.

Shambaugh also noted that Bell Atlantic and Nynex are reportedly to merge with a projected $3 billion annual profit for the new super company.

"One might wonder why Bell is even requesting a 'rebalancing.' I would certainly not call a $3 billion annual profit insignificant, or that there is a threat of bankruptcy without the proposed Bell rate restructure.

"The question then remains, should Bell be allowed to make up every dollar of competitive reductions by increasing rates to consumers who have no alternatives?

"That is precisely why the PUC has jurisdiction over the rating process, to protect consumers from overpricing," she said.

She also said that some proposals by other telephone companies are pushing for a universal rate of $25 per month with limited local calling and that a reasonable scenario based on that could be that, in the future, rural Pennsylvanians could be further penalized for living away from the population-dense areas if a precedent such as rebalancing for Bell is allowed now.

"The Grange believes that Bell should not be allowed to finance their competitive ventures on the backs of citizens who have virtually no choice," she said.

She also said that other public services don't penalize in such a way.

"Bell is obviously tyring to increase (its) profit to the detriment of rural consumers," she said, adding that the Grange requests the Senate Committee "... to do everything in its power to stop the Bell proposal ... .

"rural consumers need your assistance to ensure that they have access to telephone service, which in today's world ic certainly essential, at a reasonable rate."

Shambaugh was one of 11 scheduled speakers, other than Sen. Clarence Bell, chairman of that committee and also chair of the Senate Joint Legislative Budget and Finance Committee and vice chair of the Senate Appropriations Committee, who presided over the hearing.

Though testimony presented by the others was not immediately available, those scheduled to testify included, Irwin Popowski, Esq., with the Consumer Advocate of Pennsylvania; Chip Casteel, with MCI Corp.; William Cologie, president of the Pa. Cable and Telecommunications Association; Will Mitchell, for Bell Atlantic; Vincent Maisano, for the Communication Workers of America; David Rolka, a PUC commissioner; James Ginty, Esq., for AT&T; John Quain, PUC chairman; John Hanger, PUC commissioner; and David Freet, with the Pennsylvania Telephone Association.

'A-Day' Family Treat Begins Saturday

DOYLESTOWN (Bucks Co.) — Delaware Valley College will host its 48th annual "A-Day" (Agriculture Day) celebration this Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 (rain or shine), here on campus, on Route 202, just west of the Rt. 611 bypass. The hours on both days are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Started in 1949 by a small group of students to promote agriculture, "A-Day" has become one of the area's largest events, which this weekend will feature farm and orchard tours, agricultural and horticultural exhibitions, equine and livestock demonstrations, science exhibits and educational displays, pony rides, and a petting zoo for children.

A variety of food will be offered, as well as crafts and games for children of all ages, and live entertainment by local musicians. More than 40,000 people traditionally attend the two-day event, produced by students of Delaware Valley College. The college is celebrating the Centennial of its founding in 1896.

Delaware Valley College is a private, coeducational four-year institution with more than 1,300 men and women enrolled in 35 academic programs, ranging from the agricultural, biological, and physical sciences to business administration and the liberal arts.

Admission to "A-Day" is free. If you park your car on-campus, there is a $5 parking fee, which also includes a souvenir "A-Day" program book. The public is invited.

For more information about Delaware Valley College's "A-Day," call Erma Martin at (215) 489-2230.

"It's great to be part of the team at ADC that produces a quality product and stands by its farmers."
—Levi & LuAnn Ransom
Nicholson, PA

ADC Is the Place To Be

Quality milk and support of its members – the outstanding benefits that Levi and LuAnn Ransom refer to – are among the strengths of the premier dairy cooperative in the region.

Atlantic Dairy Cooperative has a 78-year history of excellent service to its members. Financially strong, ADC guarantees a market for all member milk and excels in maximizing returns. ADC is a leader in providing equity payments, quality bonuses and over-order premiums to members.

Nearly 4,000 dairy farmers agree that "ADC is the Place to Be."

containers. During the second year (1995), the program expanded to include 20 counties and approximately 400 participants returned over 27,7000 containers.

All containers were granulated into fine chips and sent to a contractor in St. Louis for recycling. Some collected plastic has already gone back into production of crop protection product containers. Other uses of recycled plastic include fence posts, signs and plastic pallets.

This year, the program will include 62 collection sites, located in 22 counties: Adams, Berks, Blair, Centre, Chester, Columbia, Cumberland, Dauphin, Franklin, Huntingdon, Juniata, Lancaster, Lebanon, Lycoming, Mifflin, Montour, Northumberland, Perry, Schuylkill, Snyder, Union and York.

In order to participate in this program, the containers must be constructed of #2 HDPE plastic and must be free of all product, inside and outside. Pressure rinsing or triple rinsing each container is preferred. The types of containers accepted into the recycling program are: EPA-registered agricultural, structural, turf, forestry and specialty pest control product containers, as well as containers for adjuvants, crop oil, surfactants and fertilizers. Non-agriculture related products, such as antifreeze and motor oil cannot be accepted.

For more information regarding the recycling program, including collection site locations and schedule, contact the Pennsylvania Dept. of Agriculture at (717) 787-4843. If your area is not currently included, contact your pesticide dealer, county agent or PDA regional office and encourage them to promote container recycling in your county.

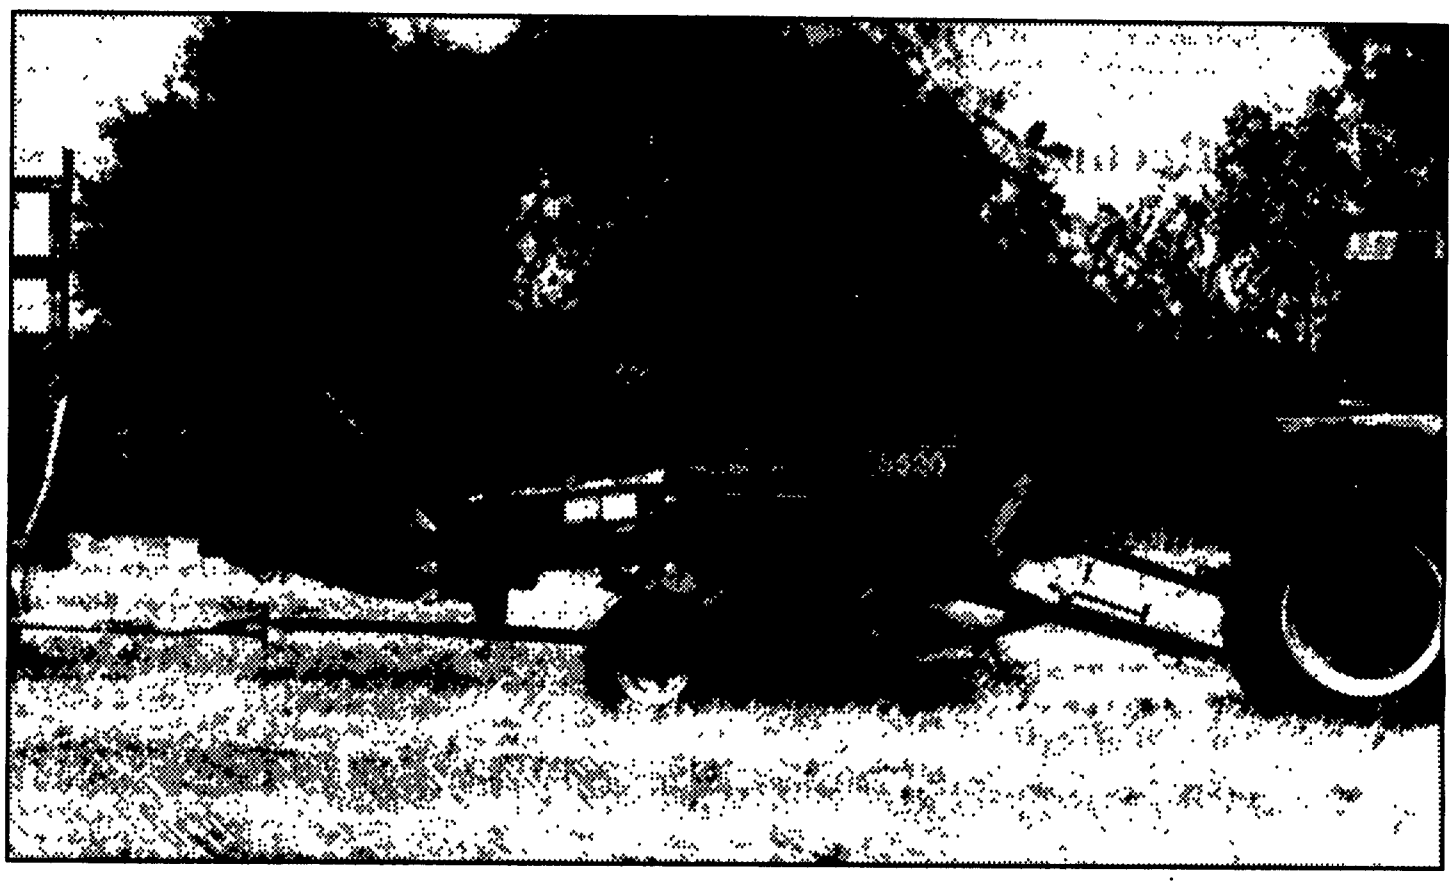
CENTER-LINE DESIGN ECONOMICAL PRICE



The benefits of the Case International 8520 center-line rectangular baler for a smaller operation are many. Narrow transport width. Easy in-field maneuverability. Gentle handling of hay. Uniform bale shape. And, a budget-minded price.

You'll appreciate the 8520 with the first bale you make. A wide, low-profile pickup and center-line feeding mean more leaves end up in the bale, not on the ground.

And, if that's not enough, there are a number of options available. A hydraulic pickup lift, flotation tires, hydraulic density control, wagon hitch and a choice of bale chutes or hydraulic bale thrower with electric controls.

Stop in and find out more about the Case International 8520 rectangular baler.

RD 1, Box 356, Cogan Station, PA 17728

(717) 435-2921

Located one mile west of Warrensville

The Waltz family at Cogan Station has been serving farmers with Case IH equipment since 1950. At their location in a large facility west of Warrensville along 973, 21 employees make a special effort to service what they sell.

Both in the shop and with the service truck on the road, the service technicians are trained by Case IH at the factory to make sure they can fix your equipment promptly and accurately. In fact, one of the key philosophies at the Waltz dealership is to take care of the people who buy from them. From emergency service of a breakdown in the field to overnight shipment of a much needed part, you can count on the Waltz dealership to be there when you need them.

For new equipment, a full line of Case IH tractors, tillage, forage and planting equipment is available. You get no high pressure sales talk. They will just try to help you with what you need.

Call Waltz for any of your Case IH sales or service needs.

PSU Dept. Dairy, Animal Science Announces Distinguished Alumni

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — The Penn State University Department of Dairy and Animal Science annually names two distinguished alumni — one for dairy science, the other for animal science.

The department this week announced its two selections.

Rupert P. Amann, Fort Collins, Colo., is the 1996 Distinguished Dairy Science Alumnus, while Don Hutzel, of Republic, Ohio, is the 1996 Distinguished Animal Science Alumnus.

Rupert Amann

Amann is an internationally known physiologist, was born and raised in Massachusetts and received a bachelor's degree in dairy husbandry from the University of Maine in 1953.

After serving in the U.S. Army, he attended Penn State University, achieving a master's degree in 1957 and a doctorate in 1961.

From 1961 to 1963, he was a research associate at Penn State. In 1963, he pursued post-doctoral studies at the Royal Veterinary and Agricultural College in Copenhagen, Denmark. In 1963, he was named assistant professor at Penn State and was promoted to associate professor in 1968 and to professor in 1972.

He was a visiting professor at Colorado State University in 1975-76. In 1979, he left Penn State and accepted an appointment as a professor at Colorado State University.

From 1989 to 1995, he was head of the Colorado University Department of Physiology, retiring with the rank of professor emeritus.

Currently, he is vice president for research with BioPore Inc., in State College, a position he has held since 1989.

He is known internationally for his research on male reproductive physiology and endocrinology and has conducted research on 13 species, including humans.

His research interests have included evaluation and preservation of sperm, testicular and epididymal physiology, and male reproductive endocrinology.

Amann published 155 research paper and 18 book chapters. In addition to his research activities, he has served on many national advisory and review panels.

Among his many awards and honors, he received the Gamma Sigma Delta Research award, the Physiology and Endocrinology award from the American Society of Animal Science, the award for Research in Animal Reproduction and Artificial Insemination from the National Association of Animal Breeders, the Pennock Distinguished Serve Award from Colorado State University, the Distinguished Andrologist award from the American Society of Andrology, and the Distinguished Service Award from the Society for the Study of Reproduction.

He has been actively involved in many profession societies and has served on the editorial boards of the Journal of Dairy Science, the Journal of Animal Science, the Journal of Andrology, Biology of Reproduction, and the Journal of Reproduction and Fertility.

He and his wife, Ragna, live in Fort Collins and have two grown children, Hans and Kirsten.

Don Hutzel

Don Hutzel, a highly respected livestock breeder, was born in Cincinatti, Ohio, and was raised in southwestern Ohio on his family's registered Jersey operation.

His interest in beef cattle began when he worked with Polled Shorthorn cattle, Hampshire hogs and Jersey dairy cattle at a farm near his home.

He enrolled in the animal science program at Ohio State University, but transferred to Penn State after three semesters.

At Penn State, Hutzel lived at the beef barns and worked his way through school. He was a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity. He also participated in student activities, including the Little International Livestock Exposition. He chaired the beef division of the 1956 Little I.

Hutzel earned a bachelor's degree in animal science in 1957. for year afterward, he worked at Penn State as an assistant herdsman. He then became a herdsman at Acadia Farms in Northfield, Ohio, where he was promoted to operations manager after six years.

In 1964, he becam manager of the Angus herd at Holiday Farms near Grand Rapids, Mich., and while there produced the 1969 All-American Futurity champion female Angus.

For the past 25 years, he has worked for NOBA Inc., a bull stud company in Tiffin, Ohio.

He and his wife, Ann, have been married 35 years and live on a 100-acre farm near Republic, Ohio. They have five grown children: Don Jr., Bill, Alice, David and Peter.

Robert Fraley Becomes Dekalb Director

DEKALB, Ill. — Robert T. Fraley, president of the Ceregen unit at Monsanto Co., was named to the board of directors of DEKALB Genetics Corporation, the company said today. His appointment brings the number of directors to 11.

As head of Ceregen, Fraley, 43, is responsible for the discovery, development and commercialization of new crop chemical and biotechnology-based products. Recognized as a worldwide leader in gene transfer technology, Fraley has authored more than 100 publications and patent applications relating to technical advances in this area.

Fraley joined the Monsanto Biological Sciences Program in 1981 as a senior research specialist after receiving his Ph.D in microbiology/biochemistry in 1978 from the University of Illinois and completing a two-year fellowship at the University of California-San Francisco. He has held positions of increasing responsibility at Monsanto, in-cluding director of the Plant Science research group, vice president of technology for The Agricultural Group, and group vice president and general manager of the New Products Division.

Fraley was awarded the 1995 National Award for Agricultural Excellence in Science by the National Agri-Marketing Association. In 1986, he received the Monsanto Thomas and Hochwalt Award in recognition of advances made in basic research in plant biology. In 1988, he was elected a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Harness® Xtra: the best weed control I've seen in years"

Rick Schlosberg, 2,000 acres
Newtown Square, Pennsylvania

"I had always been a big Bicep user in corn, until I started seeing frequent mid-season escapes of giant foxtail. Even spiking the Bicep with extra Dual didn't work. To make a long story short, I went with Harness® Xtra on 90 percent of my acreage in 1995. And, I'll be doing it again this year.

With Harness Xtra, I had excellent long-season weed control of giant foxtail, fall panicum and triazine-resistant lambsquarters. I saw no escapes at all for the first time in over six years. It saved me money, too, because I didn't have to spike it to get consistent control or come back with resprays.

I'm using Harness Xtra 5.6L in a big way this season. I encourage you to do the same."

ky wanted to breed her mare to Mint's world champion sire. But in the process of investigating this possibility, the owners of the sire showed Vicki the colt and put a price on him. Vicki was so impressed that even though she had no intention of having a breeding horse farm, she made the required down payment.

In afterthought, Vicki and Charles decided the price was too high for them to afford at the time, and Vicki stopped payment on the deposit check. But before she could call the owners to tell them of their decision not to buy the colt, the owners called the Greers and reported that the sire had died. This lifted the colt's value because breeders could no longer have the sire. The Greers changed their minds again and decided to buy Mint after all. With more juggling of correspondence and bank accounts, Mint found a new home at the southern edge of Wakefield with a Peach Bottom address.

And since that time the the horse that's 15.3 hands, liver chestnut with silver mane and tail has become the pride and financier of all the improvements in facilities and buildings at Win Blu. Mint has sired over 200 foals, and even though he was injured as a three year-old and could not be shown since, his offspring have won all the major shows, including the Grand National with a roomful of trophies and ribbons that cover the walls to the ceiling.

And these winnings have been in every possible class. That's the versatile part of the Morgan breed, in general, and the Mint offspring specifically. They win in all the confirmation and pleasure classes: Saddle, Western and English; Park, and Driving. Amish farmers even use Morgans for work horses because of their strength and calmness.

The secret to Vicki's success in training winners has come from her innate belief that you should put the horse in the class that naturally fits the animal's genetic makeup and personality. If the horse under Vicki's watchful eye is a high stepping, animated, show-off, the Park division becomes the natural place for this horse to show. If the prospect carries the head a little lower and performs a little slower, you may have a pleasure or western horse.

"Putting a horse where it belongs is the key to success," Vicki said. "Some people are embarrassed if the offspring of their Park horses turn out to be Western. But a horse does better when its happy. And a horse is more happy if he performs in a class that comes naturally to him."

"Another difference in the care of horses at Win Blu is their outdoor environment. Unless the weather is just too miserable, all the horses are free to be in the pasture all the time. Many show horses are kept in box stall and never see daylight. But Vicki believes they are mentally more at peace if they have the opportunity to roam in the board-fenced pasture lots.

"We go with what keeps a horse happy," Vicki said. "I worry about their mind-set and their health. They must be mentally able to show and feel like doing it rather than to just being forced to be out there. Some horses have beautiful confirmation, but they don't want to show. We have even changed show classes on horses because we saw they were better adapted to a different class. We try to enhance the gaits and style the horse inherently has."

Vicki is also very adamant that you should not show a horse before the horse is ready. Just because the show is next week and you have paid the entry fee does not mean you should go if the horse is not ready. That's why the Greers no longer train other people's horses. They were not comfortable that they were doing the best thing for the horses by showing them before they were ready.

The breeding program at Win Blu is strictly out-breeding. Because inbreeding or line breeding may concentrate the negative traits, as well as the good traits, the young sire that is being used on Mint's daughters is Nisara's Adam's Mark, a full outcross.

"You must be objective with your own animals and take a hard look at their confirmation and performance qualities. The judge is always trying to find the negatives, so ideally you breed a horse that is so exceptional the judge can't find them. A lot of people line breed, but I wouldn't do this. We try to breed so the negative characteristic is not stamped into the next generation. You have to get better as you go and that's how we try to do it."

Of course, not everything always goes well when you are dealing with animals. Vicki likes to tell about the young 17-hand stallion that was under contract (had enough breeding services lined up) for $11,000 and was sold to new owners. The horse died before he left the farm with a combined total loss of over $55,000. This was heart-breaking.

But it's the good times mixed in with the disappointemnts that gives Vicki a ready answer to the question: What does it take to run a good horse breeding farm?

"A good sense of humor," she laughs.

Mamma horse with a day-old baby Mint colt.

WindhoverEnchantmint, the foundation at Win Blu Stables, has sired more than 200 foals that include winners in all classes and shows up to the Grand National.

Nisara's Adam's Mark is the outcross sire selected to breed to Mint's daughters.

Look at the animated presentation by W-B Her Majesty. This stylish 17-hand stallion is the son of Mark out of a Mint daughter and represents the results of the planned breeding program at Win Blu.

Designed to fulfill Henry Ford's ambition to "lift the burden of farming from flesh and bones," Fordson tractors reaped a love-hate reputation among farmers. Beloved by the British, the Fordson put food on the table and provided jobs and exports through two World Wars. But in the United States, it was either loved as a popular everyman's tractor, or hated by farmers who rued the day they parted with their horses.

Fordson Tractors covers the history of these tractors: the first experimental models, the X-Models; the tractors built for Britain's Ministry of Munitions during World War I; the Fordson F; the Fordson N; the association with Harry Ferguson which resulted in the Ford-Ferguson 9N; the Fordson P6 (TA); and the numerous versions of the Dexta and Major.

Over 130 color and black & white photographs and illustrations tell the story of the Fordson tractor from Henry Ford's initial concept in 1914, to 1964 and the last of the tractors to bear the Fordson name, the Super Dexta and Major.

Author Robert N. Pripps is a well-known and respected author of numerous tractor books published by Motorbooks International, including Illustrated Ford & Fordson Tractor Buyer's Guide and Big Green: John Deere GP Tractors. Andrew Morland has photographed tractors for numerous Motorbooks International titles. He also authored and photographed Ford & Fordson Tractors and Modern American Farm Tractors.

State Commodity Roundtable Develops Mission, Elects Officers

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — The Commodity Roundtable, an ad-hoc agricultural education and promotion organization, comprised of commodity groups and ag associations working in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, recently met in Harrisburg to adopt a mission statement to direct future endeavors of the group and to elect new officers for 1996.

The following mission statement was adopted: "To provide an opportunity to exchange new ideas. To enhance understanding among Pennsylvania's Commodity and Agricultural Organizations. And to foster greater cooperation through joint promotional and educational activities which advance Pennsylvania's agricultural products and services in partnership with the Department of Agriculture."

"Those of us in this organization have gathered to learn from one another," said Brian Ross, Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program and immediate past chairman of the Commodity Roundtable.

"This was the strength of the group in the beginning and will continue to be a focal point for the roundtable. The mission statement defines our intent to work together with the Department of Agriculture in promoting commodities through ideas and events," he added.

Melissa Piper Nelson was elected chairman of the Commodity Roundtable for 1996 with William Troxell serving as vice chairman.

Mr. Nelson is director of Farm News Service, an agricultural editorial and management service in Halifax, Pa., and is executive secretary for the Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers' Association. She was formerly secretary of the Commodity Roundtable and has served as president of the Horticultural Trade Alliance. She was also recently named to the executive board of the State Council of Farm Organizations.

Mr. Troxell is the executive director of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association and served as vice chairman of the Commodity Roundtable last year. He has also served as an officer on the Horticultural Trade Alliance and as a board member with numerous ag associations.

Individual Commodity Roundtable members will cooperate with the Pennsylvania Wine Growers Association in presenting a Food and Wine Exposition to be held Sept. 21-22, 1996, at Station Square in Pittsburgh. The expo will feature cooking and wine demonstrations and product sampling.

The Commodity Roundtable welcomed the Pennsylvania Emu Association as a guest at the recent meeting and encourages other commodity and ag organizations to participate in the roundtable discussions. For additional information on the Commodity Roundtable contact Melissa Nelson at (717) 362-3705.

MMI Offers $1 Per Cwt. Bonus

STRONGSVILLE, Ohio — Milk Marketing Inc. (MMI) will offer dairy farmers a $1 per hundredweight seasonal premium on any milk they produce in the fall that surpasses their spring production levels, CEO and Executive Vice President Donald H. Schriver announced.

"It's intended to reward members who produce more milk in the low production, high demand period of the year as compared to the historically high 'spring flush' period," noted Schriver.

To qualify for the bonus, member farmers must ship their milk through MMI, avoid quality violations, and produce more milk during September, October and November than they do during April, May and June.

As an example, a farmer who produces an extra 100,000 pounds of milk this fall will recieve a $1,000 bonus.

MMI President and Board Chair Herman Brubaker announced that new members who join the cooperative before autumn will also be eligible for the bonus as long as they provide verification of their spring production.

Furthermore, he said, start-up farms without an established production base will be eligible for the cash bonus on 10 percent of their total fall production.

Besides providing extra cash for farmers, Schriver said the seasonal bonus program is expected to cut the amount of excess milk the co-op has to handle in the spring and also save on the purchase of supplemental milk to meet customer demands in the fall.

MMI is the region's largest dairy producer-owned cooperative and the 12th largest U.S. dairy food company. Headquartered in Strongsville, Ohio, MMI has a regional office in Syracuse, NY, and manufacturing facilities in Indiana, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania. MMI has 9,000 dairy farm families in Ohio, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New York, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Vermont and Delaware.

4-H Staffs Work Wonders To Promote Education, Character In Schools

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

LITITZ (Lancaster Co.) — 'Tis the season . . . wait a minute! Didn't we just pass through months of cold weather, and isn't Christmas over?

Well, not for 4-H staff. In fact, the "season" — in this case, involving 4-H programs in classrooms — may nearly be over, as they instruct thousands of elementary students in hundreds of state schools.

Assistants are the backbone of many great elementary school 4-H programs. Through joining 4-H as a result, kids have learned to be leaders.

One second grader raised her hand and asked: 'Do any of the eggs have an ugly duckling?'

It is the devotion that 4-H staff and leaders put in to make the program work.

Just ask Laurie Schmidt in Lancaster County. Or Laurie Sicko-Szoke and Toni Stuetz in Chester County. Or Deb Dietrich and Beth Hartman in Berks County.

These 4-H agents, assistants, and leaders can attest to months of preparation and back-to-back school presentations on a daily basis. The 4-H message reaches many schools through their efforts.

Following are some of the ways in which 4-H staffers have worked to ensure that the message of 4-H is brought to the schools in the area.

'It was so neat when these chicks hatched to see the kids' faces.'

Chester County

Not long ago during a presentation at the Montgomery School in Chester Springs, a fourth grader raised her hand and asked, "If there's a fire in the school, how do we get the chicks out?"

Toni Stuetz fields all sorts of questions like that, from inquisitive kindergarteners to more practiced seventh graders who have studied chicken embryology. Toni is the Chester County 4-H agent who coordinates the county's 4-H embryology program.

Early in April this year at a school in Chester County, one of the White Leghorn chicks hatched and was bald. Toni recounts how the children asked her: What causes a bald chick? And would the chick be OK?

For a period of 8-10 weeks, lasting from the end of March to the end of May, Toni is busy bringing the message of Chester County 4-H to schools. Spring is the most popular time to instruct embryology — the study of the egg — to classes.

Each year Toni visits 125-130 classrooms to provide teacher training and instructions to the students on the program and to introduce the mission of the county 4-H program. Through those instructions, children learn about 4-H — and many sign up to participate in the program.

The Chester County 4-H program boasts about 5,000 members with about 300 leaders.

Recently, Toni visited 15 different classes over the course of two days.

Teachers incorporate embryology into the lesson plans, depending on the grade level and the school district, said Toni. While the 4-H program doesn't do a lot of other animal-based projects in the classrooms, embryology teaches the students aspects of care and responsibility, nurturing, and overall life sciences.

Toni said the children call her the "Chicken Lady." And when the kids see the chicks hatch, many become attached to them. "There's a lot of learning and a lot of fun associated with it," she said.

Often, the children and teachers

Lancaster 4-H assistant Laurie Schmidt reviews embryology fundamentals with Mr. Lantz's 5th grade class.

Laurie Sicko-Szoke, left and Toni Stuetz spoke about some of the educational programs of 4-H in Chester County. One of those is the Kids For Character program.

Students in Mr. Merv Lantz's fifth grade class will soon watch as eggs hatch in their incubator.

According to Deb Dietrich, 4-H extension agent, right, teachers are invited to the extension center for training. In addition, Beth Hartman, 4-H assistant, left, spends time at the school after fertile chicken eggs are delivered helping to train the instructors as well as present the classroom candling demonstrations.

Using Cartoons, Kids' Character At Heart Of Program

COATESVILLE (Chester Co.) — Laurie Sicko-Szoke remembers when she was a child, she was taught respect for adults.

These days, as law enforcement officers and school administrators know all too well, some children can be brutally disrespectful of authority and the law.

Laurie, Chester county extension agent, said as a child she learned to respect school codes and show up for school on time.

As any parent or teacher can attest, teen-agers and even elementary school age children are skipping school with frightening frequency.

Back then, Laurie remembered how you learned to "watch your mouth" and address people as "Mr." or "Mrs."

These days? It can be as insulting as "hey you" and even loaded with offensive words.

What happened?

Parents have adapted to new economic realities and aren't at home to supervise the children. Caregivers find their hands tied. More and more, adults have been losing touch with the emotional demands of elementary or high school aged children.

Starting today, a video program could change all that.

The Character Counts! Coalition, supported by the National 4-H office and 59 other organizations, will launch "Kids For Character," a video filmed and edited by Universal Studios Florida, at today's "world premier." About 1,000 sites, many of them YMCA locations, will play the video and involve people of all ages.

Using a format filled with children's favorite cartoon characters, the video will tell some tall tales of how people can learn to respect and trust each other, work together, learn to care and be fair, and to act in more community-oriented, responsible ways.

Cartoon characters include Babar, Barney and Friends, Lamb Chop's Play-Along, Nick Jr.'s Gullah Gullah Island, Cat-In-the-Hat, Garfield, and many other characters. The coalition, which helped create the video, is a project of the Josephson Institute of Ethics, created by an attorney in honor of his parents.

According to Laurie, who has seen a preview of the video, one cartoon features Babar, who is trying to assemble a "board meeting" of the inhabitants of the forest to put out a fire. Different personalities from different backgrounds and ways of thinking must be brought together to work as one unit, which teaches children about the importance of citizenship.

The video will help to "bring together parts of the community to encourage young people, their parents, their caregivers, and their community leadership to work together and to really gain an awareness of these different pillars," said Laurie.

The coalition that helped develop the video "is really a positive effort that crosses all political/religious boundaries," she said. "It's a nationwide movement to bring young people and adults together."

THE SIX PILLARS OF CHARACTER
CHARACTER COUNTS! is a service mark used by the CHARACTER COUNTS! Coalition a project of the Josephson Institute of Ethics (310) 306-1868

The Kids For Character video examines the six pillars of character, detailed here in this illustration.

The Key To Efficient Middle Management.

Synchronized transmission

- 12L/12R standard & 16L/8R optional on the 45 PTO hp 5650 and 55 PTO hp 5660
- 16L/16R standard & 24L/12R optional on the 63 PTO hp 5660 and 72 PTO hp 5680
- Fully synchronized direction control lever
- Creeper range

Corner management

4-H Staffs Work Wonders

have developed rapport with local farmers, where the chicks are sometimes delivered after the classroom instruction.

Toni said she tries "to connect the teachers with the farm directly. Sometimes, if I can't make the connections, then I get the livestock or dairy agent involved because they work more directly with 4-H farm families."

Chester county livestock agent is Cheryl Fairbairn and the dairy agent is Walt Wurster.

Toni also conducts wildlife classes and the 4-H rocketry program. She recalls one student who was emotionally challenged. He had little confidence he would be able to complete his rocket and successfully launch it. On the day the rockets were to be launched, he missed school; but after realizing it was launch day, he asked his mother to drive him to school and was there to see his rocket launched.

'I tell the kids that everything they eat starts on a farm somewhere, and they don't realize that,' said Beth. 'Even a banana starts on a plantation, and that's a farm.'

"We're really making contact and making some impacts on the kids," Toni said. As a result, the children sign up for the many animal science and community clubs (or general-interest clubs) provided by the 4-H program.

'Every time I candle those eggs and those kids get to see that embryo in there developing. . . . I'm just like one of the kids. And every time, it's just . . . a miracle. It's just a miracle.'

"This year I'm amazed at how many kids want to do swine projects," she said. More interest is growing for showing swine at the fairs, and as more enroll, the necessity for a common meeting grounds for shows and roundup increases.

Soon, the county will have its own show ring facility at the new Romano 4-H Center nearing completion just outside Honey Brook.

Another new program that the 4-H leaders are promoting is the Kids for Character program from the Character Counts! Coalition. More details about that program in a related article this issue.

Lancaster County

After weeks of heavy snowfall early in February this year, Little Britain Elementary School teacher Kim Nardella sat her second grade class down to read a story.

The tale was a familiar one that we all know, involving an ugly duckling and how it magically turned into a swan.

A few days later, at the invitation of Nardella, Lancaster 4-H assistant Laurie Schmidt came in to talk about chicken eggs and how the embryos grow and eventually hatch from the egg.

'Just hearing the kids saying, "Oh, wow, look at that, that's really neat" — that makes it all worthwhile.'

One second grader raised her hand and asked: "Do any of the eggs have an ugly duckling?"

Laurie calmly assured the class of 25 eager second graders that no, it wouldn't happen, that most of the Leghorn chicks would hatch, be yellow in color, and simply grow up to be hens or roosters.

But Laurie remembers how awestruck the children were when it came time to "candle" the eggs.

Each time she begins the candling process — looking at the contents of the fertilized egg with a bright light, in this case, from a slide projector — Laurie smiles when she notices their reaction.

"Just hearing the kids saying, 'Oh, wow, look at that, that's really neat' — that makes it all worthwhile," she said.

Many of the inner city kids have never seen chicks hatch. "It was so neat when these chicks hatched to see the kids' faces," she said.

It's only one of the ways that 4-H assistants contribute a lot of time, energy, talents, and love of learning to children in schools.

As an assistant, Laurie works throughout the year traveling from classroom to classroom in Lancaster County, visiting about 30 classrooms each month, to promote education through the 4-H embryology program.

The 4-H offices are contacted by school teachers to help instruct students about some aspect of animal health and reproduction. Each class is tailored to the needs of the grade assigned, anwhere from grades 2 to 7.

Toni said the children call her the 'Chicken Lady.'

Recently, Laurie visited Merv Lantz's fifth grade class at Reidenbaugh Elementary School in Lititz. As part of the unit on health studies on body systems, Laurie helped present a topic on embryology and helped candle the fertilized eggs for the class.

Also, Laurie showed the fifth graders how to identify a healthy, fertilized egg and looked at various chicken embryos.

In early April, the 4-H assistant traveled to several schools, including Park Elementary in Columbia, Lititz Christian School, Leola Elementary, and schools in Manheim and Maytown.

April and May are the busiest times of the year for the embryology program, which begins just after the state Farm Show and ends in late May.

Laurie spoke about some of the challenges she faces as a 4-H assistant and about her work with the embryology program.

She said often the second and third graders she speaks with "actually ask more questions than the sixth and seventh graders," she said.

As the classroom age increases, the program becomes more involved, describing some of the more technical aspects of managing growth.

She oversees the eggs until hatch. Not only does the program examine what happens before the eggs hatch, but care and management of the newly hatched chicks continues some time after hatch.

Laurie said she enjoys "working with the kids and just seeing how the whole 4-H program affects the children," she said.

She said the funniest question she is asked is, "'Are you any relation to Mike Schmidt (the former Phillies baseball player)?'" She tells them, no.

Her nickname, the Egg Lady, is known afterward, and kids who she has taught come up to her years later and talk to her how she influenced them.

"I love what I'm doing," she said. But to her, the important thing is the respect and the responsibility that the kids learn from

Using Cartoons

Laurie indicated the parts of the video she has seen were memorable and satisfying. "I watched it and adults have watched it and kids have watched it," she said. "It really is cute, it really is catchy, it's very professionally done.

"It's done so that the messages are very clear, and it presents a rainbow of all people. It's just a real positive product and has some really good messages."

She said there are some "smarts" in the making of the video to help unite young people and their communities.

"That part of the community needs to know how to respect one another, how to care for one another, how to trust one another," she said. Laurie admitted, however, that while she doesn't like cartoons, "I respond to this very well."

For the children, "Kids For Character" can help teach them how "to work together as groups and make decisions and present ourselves as well." For adults and caregivers, the video helps strengthen communication and helps foster respect and responsibility across all age groups.

"Kids For Character" supports another National 4-H team building and conflict resolution program, "Talking with T.J.," also a nationwide collaborative effort in youth eduction, according to Laurie.

It's unfortunate, according to many 4-H agents, that some parents can't provide lessons on character to their children.

"How many families sit down at a dinner table to talk?" said Laurie. "I remember we used to do it. But here's an example of someone who doesn't sit down until 10 o'clock at night to eat dinner. Who knows how many other adults act that way?

'How many families sit down at a dinner table to talk?'

"It's unfortunate that it has had to come to these kinds of initiatives, yet I think it is fortunate too that there is a group of caring organizations and lot of caring people who have created such an attractive approach to reintroducing this in a positive way and then following up with it."

The video will also be available to purchase in the coming months.

For more information on how to obtain the video, contact Laurie at the Chester County extension office, (610) 696-3500 or your local 4-H extension agent.

B.U.C.S. OWNER'S REPORT #57

The Word Is Out!

B.U.C.S. Owner's Report
- Increased Storage Capacity
- Better Feed Quality
- Faster Unloading
- Lower Maintenance

The Jamesway Big Jim® B.U.C.S.™ (BOTTOM UNLOADING CONVERSION SYSTEM) is making big news!

Reports are coming in from B.U.C.S. owners everywhere. And they're reporting that their systems are delivering increased storage capacity, higher quality feed, faster unloading and reduced maintenance versus their old systems. Even in silos that had been retired! But don't take our word for it. Here's what your neighbor has to say about their B.U.C.S. System!

OWNER'S REPORT #57

"After using our B.U.C.S. for one year, we like the way it has worked overall. There are no doors to change, and little operating cost. We did away with the high maintenance costs and slow discharge rate of the old bottom unloader. B.U.C.S. discharges feed a lot faster."

Saucy Ideas To Dress Up Any Dish

Looking for new ways to add excitement to a favorite dish? A saucy solution starts with a basic white sauce enlivened with herbs, condiments, cheese or other equally flavorful ingredients.

The American Dairy Association offers a basic white sauce recipe and 20 variations to be served over cooked vegetables, potatoes, fish, roasts, and other ways.

BASIC WHITE SAUCE
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Melt butter in small, heavy saucepan. Blend in flour and cook, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Stir in salt and pepper.

VARIATIONS:

Parmesan Pepper Sauce — Add ¼ cup parmesand cheese and dash of ground nutmeg. Serve over pasta.

Cheese Sauce — Add about ¾ cup shredded cheddar, Swiss or Monterey Jack cheese; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; and a dash of cayenne pepper. Serve over pasta or vegetables.

Egg Sauce — Add ¼ teaspoon dry mustard to flour, and stir in 1 to 2 chopped or sliced hard-cooked eggs at end of cooking. Serve over vegetables or fish.

Paprikash Sauce — Substitute chicken broth for half the milk, and add 2 teaspoons sweet Hungarian paprika and ¼ teaspoon onion powder with flour. Serve over chicken or veal.

Curry Sauce — Add about ½ teaspoon curry powder. Serve over shrimp, chicken, or eggs.

Sauce Florentine — Add 1 cup chopped, cooked spinach and a dash of ground nutmeg. Serve over fish, chicken, eggs or pasta.

Mushroom Sauce — Add 1 cup sauteed mushrooms. Serve over fish, chicken or vegetables.

Sauce Dijon — Add 3 to 4 tablespoons Dijon-style prepared mustard, and freshly ground pepper to taste. Serve over chicken, pork or veal.

A la King Sauce — Substitute chicken broth for half the milk and add ¼ cup diced green pepper and 3 tablespoons chopped pimiento. Serve over chicken or eggs.

Honey Mustard Sauce — Add 3 to 4 tablespoon Dijon-style prepared mustard, and 2 tablespoons honey. Serve over chicken or pork.

Parsley Sauce: — Add 2 tablespoons chopped parsley. Serve over fish, chicken or veal.

Lemony Chive Sauce — Add 1 tablespoon snipped chives and 1 to 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Serve over vegetables, fish, chicken or veal.

Caper Sauce — Add 2 tablespoons drained coarsely chopped capers and 1½ teaspoons lemon juice. Serve over fish or chicken.

Shrimp Sauce — Add 1 cup coarsely chopped cooked shrimp and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Serve over fish, eggs, or pasta.

Anchovy Sauce — Add 2 to 3 tablespoons anchovy paste and a dash of cayenne pepper. Serve over fish.

Mornay Sauce — Add 2 tablespoons grated gruyere or Swiss cheese, 2 tablespoons grated paremesan cheese, a dash of grated nutmeg, and a dash of cayenne pepper. Serve over vegetables or eggs.

Horseradish Sauce — Add 1 tablespoons prepared horseradish. Serve over beef.

Cucumber Sauce — Add ⅔ cup diced, peeled, cucumber cooked tender-crisp; and 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Serve over fish.

Bleu Cheese Sauce: Add ½ cup crumbled Bleu cheese and coarsely ground pepper to taste. Serve over broiled or grilled steak, lamb chops, or lamb or beef patties.

Russian Sauce — Add ¼ cup shrimp cocktail sauce or chili sauce, combined with ¼ cup dairy sour cream. Served over fish.

Here are some more sauce, dip, and dressing recipes from our readers.

HONEY BUTTER SAUCE
½ cup butter
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Dash salt
¾ cup honey
½ cup whipping cream
1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Combine butter, cinnamon, and salt in saucepan; heat until butter melts. Blend in honey. Stir in cream and orange peel. Serve warm over ice cream or fresh fruit.

THREE WAY DIP
2 cups cottage cheese
1 cup crumbled blue cheese
2 tablespoon chopped green onion
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 cup dairy sour cream

Place cottage and blue cheese in blender or food processor. Blend or process until fairly smooth. Transfer to medium bowl. Stir in onion, Worcestershire sauce, and lemon juice. Gently fold in sour cream. Cover and chill. Serve with crackers or vegetable dippers. Dip may also be used as a salad dressing or served on baked potatoes. Yields 4 cups.

Pa. Alternate Dairy Princess

CRAB MEAT DIP
4 ounces cream cheese
½ tablespoon onion, grated
¼ teaspoon worcestershire sauce
7-ounce can crab meat
Dash salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice
6 tablespoons sour cream

Cheese should be at room temperature. Add remaining ingredients and mix together. Chill before serving.

ANSWER — Aida Mothes, Renich, W.Va., wanted a recipe for the cabbage soup diet. Thanks to Tammy Nycum, Breezewood; Trudy Ashelman, Orangeville, and others for sending the recipe. They are basically the same recipe except some called for canned onion soup and others for dry onion soup.

Diet Vegetable Soup

1 bell pepper, chopped
1 onion, chopped
1 head cabbage, chopped
1 quart tomatoes, fresh or canned
1 can or 1 package French onion soup

Combine all ingredients in a kettle or crockpot. Cover with water and cook until vegetables are tender.

TEXAS BARBECUE SAUCE

5-ounce bottle Lea and Perrins Worcestershire sauce
2 cups water
1 cup cider vinegar
¾ cup lemon juice
¼ cup vegetable oil
¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon garlic salt
½ teaspoon ground black pepper

In a medium saucepan, combine all ingredients. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered for 10 minutes. Cool. Pour into tightly covered container. This sauce will keep refrigerated for several weeks. Use for chicken, hamburger, or steak. Makes 4 cups.

LOW-FAT CREAMY GARLIC ITALIAN DRESSING

½ cup low-fat buttermilk
½ cup low-fat cottage cheese
1 medium-sized garlic clove, minced
2 water-packed artichoke hearts, rinsed and chopped
¼ small onion, minced
2 teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1 teaspoon tomari
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
¼ teaspoon dried leaf oregano
¼ teaspoon grated parmesan cheese
1 generous teaspoon minced fresh parsley

Place all ingredients except parsley in a food processor fitted with a metal blade. Process until smooth.

Add parsley. Pour into jar, cover and refrigerate up to three days. Calories per tablespoon = 8, trace fat.

ANSWER — D.R. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., wanted a recipe for Irish candy potatoes made with coconut, confectioners' sugar and rolled in cinnamon — especially served on St. Patrick's Day. Thanks to Beth Bradway, Salem, N.J., for sending a recipe.

Irish Potatoes

3½ cups confectioners' sugar
4 ounces cream cheese
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup coconut
2 tablespoon butter, room temperature
Dash salt

Mix together ingredients by hand and form into large ball. Refrigerate 3 to 4 hours. Make small balls from large one. Roll in cinnamon. Enjoy. Store remainder in airtight containers in refrigerator.

ANSWER — D.R. Newsom, Cooperstown, N.Y., wants recipes for a very delicate crab or lobster salad. Thanks to Sarah Clark, Breezewood, who writes that lobster salad is at its best when made very simply with lobster meat, a little crunchy celery and adequately dressed with a creamy, mild, homemade mayonnaise. Have all the ingredients chilled.

Lobster Salad

3 cups cooked lobster
½ cup finely chopped celery
½ cup mayonnaise
1½ tablespoons heavy cream
Salt to taste
1 head Bibb lettuce

Cut the lobster meat into large bite-sized pieces, place them in a bowl and add celery. Blend the mayonnaise and cream in a small bowl. Then gently combine with lobster, toss to mix, and add salt. Arrange on a bed of lettuce.

ANSWER — Winifred Adams, Greencastle; Beverly Adamire, Halifax, and others want a recipe for friendship cake and the starter. Thanks to Ruth Crouthamel, Pottstown, and others for sending recipes. Please clip this recipe and file it as I don't think a week goes by that someone doesn't request this because they forgot to clip it.

Amish Friendship Starter

1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
1 cup flour

Combine the ingredients in a large, deep glass or plastic container. Cover lightly. If the container has a lid, leave in slightly ajar. Or, place a piece of cheesecloth over the container and secure it with a rubber band. Store at room temperature.

Stir every day for 17 days.

On Day 18, do nothing.

On Days 19, 20, and 21, stir.

On Day 22, stir and add 1 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, and 1 cup milk. Stir again.

On Days 23, 24, 25, and 26, stir.

On Day 27, add 1 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, and 1 cup milk. Stir. You should have about 4 cups starter.

Give one cup each to two friends and keep the remaining 2 cups for yourself. Use one in the Amish Friendship Bread or Friendship Cake recipe and the other to keep the starter going. When you give away the starter, included these instructions.

Keeping a starter going:

Do not refrigerate and do not use a metal spoon when stirring this starter.

On Day 1 (the day you receive your starter) do nothing.

On Days 2, 3, and 4 stir.

On Day 5, stir in 1 cup flour, 1 cup sugar, and 1 cup milk. Pour mixture into large glass mixing bowl; cover lightly. Mixture will rise.

On Days 6, 7, 8, and 9, stir.

On Day 10, stir in 1 cup milk. Stir. Give 1 cup each to two friends, keeping 1 cup to make the bread and 1 cup for your starter.

Amish Friendship Bread

1 cup Amish Friendship Starter
⅔ cup vegetable oil
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
3 eggs
1½ teaspoons baking powder
1 to 1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda

Your choice of raisins, chocolate chips, nuts, dates, apples, etc.

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Place batter in well greased and sugared loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Cool 10 minutes before removing from pan.

Friendship Cake

1 cup starter
⅔ cup oil
3 eggs
2 cups flour
1 cup sugar
2 teaspoons vanilla
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
2 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons baking soda

Stir well, but do not use electric mixer. For variety, add desired amount of one or more of the following ingredients; apples, nuts, raisins, dates, chocolate chips, cocoa or drained fruit cocktail, or up to 4 bananas (overripe). Bake in a floured and greased Bundt pan at 350 degrees for 40-50 minutes. Cool on a rack for about one hour. Turn over onto serving plate. Optional: Add frosting or spinkle with powdered sugar.

ANSWER — Lizzie Sensenig, Mifflinburg, wanted a recipe for Magic Shell Chocolate Syrup, which gets hard when poured on ice cream. Thanks to Ruth Crouthamel, Pottstown, for for a recipe that she said is the same as requested except it has chopped nuts with it. The nuts may be omitted.

Chocolate-Nut Crackle Topping

¼ cup butter
1 cup chopped nuts
6 ounces chocolate chips
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt butter in heavy saucepan over low heat. Add nuts and stir over medium heat until nuts are lightly toasted, about 4 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in chocolate chips until melted. Stir in vanilla. Serve at once over ice cream or keep warm over bowl of hot water. Topping hardens when spooned over ice cream.

ANSWER — Beverly "Bee" Adamire, Halifax, sent a recipe for Violet Cassner, Newburg. She said that this is the same recipe that she used for coconut or peanut butter eggs only she substitutes nuts and fruit for the coconut. She doesn't measure, just dumps ingredients together until it looks and tastes right.

Bee's Easter Eggs

2 sticks softened butter
8 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 pound box confectioners' sugar
½ cup finely chopped pecans or walnuts
½ cup dried cherries, raisens or dates, chopped

Beat first four ingredients well. Add fruit and nuts. If batter is too stiff, add a few drops of canned milk. Roll into eggs and coat with chocolate.

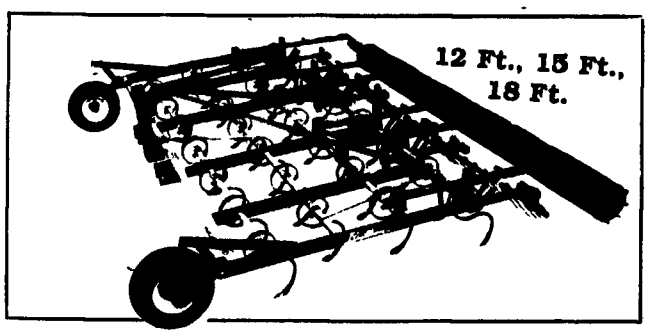
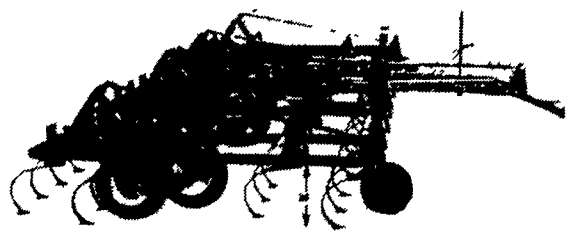
Brillion

Brillion 3 PT. BASKET HARROWS



Brillion has designed a 3 pt. S-tine field cultivator with a larger, aggressively angled 12" diameter rolling basket, a 4-bar frame that allows for either 4" or 6" tooth spacing and an adjustable coil tine leveler bar. Gauge wheels are optional.

HFC FIELD CULTIVATORS
16½ Ft. to 31½ Ft.



The "heart" of any field cultivator is the shank pivot point. A "bulked up" shank bracket made of cast ductile iron instead of the usual formed steel bracket, incorporates a hardened steel bushing AND a zerk grease fitting to lubricate the pivot point to reduce wear. The result is thousands of acres of extended life of the shanks.

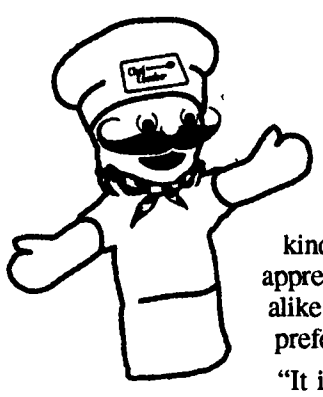
Dairy Council's Chef Combo Serves Up Good Nutrition

SOUTHAMPTON, PA – Chef Combo's Kitchen at the Discovery Diner, a new nutrition education exhibit sponsored by Dairy Council, Inc., opened this month at the Garden State Discovery Museum. Festivities included creative kitchen workshops and activities focusing on health and nutrition for children.

Building on the missions of both the Garden State Discovery Museum and Dairy Council, Chef Combo's Kitchen at the Discovery Diner provides hands-on learning opportunities for children. The exhibit offers activities that enable parents and children to interact and share discoveries about health, nutrition, meal planning and food preparation.

Inside Chef Combo's Kitchen, children learn about the five food groups.

Chef Combo came to the Discovery Museum for the grand opening.



Dairy Council's Chef Combo program, which includes a personable soft sculpture puppet, is available for area school teachers. The program targets children in preschool and kindergarten with innovative activities that promote tasting and appreciation of new foods that are fun for children and teachers alike. Current research shows that many children develop their food preferences around the ages of four and five.

"It is never too early to acquaint youngsters with new tastes and textures," explains Jan Stanton, registered dietitian and Executive Director of Dairy Council. "Expanding a child's willingness to try new foods can positively influence eating habits for a lifetime."

Located in Cherry Hill, New Jersey, the Garden State Discovery Museum is a hands-on celebration of imagination for children. Its exhibits are designed to challenge children's imagination and natural curiosity to learn about themselves and their environment.

Serving the New Jersey, Pennsylvania, and Delaware regions, Dairy Council, Inc. is a non-profit nutrition education organization located in Southampton, Pennsylvania. Dairy Council's programs for educators and health professionals promote consumer health and awareness through nutrition education.

4-H Red Rose Beef Club

The Lancaster 4-H Red Rose Beef Club held a meeting on April 3.

The first thing on the agenda was to decide on a fundraiser. The club decided on selling subs. The subs would cost $3 apiece. Every member would have to sell 10 or more subs. The club would make the subs on May 9 at 5:30 p.m.

Gary Dean, a leader, went over giving a project report and how to make a proper motion.

The next meeting is May 1 at the Abe and Grace Flory's Farm.

4-H Goat Club

The 4-H Goat Club meets at the Adams County extension office in Gettysburg on the second Thursday of each month, from 7 p.m.-9 p.m.

The goal of the club is to learn about goats, their breeds, habits, and ways to care for them.

Meetings begin with the pledges to the American and Club flags, secretary minutes from the last meeting, old and new business, a treasurer report, and presentations or work from the goat club book. The club ends the evening with a sharing and snack time.

For more information contact Maggie Hartzell at (717) 642-6712.

4-H Teens Invited To Regional Leadership Conference

A regional leadership conference is being planned for 3-H'ers age 13 to 16, reports Darlene Resh, 4-H program assistant.

The 4-H Leadership Conference will be held July 16 to 19 at Millersville University in Lancaster County. Four-H members from southeastern Pennsylvania, ranging from Franklin County to Northampton County and including Adams County, are invited to attend.

The conference will help teens develop leadership life skills, including communicating, working with groups, and making decisions. Conference planners hope participants will use these leadership skills when participating in 4-H clubs, school groups and other organizations. "This conference is designed to help 4-H'ers learn and apply skills they can use throughout their life," said Darlene Resh.

Teens will take part in a communications fair, where they can fine-tune their interviewing, writing, public speaking and other communications skills. Participants will also select hands-on workshops from topics involving teen issues, community service, and team building skills.

In addition to these educational activities, 4-H'ers will tour businesses and attractions, learn new recreation activities, and attend the "Phantom of the Opera" at the Dutch Apple Theatre. "4-H'ers who attend this conference will meet and interact with other teens from several different counties," Resh said. "Many long-lasting friendships have started at 4-H events."

Registrations are due May 28, and forms are available from the county extension office. Questions about this conference may be directed to Darlene Resh at (717) 334-6271 or (717) 624-4525.

Animal Cancer Topic At 4-H Meeting

Dr. Kim Cronin of Upper Darby was the featured speaker at the February meeting of the Delaware County 4-H Veterinary Science Club.

Cronin is a veterinary oncologist who teaches and does research at the University of Pennsylvania School of Veterinary Medicine in Philadelphia. She had one of her patients with her — Tillie, a black Lab, who had to have a hind leg amputated and is undergoing chemotherapy.

In explaining the work she does, Cronin stressed the importance of her research in discoveries that may help with the treatment of cancer in humans.

Cronin also spoke about the educational preparation necessary to become a veterinarian or to qualify for other veterinary science occupations. She showed slides from both the American Veterinary Association and the University of Pennsylvania.

For more information about membership, call the club leader, Dr. Ruth Yoder, (610) 356-8117. For information about other 4-H programs, call Delaware County Cooperative Extension of Penn State, (610) 690-2655 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays.

Tony The Farmer Cultivates Love For Soil

LORETTA GOLDEN
Cambria Co. Correspondent

JAMESTOWN (Cambria Co.) — Spring is in the air — finally! Mother Nature's long and challenging winter has made area farmers and gardeners "itchy" to again be outdoors working the soil. Eighty-four-year-old Anthony Farren Sr. of Jamestown, Portage Township, is no exception. "Tony the Farmer" as he's been affectionately called by friends, has been gardening since he was a child. He grew up with farming by helping his father with various chores and he thoroughly enjoys working with the soil.

More than 70 years of gardening experience have helped to develop Tony's "green thumb." Proof of this is evident in the 107 first, second, and third place ribbons which he has won at the Cambria County Fair during the past 20 years. Lillian, his daughter, encouraged him to enter the yearly competition and he's had prize-winners ever since.

Tony Sr. and his wife Anna of 56 years, are the parents of a daughter, Lillian Scarton, and son, Anthony Jr. The family also includes six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Tony Sr. has worked as a coal-miner, salesman, cabinetmaker, and steward of a local sportsman's club. Anna admits that she doesn't help too much with the garden — only when it is absolutely necessary. Her work begins with the cooking and preserving of the harvest.

Gardening is a family affair. Just as Anthony Sr. learned from his father, he has passed along his knowledge to his children and now to a new generation via his grandson, Anthony III. Even at 84, Tony Sr. plants and cares for his own large garden — he enjoys it because it keeps him "moving around."

Tony Jr. is his dad's "maintenance man" and he and his son Tony III each have their own small gardens. Grandson Tony has been growing his own garden for a number of years usually following grandpap's suggestions.

Tony Sr. says that he really has no tricks or special "trade secrets" for growing his prize-winning produce other than to do everything organically. He has gotten quite a few hints from popular gardening publicaitons and is quick to share his knowledge with anyone who asks.

"Organic" is the only type of gardening done by the Farrens. Their special preparations include planting "green manure" and then working it into the soil; using compost; and fertilizing with a little bit of organic fertilizer. Weed control is done with a rototiller and by hand. Tony III says that grandpap has taught him that "the only good weed-killer is your hand."

The Farrens feel that compost is essential to having a successful gardening year. Leaves are the main ingredient in their compost. They have a chopper which they use to grind all of their leaves before spreading over the garden. The chopped leaves rot much more quickly than if left whole.

Time is spent each fall gathering bags of leaves from various neighborhoods and they use approximately 700 bags of leaves per year as mulch. Tony Sr. chuckles when he relates that it has become increasingly difficult to obtain leaves — possibly because he has shared this hint with so many fellow gardeners.

The weather pattern these past few months has been very different from anything which Tony Sr. can ever remember. Philosophically, he comments "You have to live with whatever Mother Nature gives to you." At this time, onions are the only things which he has planted outside but insists that there is still plenty of time to get everything done.

Even though last summer was exceptionally dry in this area, Tony's garden yielded quite well because he has the capabilities and water source to irrigate whenever necessary. Any abundance from the garden is shared with family and also with the Sister Servants of the Sacred Heart, a local group of Cathollic nuns.

One of last year's very successful items was his garlic. From his garden, he harvested approximately 500 pounds and proudly prointed out that Tony III harvested 100 pounds. The health benefits of garlic which have been touted in recent years have created a demand for this crop and both Tonys were able to market most of what they grew.

With all of his gardening successes there have also been some things which just haven't worked out, but Tony Sr. hasn't been discouraged by these. Since his land was covered by flood waters in July 1977, he has not been able to grow cantaloupe. Prior to this time, customers placed orders at Christmas-time for his juicy home-grown melons. He's going to try cantaloupes again this year and has already prepared canopies to place over the plants.

A favorite activity is checking out the catalogs sent out by the seed companies during the winter months. Tony Sr. quips that during the past 70 years, he's probably grown every flower that's been pictured in the catalogs. Some were successful and some were not. In the case of vegetables, a few of his more recent prize-winners included: a 250-pound pumpkin, a 60-pound squash, and a 2½-pound sweet onion.

A number of years ago Tony Sr. had a tomato plant which grew to a length of 24 feet and yielded many pounds of tomatoes. He also planted a Mexican variety of corn which grew to a height of 15 feet. The catalog had stated that it was to grow to be 27 feet high but Tony felt that the short growing season in this area "stunted its growth."

When asked for advice to give young prospective gardeners, Tony says that the most important thing is to give the kids interesting things to grow. He points out that for children, sunflowers are good because kids have a natural fascination with watching things grow tall. Garlic is another good item because it is easy to grow.

If the children mulch their gardens, hand-weeding, a long detested chore, will be kept to a minimum. With the proper encouragement from adults, children will get much satisfaction from their gardening attempts whether it be with flowers or vegetables.

Tony III has received this encouragement from grandpap over the years and some of his fondest memories are those of being a preschooler and riding the tractor with his "Pap." At that time, grandpap was his care-giver and the two spent many hours working outside, gardening, and eating all the peanut butter and jelly sandwiches that grandpap made.

Currently a senior in high school, Tony III will soon be leaving home to attend trade school. The bond between grandfather and grandson is strong and young Tony admits that it will be a difficult transition being away from home. Tony III has a lot of respect for his grandpap and adds, "In addition to teaching me about gardening, he's probably taught me almost everything I've learned about life."

The mutual respect they have for each other is probably the most important thing they've ever cultivated.

Anthony Sr. with grandson Anthony III dumping leaves into the shredder. The Farrens are strong proponents of organic gardening and use the shredded leaves as mulch.

A sure sign of spring—fishermen, young and old, at Noel's Creek on the first day of trout season.

Coleman Collectors Meet

PARADISE (Lancaster Co.) — The fourth annual Coleman Collector's meet will be held Saturday, May 4, at the Paradise Sales Barn in Paradise. Coleman collector's from the United States, Canada, and Japan will display lamps, lanterns, gas irons, and other items made by Coleman. This year's meet is being organized by Leacock Coleman Center, Ronks, and will begin at 9 a.m.

On hand this year will be Coleman's Company's historian, Herb Ebendorf, and Coleman Museum curator, Jerry Koontz. Parts and accessories for many Coleman items will be available. Glass shades and globes will also be available for restoring old Coleman lamps.

Admission is $3, which includes admittance to the auction at 4 p.m.

For more information, call John Lapp, P.O. Box 307, Ronks, PA 17572, or call (717) 768-7174.

HEROES AMONG US

Webster defines a hero as someone who is "noted for courageous acts, especially one who has risked or sacrificed his life," a person who is "noted for special achievement in a particular field."

Unfortunately, these days, children mimic some people who may be less than respectable or those who practice behavior that conflicts with a family's belief system. Children's "heroes" may not be the ones their parents would wish for them.

There is no question that children, teens, and adults need heroes — people to admire and people to encourage them to do great things. (Adults often call these people mentors.) Because the media often highlights the more macabre side of life, we may need to deliberately invest time in order to expose our children to "healthy heroes."

One way is to search for contemporary "heroes among us." These people may lack the high profile of sports stars or media personalities, but they possess the character qualities of heroes and heroines. You can help youngsters find them. Scan newspapers and magazines for articles about heroic acts by ordinary individuals. These might be people who rescue others from a fire, donate bone marrow, stop a robbery, volunteer under difficult circumstances. They might be people who achieve "against all odds" a high school diploma, a science discovery, a grueling athletic endeavor.

Because this is an Olympic year, the media will be filled with inspiring stories about athletes and their families. I encourage you to not only learn about the winners, but about the others who are striving for personal goals.

Occasionally a person's decision will set him apart from his peers. Recently, I read an article about Houston Rockets' basketball superstar, Hakeem Olajuwon. An excellent basketball player, Hakeem has decided to do something that his fellow professional superstars have not done. He is choosing to endorse a line of footwear that is in the $35-$40 price range. WoW! Can you imagine how wonderful it will be for parents and kids to be able to buy high-tops that are endorsed by a professional star and not break their bank accounts? Olajuwon commented on the decision, "Parents must teach their kids a sense of value. Paying more isn't value. All shoes are basically the same. It's marketing that doubles and triples the price ... (Helping to teach kids values is) a duty for people like myself. It I can't be an example, who else will be an example for them?"

Hakeen Olajuwon, in this respect, is a modern-day hero.

A hero doesn't necessarily have to be "famous." Stretch your thinking. Who woul you most want to be like? Who do you respect? Who inspires you? Last month, a teen from my high school won the state wrestling championship. I was really proud that he chose to spend a day talking with students in the elementary schools in the area. According to a news report, his message to these kids was that they need to work hard at both school work and other activities like sports. He stressed never giving up on dreams. When asked about who his hero was, his answer was his cousin, who is living life fully in spite of being stricken with cancer.

Heroes are among us — the ones on the local news, national sports, and the ones down the street who may be known only to a few. Pointing these people out and talking about their character and the decisions they have made allows young children to learn. It also provides them with positive examples to refer to as they face tough choices.

Heroes can also be from another time or place. Encourage children to explore the biography section of the local library. Search for the heroic figures in science, music, exploration, and service from another century. Ask the question, "If they had not persevered in their work, what would our world be like today?" Then follow that with, "How can my efforts and choices today make a difference in my family, neighborhood, and nation?"

The more positive heroes our children see, the more likely they will be to make positive choices in their own lives.

Almost everyone's a farmer this time of year.

There's something about the spring breezes, greening fields and smell of freshly turned ground that stirs in most folks a yearning to reconnect with the earth.

Retailers responded to this seasonal urge after the first few warm afternoons. Lawn care equipment sprouted overnight garden centers and discount department stores. Market packs of purple and yellow pansies shivered outside on store porches during the lingering chilly nights early in the month.

Racks of tempting, colorful seed packs replaced displys of cold medicines, ice melter material, and fuzzy mittens. I made a special stop a few weeks back at a local building-hardware center for a sale on caladium bulbs and found some of the varieties nearly sold out.

For less dedicated garden types, cutting the lawn a few times is connection enough with the great outdoors, especially when the sun heats up, along with televised baseball games. Others savor every moment outdoors, tending to roses, feeding berry patches and perennial beds, raking twigs and leaves, and plotting plans for annual plantings.

And then there are those of us who weeks ago couldn't contain ourselves a moment longer and stuck a few onions in a bare, sun-splashed corner of a flower bed, just to have planted something ... where, despite their duel with late snows, the onions continue to poke slender tips of foliage higher with each passing warm afternoon. Soon, we can enjoy the first fruits of the harvest, pulling onions while on our way to cut rhubarb.

Having beaten us to the punch, though, will be those gourmet souls who dig and enjoy the spring tonic of fresh dandelion salad. Which isn't bad at all if the dandelion is very young and tender, and smothered in bacon and a sweet-sour dressing.

Meanwhile, the seeds that pestered us to plant them back in mid-February are living up to promise. One flat holds a thriving collection of buttercrunch lettuce seedlings, elbowing each other for growing space. Every seed grew and brought along a cousin, so there is enough potential lettuce production to feed the neighborhood and a pack of rabbits besides.

I've already pawned a clump of them off onto my mother and am keeping an eye out of other likely targets.

But it was touch-and-go for a while over the tomato babies.

Tomato plants aren't usually problem-prone. So it was a surprise one morning to check the three varieties growing in the greenhouse and find them stunted looking and covered with an infestation of a tiny bug that resembles a cross between a green aphid and a whitefly.

I promptly moved them outside onto the sheltered sunlight of the proch, hoping the chilly breeze might have a discouraging effect on the tiny pests. Pondering a solution, I recalled an "any bug spray" recipe hanging on the refrigerator.

It called for mixing a gallon of water with one tablespoon each of vegetable oil and dish detergent and a half teaspoon of eucalyptus oil. But while debating a trip to the pharmacy for the eucalyptus oil, I spied on the windowsill a can of pyrethrin-based, dairy fly spray. Every fall, The Farmer hauls a can of the stuff in from the barn to zap those slow, irritating house flies of chilly weather.

After a single, light misting with the pyrethrin, the tomatoes stand tall and healthy looking. They beg for transplanting, along with marigolds, the pansies, and perennial seedlings ready to be moved outside, and the geraniums needing nipped.

Our days are never long enough. And never more so than as April eases into May and the outdoors sings its siren song.

Maryland FFA Meats Contest

The Clear Spring FFA Chapter had the first place team at the Annual Maryland FFA Meats Judging Contest held on April 12 at Mt. Airy Locker Company in Mt. Airy, Md.

The Wagner Brothers of Mt. Airy Locker annually host the contest. The contest is sponsored by the Montgomery County Agriculture Center as a special project of the Maryland FFA Foundation.

MAKE IT Happen! FFA

The high scoring individual for the meats contest was Mark Schnebly, FFA member of the Clear Spring FFA Chapter. The Frederick FFA Chapter book second place in the contest.

Members of the Clear Spring 1st place team are Terrie Shank (adviser), David Smith, Mark Schnebly, Jason Basore, Matt Schnebly, Paul Kelly, Susie Ernst, and Wagner.

Members of the Frederick 2nd place team are Doug May, Monica Gilbert, Kim Wiles, Jennifer Cloves, Amanda Imhof, Sarah Carmack, and Wagner.

According to contest superintendent and official judge, Dr. John Buric, a retired member of the Animal Science Department at the University of Maryland, College Park, there were six teams registered with 31 members participating. The Wagner Brothers assisted Buric with the contest.

The contest consisted of a written test section including meat formulation problem solving, a section on retail meat cuts identification, a section on beef quality yield grading, and carcass pricing. Also included were four placing classes selected from carcass classes as well as retail and wholesale cuts of lamb, pork, and beef. Terrie Shank of the Clear Spring FFA was the teacher chairperson and supervised contest activities.

The winning teams in the meats contest from first through third were 1. Clear Spring FFA Chapter, 2. Frederick, and 3. Souoth Carroll.

The top scoring individuals in the contest and receiving gold medals for individual performance were 1. Mark Schnebly, 2. Robert Schmidt, and 3. Amanda Imhof.

Ida's Notebook

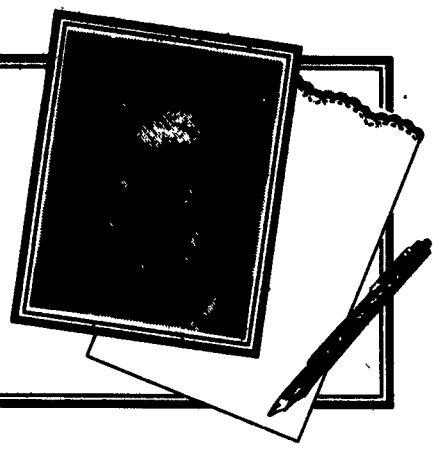
Ida Risser



Recently, our daughter and her family from Atlanta visited us. It was nice to have a five- and seven-year-old child living here for a week. They are so bouncy and enthusiastic compared to grandparents.

They went to church with us and also visited a sister in New Jersey. Their girls twisted pretzels in Lititz and also bought candy at the Candy Americana Museum and Outlet there. Another cousin got to go along to the Strasburg Railroad Museum. They took a tour of the 18th century Ephrata Cloisters, too.

My daughter and I had lunch at the "Selfhelp Shop" north of Ephrata. The menu for that week featured the American Indian. Their various crafts from all over the world have to be seen to realize the wide variety that they have. There is intricate handicrafts, pottery, baskets, jewelry, rugs, musical instruments and so much more. The craft sales help third-world artisans who have limited resources.

The week they spent in Lancaster County with us was a week of cold and rainy weather. Both girls can read and so books kept them busy some of the time. They also visited the folks and animals on the farm.

One day we took a tour of the Governor's residence in Harrisburg. We were told that during the 1972 flood the first floor had four feet of water and the Governor was taken out in a rowboat. But, now everything has been restored to its former elegance.

We also drove to Jack's Mountain in Snyder County and ate a big dinner on our way home. One stop that was especially interesting was the "Slifer House Museum" in Lewisburg. It is a mansion that was built 1860 to 1863. Eli Slifer was Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania during the Civil War. The house is owned by the United Methodist Continuing Care Services and is amply furnished.

We had cousins come to play in the basement and Judy made pizza from scratch when her brother's family came for a meal. So, you can see that it was a very busy time.

ATTENTION: Surprise your mother, wife, or grandmother by sending one of her recipes, which you enjoy. Include a few sentences about her and a picture if you have one. The article will appear in the May 11 issue, but we need the information by May 6. Please send immediately.

BREAD MACHINE CHOICES IN 1996

A bread machine is a combination of computer, mixer, dough kneader, proofing box, miniature oven and digital alarm clock. it is usually a white molded unit that will bake a loaf of bread in a vertical bread pan. You literally can dump the ingredients in the bread pan in the prescribed order for the specific machine, select the type loaf you are making, hit the button and come back 3 to 4 hours later to a beautifully browned loaf of bread.

You can lift the lid or look through the window in the lid to check on the progress of the bread and also to make minor adjustments in liquid or flour as the dough mixes. It is important that you measure the ingredients and add them to your machine in the correct order (some start with liquids, others end with liquids). Failure to do this may result in over-risen bread that collides with the lid of the machine and collapses or runs over. You need also to learn about different flour types. The gluten content of the flour determines the ability of the dough to stretch and rise. Temperature of the ingredients is important in some machines. Other machines will have a pre-heater built in to warm the liquids to exactly the right temperature for yeast to be activated. This will be important if you plan to use a delayed start.

Millions of these machines have been sold in recent years. We are into the second generation of bread machines in 1996 with many improvements having been made in recent years. There are a dozen or so manufacturers producing these machines. Most are Japanese but there are now several American-made machines on the market.

Why would you buy such a machine? There could be several reasons: you like breads with special whole grain ingredients which you can't buy; you like homemade bread but lack the time and inclination to bake from scratch several times a week; you can make bread cheaper than you can buy it - especially specialty breads; you enjoy creating tasty foods with the help of high tech equipment; you are allergic to wheat flour and must make your own breads with alternative ingredients; and others I probably haven't thought of.

You will have a number of decisions to make when choosing a bread machine. Which is best? Only you will know what your wants and needs will be. Whichever you select, you will need to spend time learning the special requirements of your machine. Some manufacturers provide a 1-800 telephone number for questions or problems. Flour and yeast manufacturers also have support for machine breadmakers. "Consumer Reports" carried an update report last fall with details of current choices.

FEATURE CHOICES

SIZE — You have a choice of small — making a 1-pound loaf, standard which makes a loaf about 1½ -2 pounds. This year there is a larger capacity machine making 2 to 3 pounds. One machine will make two at a time.

SHAPE — Round machines were the most common in the early days. Now the majority will produce a square upright loaf. Most will have the kneading blade baked into the bottom of the load which you will have to remove before cutting. The round pans usually have a hole in the bottom which fits over the shaft of the kneading blade. You must fill the pan when it is locked into the machine. The square removable pans with the balde shaft built into the pan can be removed and carried around the kitchen for filling — a really handy feature.

VIEWING WINDOW — This is found in higher priced models. It is not essential since you can lift the lid to check on the bread progress. It is not a good idea to open the lid when baking starts. Windows are great for those who want to "watch."

CRUST CONTROL — Allows you to fine tune the color and crispness of the crust. Without a control the machine turns out medium to light colored crusts.

RAPID-RISE PROGRAM — These machines will allow you to produce a loaf for bread in three hours instead of the usual four hours. This usually results in a shorter denser load — but not always.

KEEP WARM OR COOL DOWN FAN — If you are not around to take the bread out at the end of the baking cycle, the bread sweats and moisture condenses to make a soggy crust. The fan in some models will run to cool the bread to prevent this from happening. If you will want to put in a loaf of bread before you go to bed, this is a good feature. Some models will have a fan that will blow warm air to keep the bread warm for a few hours.

DELAYED START — Almost all machines with a clock will have the ability to have a delayed start. Some models have special devices to add the yeast at the last minute to prevent interaction of the ingredients while the machine waits to start.

WHOLE WHEAT PROGRAM — Bread made with 100 percent whole wheat flour will need to have a longer kneading time and rising time for successful bread. If this will be important to you, look for this feature. Breads made with about 50 percent whole wheat flour combined with regular flour will do fine on the regular white bread cycle.

RAISIN PROGRAM — Adding raisins and nuts at the beginning of the cycle will result in the raisins being minced. Some models have a beeper built in that will alert you to the best time to add the additional ingredients.

DOUGH OR MANUAL PROGRAM — The bread machine will do a fine job of kneading and proofing dough. It will then stop short before rising and baking to allow you to finish the bread in your favorite shape and bake in the oven. You can do pizza dough, specialty shapes. Some machines will have a programmable computer that will allow you to program the cycles to suit your various recipes.

FRENCH BREAD - QUICK BREAD - SWEET DOUGH - JAM — These extra or specialty cycles are designed with longer or shorter mixing or rising times. Ask to read the instruction book to see what the machine can do. The added cycles add to the cost of the machine and to the complexity.

COST OF MACHINE — This varies from somewhere in the vicinity of $100 to $500 depending on the machine size and number of features. Holiday promotions will often bring the prices down. Shop around.

HOW TO USE THE MACHINE/RECIPES — Check on the availability of 1-800 support and look at the instruction/recipe books that come with the machine. There are many machine bread books on the market which will give instructions for your type of machine. There are also books and magazine features on how to modify traditional recipes and change sizes of recipes for different size loaves.

SOUND COMPLICATED? The decision making sounds complicated, but the using of the machines is really not hard. You will soon adjust to your machine. Some folks will pick one or two cycles and never vary, other bakers will like to tinker with variations and try many types of breads or alternative uses for the machine. In this, as in other appliance choices, select the model that does what you want to do. The biggest, most complicated, most expensive machine may not be the best choice for you. They will all bake bread — and do a pretty good job.

SHORT COURSE ON FLOUR

Gluten is the protein in flour that will become a stretchy mass when mixed with water and kneaded. As the yeast produces gas in the rising process, the gluten strands trap the bubbles and the dough will rise. If the strength of the gluten is too great, the dough will not rise as high and/or it may collapse. The gluten is found in wheat and barley flour. It is not found in rye, triticale, buckwheat and it may be in very small amounts in blended flours with 7, 9 or more mixtures of grains and seeds.

All-Purpose flour is a blend or hard winter wheat and soft wheats and is useful in a wide variety of baking from bread to cake and pie dough. While you can use this in bread machines, the volume of the loaves will not be high. The nutrition label will show about 12 grams of protein per cup.

Pastry Flour - is made with soft winter wheat and a low level of gluten good for tender baking such as pastry. Has about 8 or 9 grams of protein per cup. Do not use this for bread!! Flour from grain raised in the northeast is of this type. Local wheat is not very good for bread but it works very well for pastry and biscuits.

Whole Wheat Flour will have gluten but because it contains all of the parts of the grain, the bran parts make the dough heavier and with sharper particles. You can make bread with 100 percent whole wheat flour but it will not rise as high and it will take longer to get to maximum volume. You will have to work harder in the kneading. Some people mix whole wheat flour with bread flour for lighter texture, high whole wheat loaves.

Bread flour - is made with all hard winter wheat and it has higher levels of gluten, allowing for more kneading, and higher volume. Several millers package bread flour or flour labeled for machine bread use. This can be mixed with flours having little or no gluten of their own. The nutrition label will tell you this has about 16 grams of protein per cup.

Vital Gluten - is the pure gluten that has been extracted from the starch in the flour and can be used as an additive in bread made with other low/no gluten grain flours at the rate of 1 tablespoon per cup of flour. Usually available from specialty millers or health food stores. Note vital gluten is not the same as gluten flour.

WHAT ABOUT THOSE ALLERGIC TO WHEAT?

Persons allergic to gluten can use a bread machine to make bread. There are some pre-prepared mixes that work well in the machine and there are also recipes for breads in the machine using special ingredients. The breads made without wheat flour are not as high in volume but they are acceptable to most people suffering with this allergy and can be a wonderful and money-saving solution to a problem for them. The book "Easy Breadmaking for Special Diets" by Nicky Dumke has bread

Hans Herr At Leadership Conference

Four members of Lancaster Mennonite High School's Hans Herr Chapter of the FFA attended the State Legislative Leadership Conference in Harrisburg recently.

They are juniors Phil Eby, Steve Harnish, Darren Martin, and Keith Weaver. Teacher and FFA adviser Lem Metzler also attended.

The conference is sponsored by the Pennsylvania FFA Association, which is part of the National FFA Organization.

Conference highlights included a legislative breakfast where FFA members spent time socializing with state senators and representatives. They also visited the capitol, Milton Hershey School, the Hershey Zoo, and the Hershey Chocolate Factory. In addition, FFA members had a chance to participate in a legislative simulation during which they ran a mock session of the legislative process using current legislative bills.

You ask You answer

This column is for readers who have questions but don't know whom to ask for answers.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible. Please include your phone number because we sometimes need to contact the person to clarify details. We will not publish your phone number unless you request it.

FREE-FLOWERING GERANIUMS

If you don't consider yourself an expert gardener and would like to plant something fairly easy, go for geraniums. Although they are not winter-hardy, geraniums can provide masses of color around the home from May to October.

Easygoing, vigorous and colorful, geraniums make good ground covers even in partial shade. Geraniums flower fresh freely in flower beds, hanging baskets, and patio containers.

Look for geraniums with bright colors, ease of growing, adapability, and come in many shapes and sizes. Along with impatiens, geraniums are the two biggest sellers at local garden centers.

Several types of geraniums are available. They include zonal, scented-leaf, ivy leaf, and regal geranium. The Zonal is the most common type used as a bedding plant in flower beds and containers.

Look for healthy, vigorous plants from cuttings or hybrids seed geraniums. Seed geraniums are available in a wide color range and provide excellent outdoor performance as bedding plants.

Scented-leaf geraniums are grown mainly for their varied fragrances and the exotic shapes of their leaves. For example, a scented geranium is often grown as a pot plant for your home and patio. It has fragrant foliage that also can be used in sachets and potpourri. The rose geraniums grow shrubby to three foot and have multiple varieties like "Gray Lady Plymouth" which was silver gray foliage. Many scented geraniums are not winter hardy. The peppermint geraniums grows 1 to 2 foot tall and has a strong mint scent. It is used to flavor jams and jellies.

Ivy-leaved geraniums are characterized by their trailing, vine-like growth habits. They are commonly grown in hanging baskets. They have shiny, spicy leaves.

Martha Washington or Regal geraniums have huge multi-colored blooms and attractive foliage and flowers. Although expensive, they have a reputation to be difficult to grow. Many have chocolate, mauve, purple or other color flowers.

Most soils in southeast Pennsylvania require large amounts of organic matter to make them suitable for geraniums. Plant only in well-drained soil. Leafmold, compost, and peat moss are good sources of organic matter. Also, when preparing the beds, incorporate two to four pounds of 8-8-8 fertilizer for each 100 square feet of area.

Don't plant too early. Geraniums should not be planted before all danger of frost has passed by about May 5 in southeast Pennsylvania.

Most varieties will do best in full sun. Limited shade won't do too much damage, but flowering may be reduced. They also required large amounts of water. So, be ready to provide it if the rainfall isn't sufficient.

Around the first of August, you may want to add about two to three pounds of 8-8-8 ferrtilizer per 100 square feet of flower bed. Be careful not to get any on the leaves.

For a list of geraniums performing well in your area, contact the extension office. For a list of zonal and ivy-leaved geraniums that performed well in an outdoor variety trial at the Landisville (Lancaster County) Research Laboratory, contact Dauphin County Extension Agent Alan Michale at (717) 921-8803. Price is $6.

Penn Yan FFA Wins District Contests

Recently, eight members from the Penn Yan Chapter of FFA traveled to SCT Boces in Elmira, N.Y. to participate in District 8 FFA contests. The members competed in four different contests and did an outstanding job in them.

Natalie Jensen, a freshman, competed in the prepared public speaking. She had to prepare a five to seven minute speech on the topic of her choice, recite it in front of three judges, and answer various questions. Her topic was mastitis, which is a costly disease among cattle. Natalie took second place.

Emily Lilyea, also a freshman, competed in the junior creed speaking contest. She had to memorize a five-paragraph tribute to agriculture, recite it in front of three judges, and answer various questions. Emily took first place.

Marcy Quackenbush, a junior, competed in the job employment interview contest. She had to write a resume, write a letter of application, fill out a job application form, and go to an interview. She took first place.

The Ag Forum Team, which consisted of Time Christianson, Mike Lilyea, Andrew Miller, Aaron Vaughan, and Steve Vaughan, also competed. The Ag Forum Team was given a topic in which they had 30 minutes to prepare a 10 to 15-minute conversation. The Ag Forum Team also took first.

All the first place winners from each contest, traveled to Cuba-Rushford to compete in sub-state level.

Marcy Quackenbuch, who competed in the job employment interview contest, took third place, as did the Ag Forum Team.

Emily Lilyea, who competed in the junior creed speaking contest, took first place. Emily will go on to compete against two other FFA members from across New York State in the creed speaking contest at the New York State FFA Convention in May. John Kriese, Penn Yan FFA adviser, said, "Emily is the first FFA member that I have had to ever go to the state level for the creed speaking contest. I am very delighted for Emily. She has come a long way."

having to take care of the birds raised in the program.

As a result of the 4-H embryology program, elementary school students learn also about some of the benefits of being in a 4-H program.

"Every time I candle those eggs and those kids get to see that embryo in there developing. . . . I'm just like one of the kids. And every time, it's just . . . a miracle. It's just a miracle, watching that.

"The quality of the kids in the 4-H program is just fantastic, and you have to give the credit for that to the leaders working with the kids," she said.

Berks County

"I'm known countywide as the Chicken Lady," said Beth L. Hartman, part-time 4-H program assistant at the Berks County office.

Like many 4-H assistants, Beth is in charge of the 4-H embryology project for county schools. What makes her program unique is the way she presents it.

When she enters a classroom to provide a candling demonstration, Beth creates what she calls an "egg huddle."

"I candle with the whole class sitting together on the floor with the overhead projector," she said. "We can see everything. It brings it all together for the class."

In one third grade class in the fall, one student was alarmed by the embryo visible from the light. According to Beth, one of the third graders said, "Oh, this is awful, it's moving in there!

"For some reason," said Beth, "that bothered them. But one of the students said, 'You did that too, you know.' They relate it back to their own personal experiences. I think sometimes what's really neat is when they'll start talking about their families and mention taht their mom is pregnant. You know, it's very much a human experience that they can relate to."

The schoolyear-long program runs in the spring and fall. Most of the activity occurs in the spring.

According to Deb Dietrich, 4-H extension agent, teachers are invited to the extension office for training. In addition, Beth spends time at the school after fertile chicken eggs are delivered helping to train the instructors as well as present the classroom candling demonstrations.

The focus of the 4-H embryology program is on the third, fourth, fifth, and sixth grades. "Yes, it's entirely different when you're teaching a third grade class compared to fifth or sixth grade — the materials are more scientific. I try to make them more scientific and ask for them to know more things. It's just a different student — they change a lot from the time they're in third grade to the time they're in sixth."

Beth, who has conducted the in-school demonstrations for the past three years, makes four visits to each classroom. Each presentation lasts 45 minuts to an hour.

The assistant feels challenged to provide the students with so much information in such short time.

'If there's a fire in the school, how do we get the chicks out?'

Also, in the eight four-week sessions, there are other materials that Beth presents to the classes.

Along with the embryology instruction, a unique item she presents is an "agribusiness" or economics section to the class. This includes commodity identification. In one case, she asks a student what kind of breakfast he or she has had and works to "trace back" the origins of that food.

Like many 4-H agents and assistants, Beth has had to deal with questions presented by an increasingly ignorant public about where food comes from and issues of food safety. Recently, a school aid saw the candling demonstration and said to Beth that she would never eat eggs again.

While indicating that eggs in the grocery are infertile, Beth noted, "Well, automatically, my heart goes thump, thump, because that's the one thing I don't want to teach them. So I said, Oh, no, don't say that, because you know, there's so much nutritional value in an egg, that you should never not include it in your diet."

Many 4-H agents know that there is a lot of misinformation in the press. Many teachers and even parents are reading stories that have an anti-agriculture bias and "don't always have the right information," said Beth. "They're reading what's in the newspaper and they probably don't have all the facts."

According to Dietrich, Berks County 4-H spends a great deal of time educating teachers about animal welfare issues and providing the right materials to get the proper message across in the schools.

"Beth spends a good bit of time explaining to the kids, too, the difference between fertile and infertile — and what you find in the grocery store is always infertile," said Deb.

Another big program under way in Berks County schools from now until the first week of June is the Meet the Plants program. Using horticulture materials and instruction from Master Gardeners in the county, about 29 schools per year and 2,167 students are exposed to the "hows and whys" of growing plants.

According to Beth, Master Gardeners accumulate volunteer instruction credits by teaching third, fourth, and fifth graders about the importance of learning how to grow flowers and vegetables.

This past week, Master Gardener instructors visited the fourth grade classes at Conrad Weiser East. A critical task, according to Beth, is "matching the right school with the right Master Gardener.

"We give the Master Gardeners guidelines and the rest is up to them."

Each class is provided with one pack of flower and another pack of vegetable seeds. The classes learn how to germinate and care for the plants.

In the schools, in addition to the customary tomato and other vegetables, students in recent years have learned to grow and taste bean sprouts and sprouted lentils.

Even though some districts are becoming more strict about allowing teachers to attend training courses at the extension office, the program is having an impact on county schools.

The embryology program is a "true science project," said Dietrich. "We try to be really sensitive and make sure the kids we are working with are at a level in the science work that they can appreciate all the science that's involved, not just how interesting it is to watch chicks hatch."

"I tell the kids that everything they eat starts on a farm somewhere, and they don't realize that," said Beth. "Even a banana starts on a plantation, and that's a farm."

Dietrich spoke about some additional programs that foster learning by 4-H in the schools.

Both are afterschool programs. One is the Penn State Educational Partnership Program, or PEPP, which involves the 4-H Horseless Horse program. The program, which includes instruction in horse care, recently featured some units of the Reading Mounted Police. Soon, some of the members will attend a trail riding program at Camp Conrad Weiser. About 30 kids, from sixth to eighth grade, are involved in the program, and 25 have completed project books.

Another is the 4-H pet project, which involves care for small animals after school.

Dietrich is working on developing a program to introduce 4-H into some the urban organizations, such as the YMCA and YWCA, churches, and elsewhere. In all, there are more than 4,000 4-H members in the county and about 262 leaders.

"We really do pride ourselves, I think, in trying to give them a really quality program," said Deb.

"It takes a whole village to raise a child."

Public Speaking Contest

The 32nd annual Somerset County 4-H Public Speaking Contest was conducted Monday evening, April 8, at Somerset Area Senior High School.

Sixty members participated in the event — 33 in the junior division and 27 in the senior division.

Junior division finalists were Vincent Barbera, Cassie Hay, Malinda Kirk, Damian Melvin, Elise Melvin, Lauren Melvin, Nicole Svonavec, and Joseph Zachar.

Senior division finalists were Karen Rhoads, daughter of Allen and Judy Rhoads, Stoystown, and Laura Miller, daughter of Butch and Bonnie Miller, Somerset. Other senior division finalists were Christy Croner, Brandon Hillegas, Lauren Lynch, April Miller, Erica Stair, Casey Svonavec, and Delaine Swearman. They will compete at the State 4-H Days contest at Penn State on August 6-8.

Judges for the evening's competition included Dave Antram, Suzanne Bell, Barb Berkley, Doug Huston, Betsy Ludy, Eric Ludy, Barb Lynch, and Carolyn Rascona.

Junior leaders who served as room chairmen were Sue Barbera, Michelle McKinley, Ethan Miller, Lee Sines, Heidi Svonavec, Lucas Svonavec, Laura Waltermire, and Val Zborovancik.

The event was sponsored by the Somerset County 4-H Development Fund, Inc., Somerset County Farm Bureau, and the Somerset County Cooperative Extension Service.

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 18

The April meeting of Society 18 was held at the home of Martha Stoner. She related interesting facts of a few of the items she has collected.

Twenty-two members answered roll call by naming a foreign country they would like to visit. A few told why they wished to go there.

Elizabeth Durn had unusual devotions.

The program speaker was Tremnath Dick, born in India. He was given away as his family's religious belief was that he was responsible for his mother's death and must be removed from the family's prescence. A nearby mission raised him. He worked in various health and welfare programs and now recruits craft persons for Self Help for the Mennonite Central Committee.

The Ladies of the Society give one day of volunteer work yearly preparing the items for the gift shop.

President Roberta Shepherdson presented a rose and a heart pin to Martha reaching her 80th birthday and dismissed the meeting after singing the theme song.

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Society of Farm Women 8 met on April 10 at the home of Arlene Witman in Mount Joy. Helen Wivell gave devotions and hostesses were Mildred Hirst, Evelyn Russell, and Arlene Witman.

Senator Noah Wenger was guest speaker. He spoke about his introduction into politics and legislative concerns at the present time.

The May 14 meeting will be a trip to Herr's Snack Plant and Longwood Gardens.

Berks Society 6

Berks County Farm Women Group 6 met at the home of Janel Schlegel in March. Nan Meyer from the American Cancer Society presented a video and a talk on breast cancer, stressing the importance of early detection. Dorothy Wagner gave highlights of her recent trip to Germany.

Plans are being finalized for the Spring Rally at Seven Springs on May 28. Five members are planning on attending. In April, members will help with bingo at Berks Heim. Prizes will be contributed by members. A donation was sent to the Dairy Princess program, which will be held May 18 at the Ag Center.

The next meeting will be at the home of Barbara Kelchner.

Lebanon Society 20

The April meeting of the Lebanon Farm Women Society 20 met at the Ono Fire Hall. Nine members from Group 2 and three county officers were guests.

The program, "Beyond your Backyard," featured slides of birds and wildflowers presented by Richard and Karen Light.

Games and delicious refreshments concluded the evening.

The May meeting will be held at Marion Maulfairs. The topic will be herbs.

Berks Society 3

Berks Society 3 of Farm Women met at the home of Lillian Bucks, Boyertown. The speaker talked about flowers, gardening, and different kinds of bugs and insects found in flower beds and gardens. The next meeting is at the home of Leona Stauffer, Boyertown.

Lebanon Society 21

The Lebanon Farm Womem Society #21 met at the home of Ruth Hostetter co-hosted by Carolyn Hostetter on April 15. Seven members answered roll call by completing the statement, "Happiness is . . . .

An Easter egg hunt was held. Several eggs contained scripture verses for reading. Members crafted Easter bunnies and were served tasty Easter treats.

Upcoming county events were discussed and a report was given on the shopping trip to Hershey Outlet Mall.

Special heirlooms is the program topic for May.

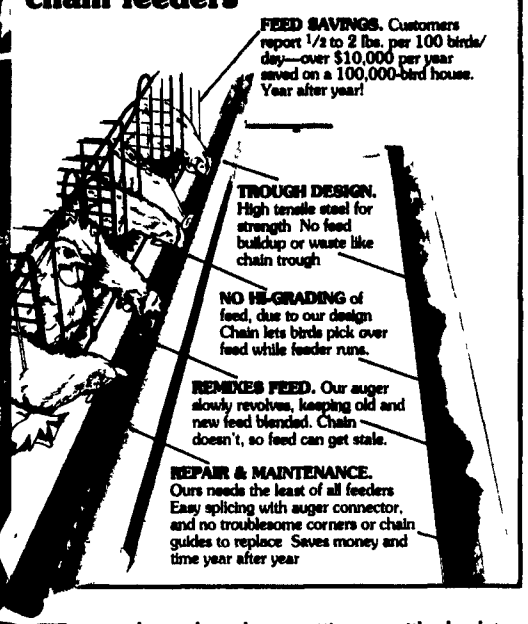
CHORE-TIME Ultraflo® feeders

More Than 275 Ultraflo® Systems Have Been Sold In The Northeast Since 1985 - That's Over 22 Million Birds!

Over 80% of the nation's top egg producers have already switched to Chore-Time cages with ULTRAFLO® Feeders!*

Here are the facts why ULTRAFLO® outperforms chain feeders



FEED SAVINGS. Customers report 1/2 to 2 lbs. per 100 birds/day—over $10,000 per year saved on a 100,000-bird house. Year after year!
TROUGH DESIGN. High tensile steel for strength No feed buildup or waste like chain trough
NO HI-GRADING of feed, due to our design Chain lets birds pick over feed while feeder runs.
REMIXES FEED. Our auger slowly revolves, keeping old and new feed blended. Chain doesn't, so feed can get stale.
REPAIR & MAINTENANCE. Ours needs the least of all feeders Easy splicing with auger connector, and no troublesome corners or chain guides to replace Saves money and time year after year

SIMPLE OPERATION. "Push-Pull Power Units with low HP motor are located along the feeder line as needed Have hardened steel gears for trouble-free life Microprocessor control lets you program feeding time to the second

EASY AUGER CONNECTOR. Allows fast and simple installation, also quick and easy repair of auger if ever necessary Auger and trough are both warranted 5 full years Chain feeders are not

Egg producers have been putting up with obsolete chain feeders far too long. Now there's a better way: Chore-Time's proven ULTRAFLO Cage Feeding System. Since introduction, more than 80% of the top 54 egg producers* have gone to ULTRAFLO. A lot of smaller ones have too.

They've all looked at the advantages and chosen ULTRAFLO. That's because it makes them more profitable. Total egg production and egg size—these are the best benefits of our complete feeding system.

Why not check out the facts for yourself? Contact us now—or ask any producer who owns ULTRAFLO.

Because the only negative comments about our feeding system come from our competition—not from our customers.

10th Annual Pennsylvania Fair

So you've always wanted the chance to display your champion swine, feed a baby calf, and win prizes for your outrageous cake decorating flair, creative wreath decorating skills, or your nimble fingers' work on a quilt?

Well, you can do it all, plus get a head start on summer with some down-home family fun at The Pennsylvania Fair, May 16-27 at Philadelphia Park in Bansalem.

Celebrating its 10th Anniversary year, The Pennsylvania Fair is expected to draw more than 425,000 visitors and hundreds of competitors.

Exhibitors will be able to enter more than 15 agriculture contests and participate in 10 days of friendly competition, including special baking contests, crafts, various art forms, fruits, nuts and berries, vegetables, horticulture, Christmas trees, and needlecraft. An array of ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded in each class for 1st, 2nd and 3rd places with special blue ribbon winners honored with best of show. The 1996 Official Exhibitor's Guide lists all general rules, breakdowns of each class, and an official registration form. To obtain a copy, call (610) 767-5026.

An addition to the traditional agriculture contests, a swine division, has been added. The hog show will be held May 27 at 1 p.m. All entries for this category must be owned by the exhibitor at least 30 days prior to the fair and must be marked with an ear tag, ear notch, or tattoo. Some of the breeds being shown are the Berkshire, Poland China, and Yorkshire. The swine competition is divided into female/male classes and group class judging. The top prize for this competition is $250.

A contest that promises to jolt your sweet tooth is the Pennsylvania Fair's 10th Anniversary Decorated Cake Contest on May 18 at 2 p.m. Using the Pennsylvania Fair's 10th Anniversary theme, entrants will be judged by celebrated pastry chefs from across the region on appearance and decoration only, with point values assigned to general appearance, difficulty of project, artistic value, color combination, originality and suitability of design. Participants will gain free entrance to the fair with their decorated cake and are able to win up to $500.

For more information on The Pennsylvania Fair and its agriculture contests, please call Nina Zucker Associates or Beverly Gruber at The Fair Office, (610) 767-5026.

Organic Country Fair

"Celebrating Local Organic Agriculture" will be the theme of this year's annual Organic Country Fair sponsored by the Northeast Organic Farming Association of New Jersey.

Regional organic farmers and their products will be highlighted at the event, in Pennington, N.J. on September 21, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., rain or shine. Cost of admission is $5 for adults, $3 for NOFA-NJ members and $2 for children and seniors.

Fairgoers will enjoy a variety of attractions, including an organic farmers market, educational workshops, and organic farm tours. Demonstrations will feature food preparation, homebrewing, making herbal salves, starting seedlings and cuttings, square foot gardening, pickling, composting, and crafts. Handmade crafts and organically prepared food will be available for sale.

Featured speakers include Anthony Rodale, vice president of the Rodale Institute; Gary Hirshberg, president/CEO of the Stonyfield Farm in New Hampshire; and Mel Bartholomew, author of "Square Food Gardening."

Children's activities will include hands-on demonstrations and activities, a cooking demonstration by a local executive chef, animals to see ant touch, crafts, ox cart rides, special guests, and surprises.

For additional information, call NOFA-NJ at (609) 730-9752 or 737-6848.

Program Assistants At Buckeye Conference

GETTYSBURG (Adams Co.) — Jessica Dayhoff, Gettysburg; Richard Rudolph, New Oxford; and Darlene Resh, 4-H extension program assistant participated in the Buckeye Leadership Conference held at Recreation Unlimited in Ashley, Ohio.

The conference is an experiential workshop which offers participants the opportunities to develop skills and confidence in the use of leadership and recreation in various settings.

Buckeye Leadership Workshop (BLW) gave each participant the opportunity to develop in-depth skills in two workshop areas, participate and help facilitate small group discussion, share special skills/hobbies/ideas and join with the entire workshop in creating and presenting evening programs.

BLW involved 4-H teens, 4-H volunteer leaders, 4-H professionals, health care professionals, recreation therapists, psychologists, and recreation directors from five different states.

Jessica, Richard, and Darlene participated in different educational workshops during the five-day conference, learning life skills, communication, team building skills and decision making skills that can be utilized in 4-H and other groups. The three of them will utilize the skills they learned at the Buckeye Leadership Workshop at 4-H Teen Leader Weekend, 4-H Overnight Camp, 4-H Day Camp and at 4-H Club meetings over the next few months.

FOREST HEALTH OUTLOOK 1996 IN BRADFORD AND SULLIVAN COUNTIES

In the past couple of years, the northern tier counties of Pennsylvania have suffered some serious defoliation by a number of native insects in scattered locations. These insects included elm spanworm, forest tent caterpillar, eastern tent caterpillar, and fall cankerworm.

During the summer of 1994, there was some serious mortality of defoliated sugar maple due to a combination of insect and disease problems.

Generally, after a tree has been defoliated by insects or certain diseases, a tree will refoliate, that is, sprout new leaves. This is one reason why a single defoliation episode in a season will not generally lead to mortality.

In 1994, numerous sugar maples were defoliated by forest tent caterpillar and elm spanworm.

The summer of 1994 was an extremely wet summer. Following insect defoliation, the trees began to form new buds and set out new leaves. As the leaves began to expand, an anthracnose fungus infected the leaves and killed them again.

Anthracnose fungi are present just about every spring, but tend to disappear as the summer gets warmer and drier. In 1994, the fungus did not disappear because of the extremely wet and cool summer. In some cases, trees tried to put out three and even four sets of new leaves. These leaves were killed back again and again by the fungus. As a result, many trees that suffered repeated defoliation were killed. Some areas of Bradford County suffered some sugar maple mortality. Sullivan County suffered serious tree mortality. It has been estimated by some that up to 50 percent of the sugar maple in Sullivan County were killed by insect-anthracnose defoliation.

It appears that in many areas of the northern tier, the native insect population is on the decline. Experts from the Pennsylvania Bureau of Forestry believe that Sullivan County has seen the worst of this defoliation and anticipate less of a problem this summer.

However, it appears that Bradford County is in for another year of insect problems. Fall cankerworm and forest tent caterpillar could be a serious problem in areas of the county.

One other piece of information concerns the gypsy moth. There have been reports, especially in the southern part of Bradford County, of an increase in the amount of gypsy moth egg masses. They will likely not be a problem this year, but early indications show that they are building population again. It has been about five years since the last big problem with gypsy moth.

Landowners should pay particular close attention to their woods. Foresters recommend that landowners should walk their woods either alone or with a professional forester and attempt to locate forest tent caterpillar egg masses in their trees, especially in sugar maple. This may be a little challenging because many egg masses are located on twigs high in the crown. You should also be alert to gypsy moth egg masses in your woods as well.

For more information on forest tent caterpillar and fall cankerworm, contact the local Bureau of Forestry office or county extension office.

Yeo Farms Holds Annual Sale

LOWELLVILLE, OHIO — Buyers from eastern Ohio and central and western Pennsylvania bid at Yeo Farms' ninth annual Club Lamb Sale at the farm on Saturday, April 20.

Tim Basich of Leetonia, Ohio successfully bid for the highest-priced lamb. Other top selling lambs were purchased by A.F. Dussell Jr., of Kent, Ohio; Ben Russell, Waterford, Pa.; and Bob Snyder and Michael O'Neill, both of Titusville, Pa. In all, 25 lambs were sold at the auction.

Four buyers at the sale were individuals who had won a championship or a reserve championship at their county fair with lambs purchased at last year's Yeo Farms Lamb Sale. They were Jeremy O'Neill of Titusville, Pa.; Ben Russell of Waterford, Pa.; and Joseph Shannon and Stephanie Shenigo, both of Kent, Ohio.

The Lawrence County Baby Beef 4-H Club had the snack bar and Larry Garner Auctioneers of Carrolton, Ohio, provided the auctioneer for the event.

Eby Announces Appointments

BLUE BALL (Lancaster Co.) — M.H. Eby, Inc. announces the following promotions and appointments of sales department personnel:

• Travis Eby has been promoted to sales and marketing manager, central region. He will direct all marketing activities at the company's Ohio division in West Jefferson. In addition, he will coordinate the dealer development program for Eby-manufactured products throughout the Midwest and Great Lakes states.

Previously, Eby was inside sales representative at the Ohio division and has served as marketing coordinator at company headquarters in Pennsylvania. He received a bachelor's degree in communications and business from Otterbein College.

• Erin Varley has been appointed inside sales representative at the Ohio division with responsibility for in-house sales of Eby truck body products. He succeeds Kevin Wood, who has been named manager of service and warranty at the Ohio location.

Varley is a graduate of Otterbine College. Prior to joining M.H. Eby, he taught high school in Mt. Guilead, Ohio.

• Brad Plank has been promoted to eastern regional sales manager at the company's corporate office in Blue Ball. He has been employed by M.H. Eby, Inc. for two years as factory sales representative. In his new position, he will manage all Pennsylvania plant's sales to dealers in the eastern United States.

Plank's background includes 15 years of experience in the truck trailer industry, with the 11 years in retail sales of bulk commodity and livestock equipment. He received a bachelor's degree from Bryan College.

Service Training Sessions Held

BATAVIA, N.Y. — Cummings & Bricker, Inc. Batavia, N.Y. and Carlisle, Pa. recently sponsored several dealer service training sessions on Deutz-Fahr round balers. The meetings were conducted by Lyle Switzer, North American product manager for Greenland International, owner of Vicon Farm Machinery, Deutz-Fahr Hay Equipment, and PZ Equipment. Subjects covered all aspects of the Deutz-Fahr balers, including operations and adjustments.

Company Involved In Employee Buyout

MYERSTOWN (Lebanon Co.) — Timothy L. Mason, chief financial officer of Farmer Boy Ag, Inc., together with other key employees and investors, have acquired Farmer Boy Ag, Inc. from Carolina Agri-Systems, Inc., an affiliate of The GSI Group, Inc. Farmer Boy Ag, Inc. is a corporation trading nationally and internationally in the retailing and building of turnkey swine and poultry production facilities and equipment.

The announcement of the purchase was made jointly by Mr. Mason and J. Craig Sloan, chief executive officer of The GSI Group. Under the agreement, the terms of which were not disclosed, Mason and other key employees and investors acquired 100 percent of the outstanding shares of Farmer Boy Ag from Carolina Agri-Systems. Timothy L. Mason has assumed the position of president and chief executive officer of Farmer Boy Ag, Inc.

In connection with the purchase, Farmer Boy Ag Systems, Inc., a newly formed company, acquired the exclusive rights to the northeast region of operations from Farmer Boy Ag, Inc. This new company is owned by former managers of Farmer Boy Ag, Dale Martin, Dean Weaver, and Leonard Martin. As agreed, Farmer Boy Ag will continue to market turnkey swine and poultry facilities in the west, midwest, and southeast regions of the United States. Farmer Boy Ag Systems will market facilities in the eastern United States and conduct retail equipment sales nationally.

Florsheim Announces Licensing Arrangement

CHICAGO, Ill. — The Florsheim Shoe Company (NASDAQ:FLSC) announced the signing of a worldwide licensing agreement with Deere & Company of Moline, Ill. to manufacture and market premium quality outdoor footwear and work boots under the well-known John Deere name.

"This is a great partnership marrying Florsheim's 104 years of leadership in quality and comfortable footwear with John Deere's 158-year heritage as the leader and most recognized name in farm equipment," said Charles J. Campbell, chairman, president and chief executive officer of Florsheim.

By licensing the John Deere name, Florsheim will broaden its distribution in the rapidly expanding work boot market which, according to Footwear Market Insights, exceeds $2 billion in annual retail sales. The expansion into new footwear products is part of Florsheim's recently announced change in strategic direction to significantly grow the business through the introduction of new product ideas. Earlier this year, Florsheim announced its entry into the golf shoe market.

New Holland Announces Disc Mowers

NEW HOLLAND (Lancaster Co.) — Three new disc type mowers from New Holland share a new, cost-cutting independent modular cutterbar design.

Each cutting disc has its own modular drive to eliminate catastrophic cutterbar damage if an unyielding obstruction is encountered in the crop. Disc modules are individually repairable or replaceable.

The new mowers include the 5-disc, 6 foot 8 inch cut Model 615; the 6-disc Model 616 which cuts 7 foot 10 inch; and the 7-disc Model 617 which cuts a 9 foot 2 inch swath. All are three-point Category II hitched units. Disc speed is 3000 RPM.

These new mowers offer superior cutting and easier servicing with lower maintenance, said New Holland product management. The safety canopy support is not connected to the outboard end of the cutterbar. This provides improved, no-tangle cutting in hairy vetch and other viney or lodged crops. Also, short, thin crops are cut with less streaking. Small diameter, steep profile discs provide a lift effect for a fluffier, faster curing swath.

The new mowers offer fast cutting in any forage crop in a wide range of difficult and high-yield conditions.

Northrup King Names President

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Seed industry veteran Ed Shonsey assumed the positions of president/CEO of Northrup King Co.

The move completes a transition in management, announced in August, between Kent Schulze, then Northrup King president/CEO, and Shonsey.

Shonsey, an international agribusiness consultant, was formerly senior vice president responsible for international operations at Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Des Moines, Iowa. Shonsey joined Pioneer in 1983, and also held the posts of chief financial officer, vice president of administration, and director of human resources.

After leaving Pioneer, Shonsey was president of Global Technology Resources Institute, an international consulting firm in Portland, Ore. He earned a bachelor's degree from Marquette University and an MBA from Creighton University.

Farm Credit To Issue Patronage Checks

YORK (York Co.) — In April, member-borrowers of York Farm Credit will receive patronage refund distributions and checks from 1995's earnings, it was announced by Jay V. Rush, president.

The patronage refund for borrowers of York Farm Credit will total more than $2 million. Borrowers will receive, on average, a rebate of 10 percent of the interest Farm Credit earned on their loans in 1995. Twenty-five percent, or $500,000, of the total refund will be paid in cash. The balance will be placed in allocated surplus in the names of individual member-borrowers.

"York Farm Credit had another successful year in 1995, and we are pleased to be able to share our success with our borrowers," said Lester E. Martin, chairman of the York Farm Credit board and farmer from Chambersburg. "This is the sixth consecutive year we've distributed a patronage refund. Since 1990, York Farm Credit has paid a total of $2.6 million to its member-borrowers through cash patronage refunds and surplus revolvements."

Dealers Appointed

FREDERICK, Md. — Ag-Bag International this week announced the appointment of two new dealers.

They are Interstate Dairy Equipment of Thurmont, Md. and Potomac Valley Supply of Hagerstown, Md.

Both dealers offer new services of Custom Bagging, Ag-Bag Machine & Bag sales and service, including bale tubers, bale tubes, MasterSeal and Ag-Bag's "Complete 1" product line.

Announcing the new appointment was Harold Stern, territory manager for Ag-Bag International.

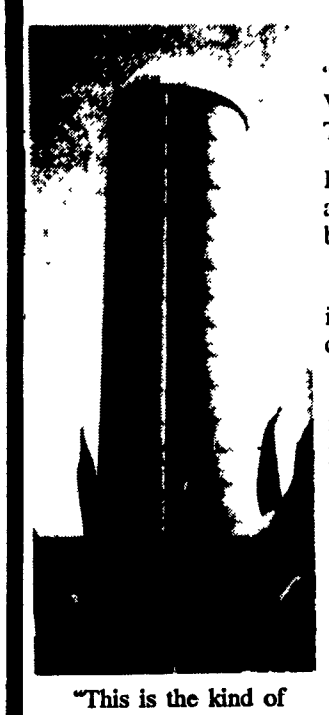
THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!



"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

"HOW WILL YOU BE STORING YOUR VALUABLE FORAGES AND GRAINS IN THE 21st CENTURY?"

It's not too early to begin planning your storage and feeding systems for the year 2000 and beyond.

As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: this can have as great an influence on PROFIT as milk price changes.

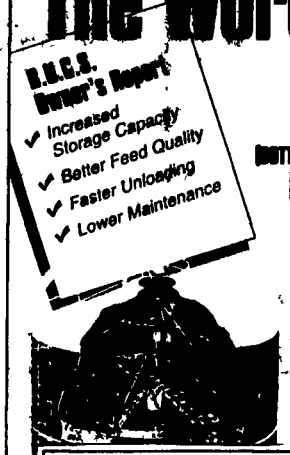
The Word Is Out!



The Jamesway Big Jim® B.U.C.S.™
BOTTOM UNLOADING CONVERSION SYSTEM is making big news!

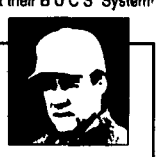
Reports are coming in from B U C S owners everywhere. And they're reporting that their systems are delivering increased storage capacity, higher quality feed, faster unloading and reduced maintenance versus their old systems. Even in silos that had been retired! But don't take our word for it. Here's what your neighbor has to say about their B U C S System!



OWNER'S REPORT #51

"We have two B U C S unloaders and get more material into the silos with much faster unloading. And tests prove we have better quality feed. We have had no problems and feel these unloaders will have much lower maintenance and service costs."

Melvin Kreider, Millstone Acres, Mt. Joy, PA
Replaced Bottom Unloaders in 20' x 80' and 20' x 60' Steel Silos

NOTICE

Effective on MAY 1st, 1996 E-Zee Milking Equipment will only take orders by phone or mail. WE WILL NO LONGER BE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC except for prearranged pickups or appointments. Stainless welding, pulsator repairs and electronic circuit board repairing will be done at the shop as usual, BUT ONLY BY APPOINTMENT, or we will be glad to recommend other local dealerships that offer these services to you on your farm. We will continue to retail new and rebuilt equipment and wholesale to other dealers as usual, but OUR BUSINESS WILL NOT BE OPEN TO THE PUBLIC. Also our current policy of FREE U.P.S. (on orders over $20.) BUT NO on the road delivery service or repair services will continue (except for some exceptions on large orders, wholesale orders, etc.). I apologize for any inconvenience this may cause, but we are no longer able to operate properly under our current system and I would rather not continue expanding.

Thank You,

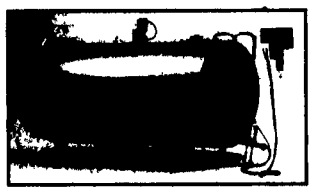
MUELLER DAIRY FARM EQUIPMENT

Scroll-Compressor Technology
New in 1994



You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment... but it can cost you more!

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller® milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

Example	Mueller	Competition
Cost of equipment	$31 000	$28 000
Cost of electricity @ 08 kW for 12 000 lbs milk d/y for 10 years	$17 550	$22 850
Total operating cost for ten years	$48 550	$50 850
Savings	$ 2 300

Mother Nature Meets Her Match

Let's face it—Mother Nature can be pretty hard on that beautiful new deck you just installed. But if you install a BROCK DECK System, you can keep your deck looking new and outwit Mother Nature.

Available in tan, white, and gray, BROCK DECK cuts just like wood, so the design possibilities are endless. But unlike wood, BROCK DECK planks and railings are made of environmentally friendly Hi Polymer PVC. They last years longer than wood and never need stain, paint or sealant.

Get the deck that you can smile about even when Mother Nature is at her worst—BROCK DECK Systems from top bloodlines from nationally used A.I. sires. These efficient cattle are coming from a grass and hay management program which will offer you an opportunity to have low input cattle with maximum output returns from your grazing grasses.

— 20-40 pair of 2nd and 3rd calvers with outstanding calves at side born Jan. to May.
— 25 open yearling heifers ready to be bred
— 15 yearling bulls ready to go and work immediately
— 2 proven older bulls with daughters in the herd
— small starter herd - 6 cow calf pairs, 4 yr. heifers, 1 bull. You'll have income this fall and new calves in spring.
— large starter herd: 10 cow calf pairs, 10 yearling heifers
1 herd bull, an excellent way to turn your pasture into income.

JOB DESCRIPTION
AGRICULTURAL MANAGER

Qualified candidates are being sought for the position of Agricultural Manager at New Bolton Center, Kennett Square, Pennsylvania. New Bolton Center is the large animal clinical, teaching and research campus of the University of Pennsylvania's School of Veterinary Medicine. The 650+ acre campus includes the Widener Hospital for Large animals, a 200 cow dairy (under construction), a 50 ewe flock, a swine research facility, and various poultry research facilities. In addition, the Center operates a 300 acre farm to support the many animal related programs.

Responsibilities of the Agricultural Manager include the supervision of all employees involved in the numerous agricultural activities at New Bolton Center. In addition, the manager will be responsible for ensuring the provision of other support activities such as animal transportation, grounds and pasture maintenance. The manager will be responsible for assuring that the agricultural operations conform to regulatory requirements and are progressive and economic. Also, the manager may participate in veterinary school courses on dairy and crop management.

Qualifications:

1. B.S. in agricultural sciences is required.
2. A minimum of 5 years experience in agricultural management.
3. Because this position interacts with a wide range of faculty and staff, excellent leadership and communication skills are necessary.
4. Working knowledge of PC based management programs and modeling is a plus.

Salary: Negotiable - On-site housing is available.

Interested applicants should forward their letter of intent, resume and the names and address of three professional references to:

BRUCE A. RAPPOPORT, ASSOCIATE DEAN
NEW BOLTON CENTER
382 WEST STREET ROAD
KENNETT SQUARE, PA. 19348

Applications will be accepted until June 1, 1996 or until a successful candidate is selected.

IN ALUMINUM BODIES
EBY BUILDS IT

M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24', landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- LANDSCAPE BODIES - Lengths to 12', We'll build to your specs!

Let EBY custom build one for you.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer customer options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business - building bodies to haul it is ours.

pmd PORCH POSTS/LAMP POSTS
Kiln Dried Ponderosa & Sugar Pine

Porch posts and matching lamp posts help create an atmosphere of understated elegance. They protect the warm, welcome feeling that only finely crafted wood can offer.

Each post features the smooth, gentle turnings that effectively soften the hard lines and corners of most homes. Made entirely of kiln-dried pine, posts can be stained or painted. When finished, they will match or accent any exterior color scheme.

Every post is treated with a wood preservative that resists the effects of weather and time. They are designed to be a graceful addition to any home and a lasting statement of good taste.

Solanco Young Farmers Hold Awards Banquet

QUARRYVILLE (Lancaster Co.) — Several local farmers were recognized at the 17th Annual Solanco Young Farmers Awards Banquet held at the Memorial United Church in Quarryville.

Recognized at the banquet as the Outstanding Young Farmer over 30 was David Gerhart of New Providence. Gerhart farms approximately 150 acres and has a milking herd of 55 Holstein cows.

Thomas Arrowsmith, Peach Bottom, received the Outstanding Young Farmer under 30 award. Arrowsmith farms in partnership with his father on their farm and milks about 60 Jersey cows.

The Active Member Award was presented to Ed Zug, Peach Bottom. Zug is a life member of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association (PYFA) and the National Young Farmer Education Association. He serves as public relations director for PYFA and secretary-treasurer for the Solanco Chapter.

This year's chapter appreciation award was presented to Fred Frey, Quarryville, for his support of the Young Farmers program. Frey generously donated his time to assist the chapter in hosting the 1995 summer conference and also assists the local chapter with their family picnic.

Three members received awards in the annual corn production contest. Rick Brenneman, Quarryville, produced 164 bushels of shelled corn per acre to win the grain division. Ed Zug, Peach Bottom, was second with 154 bushels, and Ed Harnish, Christiana, was third with 153 bushels. Brenneman also received the award for the highest grain yield average for the past three years.

In the corn silage division, Zug earned the champion trophy with a yield of 26.5 tons per acre at 65 percent moisture. Brian Zug, Peach Bottom, was second with 26.4 tons per acre and Tom Herr, Oxford, placed third with a yield of 25.1 tons per acre. Zug received the trophy for the highest silage yield average for the past three years.

In dairy production, the following awards were presented. Harnish received the award for the high Holstein herd, and the high Holstein cow for milk and protein production. Steve Aument received the award for the most improved herd average.

CORN MARKET OUTLOOK

James Dunn, Ph.D.
Agricultural Economics

Each new forecast for the corn supply is bleaker than the last, as all buyers seem to be waiting for someone else to cut back. The 1995 crop was small enough so that total supply after harvest was 1 billion bushels less than the 10.9 bushels of 1994. This total supply was also 500 million bushels less than 1994-1995 crop year usage. Since some corn is carried over to the next crop year, this year's usage would ordinarily be expected to drop by about 10 percent, with the small quantity rationed by a higher price to those willing to pay more. However, corn buyers appear to be willing to buy what they bought last year, despite higher prices.

Corn is exported, fed to livestock, or used for food, seed, and industrial uses. Exports in the 1994-1995 crop year were higher than 1993-1994 by 60 percent. Usually exports are very sensitive to price. This year is an exception. East Asia in particular is buying corn, with China leading the way. Exports are well ahead of last year and are showing no sign of slowing despite rapid increases in prices in recent weeks. Stocks of feed grains are low worldwide and foreign customers have not been deterred by higher prices.

Although prices are up nearly $2 per bushel from early 1995, the U.S. poultry industry is just beginning to reduce flock sizes. The latest report of broiler egg sets shows them at 99 percent of last year. Since last fall, broiler numbers have been about 2 to 3 percent ahead of the previous year. This is less than the normal 5 percent growth rate, but is still an increase. It will be about 10 weeks before the lower production is seen in the markets. Since birds are running about 2 percent heavier, a decrease in pounds produced may still not occur. Some firms are delaying construction of new houses, putting fewer birds in each house, and lengthening time between flocks. Many new houses are on hold. Still, when taken as a whole, the higher feed prices have not had nearly the production response I would have expected.

The latest hogs and pigs report shows some drop in pig numbers, but only a little and these are the first reductions we have seen. As recently as late March, traders were expecting a 1 percent growth rate in hogs.

The number of cattle on feed is down some, but no herd liquidation has occurred. Any adjustment has been with fewer animals placed on feed. Food, seed, and industrial usages of corn are expected to be almost identical to last year

The much higher corn prices have caused very few cutbacks in usage. This means that the crop year could end with a very low level of ending stocks. Ending stocks usually are around 1.5 billion bushels. In January, predictions of ending stocks were about 500 million bushels, but these forecasts assumed a much greater demand response than we have seen. Recent forecasts are lower still, with some now forecasting ending stocks of 200 million bushels. This is less than a 10-day supply. Some officials are discussing when we will run out of corn, which has never happened before.

Because corn will be so short by the end of the crop year, alternative feeds will be needed. Two traditional sources will be less available than in other years. This year's wheat crop is not doing well. Rumors are circulating that Illinois farmers are plowing under their winter wheat in order to plant corn because the wheat is in such poor shape that it isn't worth saving. This year's crop will probably be small and of poor quality. Wheat prices reflect this, with all the futures contracts at their lifetime highs. In most years, lower quality wheat is diverted to feed uses. This year, flour millers will probably not be so particular.

Oat planting forecasts are down from last year. The new farm bill increases planting flexibility and ends program restrictions which encouraged farmers to keep planting oats. Many farmers are choosing to plant something else The latest report shows planting intentions for corn of just less than 80 million acres. While this would be the most acreage since the mid 1980s, the low stocks at the beginning of the crop year make it unlikely that prices will return to normal until after the 1997 crop is harvested, even if the 1996 crop is big. While at one time alternative feeds were readily available, the nation now uses mostly corn. In 1960-1964, corn was 72 percent of feed grain production, but in 1990-1994 it was 88 percent. The new farm bill will probably concentrate corn production more geographically, making more of the crop susceptible to weather in the corn belt.

The futures prices for this fall's crop are now at $3.50 per bushel. It is hard to imagine what events could cause this corn price to fall much. Even the 1997 crop has a futures price of $3 per bushel for the December 1997 contract. With the strong demand for exports and the maintenance of high hog, poultry, and, to a less extent, cattle numbers, corn prices below $3 per bushel are not likely until at least late 1997, and perhaps not even then.

Extension To Demonstrate Precision Farming

COLUMBUS, Ohio — It bothers Tom Krill that, on some farms, computers are used as bookends instead of management tools.

He wants to prevent such a thing from happening again as Ohio farmers pick up another new technology — precision farming.

Krill, an agent with Ohio State University Extension in Van Wert County, has been working with area farmers as they adopt precision farming techniques.

This fresh way of farming combines the newer technologies of satellites, infrared photography and computers with the familiar tools of soil testing, field scouting and yield analysis.

It brings environmental and economic soundness to the table. By only applying the nutrients or weed control that's necessary, farmers save money and keep water clean.

This year, Krill is launching a two-year program to help farmers decide which parts of this technology are right for them.

With the help of a $250,000 Environmental Technology Initiative grant from the Environmental Protection Agency, Krill will establish three demonstration sites in Ohio.

One will be at the Farm Focus site near Van Wert, Ohio; another at the Molly Caren Agricultural Center (home of the Farm Science Review) near London, Ohio; and the third at the Fayette County agronomy farm near Washington Court House. Fayette County agent Larry Lotz is another leader in the adoption of precision farming techniques in Ohio.

"Our primary goal is to help people make better decisions," Krill said. "There is some fear of high tech stuff out there. We want people to be educated and more comfortable with high technology so that they base their decisions on the agronomic value," he said.

Much of the focus of the demonstrations will be on variable rate applications of nutrients and pesticides. Krill will show how a sprayer, for example, can apply varying rates of herbicides according to weed pressure. Or, how a fertilizer spreader can adjust applications according to fertility needs and yield potential in small sections of fields.

All equipment to be used in the demonstrations is farm-sized and available on the market. "Research has been in plot-sized work, but site-specific farming doesn't fit into plots. We're turning plots into fields, and that makes it better related to farmers," Krill said.

Krill will be using an 8300 John Deere tractor equipped with an Ag Chem Falcon control system. The Ag Chem system includes a computer that automatically adjusts the amount of nutrients or pesticides applied in different parts of a field. Up to nine different items can be adjusted at the same time, so a farmer can apply a different level of nitrogen, potassium and phosphorus throughout a field. The system can do the same thing with pesticides.

They will also be using a tool bar to vary placements of dry fertilizers, n-serve and anhydrous ammonia.

And, come harvest, yield monitors will tell how well different parts of each field performed under the new system.

Krill also plans to demonstrate global positioning systems. This technology helps a farmer know locations in a field so adjustments can be made based on computerized maps rather than visual flags.

"Our goal is to let the farmer and producer see how this technology works, and figure out what makes sense for their farm. We think by providing information so that people can make better decisions, we can speed up the adoption process of this technology," Krill said.

Okla. Ag Ed Program Wins Education Award

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — The agricultural education/agriscience program at Altus Public School in Altus, Okla., received one of 12 U.S. Secretary of Education Awards for Outstanding Vocational-Technical Education Programs.

Secretary Richard W. Riley presented the award at the National Press Club in Washington, D.C., to Altus agricultural education instructors Bruce Farquhar, Paul Fuss and Teddy Weldon, and 12 Altus students.

The awards recognize excellence in local school-to-work and vocational education, promote expansion and replication of outstanding programs, and provide national leadership in educational reform. Altus is the only agricultural education program among those recognized.

"As anyone engaged in agriculture can attest, change is inevitable," Farquhar said. "In the 50 years since our program was established, it has changed dramatically. There are now more than 200 career areas in the field of agriculture, which creates a real challenge as we try to prepare students for high-tech jobs in all aspects of modern agricultural business and industry. Our goal is to ensure that each student possesses the necesseary knowledge, skills and attitudes to be successfully employed in an ever-changing, highly technical global economy."

Altus' program combines a well-rounded academic program with hands-on learning and career exploration. Farquhar said this benefits the community, in addition to students, by providing qualified employees for the area's agricultural and agribusiness-based economy.

Altus uses participation in FFA, the agricultural education organization for students, to help students develop leadership skills, which in turn creates productive, cooperative and contributing citizens, Farquhar said. The Altus FFA Chapter has won numerous FFA awards, including five national gold emblem chapter awards, the top award given to FFA chapters.

Mo. To Host Junior Angus Show

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. — A record-breaking number of entries and exhibitors are anticipated at this year's National Junior Angus Show scheduled for July 16-20 in Kansas Citiy, Mo.

The 28th annual event, which has grown into the world's largest single-breed beef cattle show, will be held at the American Royal complex.

Exhibitors from 40 states and Canada are expected to exhibit more than 900 head of cattle at the five-day event, estimates James Fisher, director of junior activities for the American Angus Association.

"Angus In The Heartland" is the theme the Missouri Junior Angus Association selected for this year's show.

Judges for the cattle show include Dean Janssen, Bartonville, Ill., who will evaluate owned heifers; Brian McCulloh, Viroqua, Wis., who will judge the bred-and-owned heifers, bred-and-owned bulls, and cow-calf pairs; and Randy Daniel, Colbert, Ga., who will select the champions in the steer competition.

Finals of the 30th National Junior Angus Showmanship Contest will be held during the week as well. Around 70 contestants will compete for the coveted title of "Top Showman." Judges for the showmanship contest are Dean Schrock, Platte City, Mo.; Glenda Schroeder, Clarence, Iowa; and Brad McCurry, Mt. Hope, Kan.

The annual meeting of the National Junior Angus Association (NJAA) will be conducted during the show with the election of six new directors to the NJAA board.

The show offers more than just cattle exhibits for junior Angus members and their families. A public speaking contest, whi this year includes both prepar and extemporaneous division and team sales competitions w take place, as well as a Certifi Angus Beef cook-off, photogr phy and poster contest displays.

Exhibitors must be a member the American Angus Associati and be nine years old by Janua 1, 1996, and not yet be 21 years age by that date.

Applications for transfer of t animals to the junior membe must be postmarked by May 1 1996. Applications of registrati of bred-and-owned animals a the entries must be postmarked June 1, 1996.

For entries or more inform tion, contact American Angus A sociation, Junior Activities, 32 Frederick Blvd., St. Joseph, M 64506, (816) 233-3101.

A premium quality galvanized auger designed for low maintenance operation.

Mayrath introduces the all new "InLine Drive" series of portable grain augers. Mayrath has combined operational efficiency with long term dependability providing you with a high quality, GALVANIZED auger at a very affordable price. The revolutionary "InLine Drive" system minimizes the number of moving parts... greatly reducing costly downtime and maintenance in the future. The unique "InLine Drive" design features an internally mounted gearbox inside of an expanded, bell shaped tube housing. Auger flighting is positioned to allow a high volume of unrestricted grain flow around the internal gearbox. A new intake design utilizes double flighting and a cupped intake guard to offer a high capacity, complete cleanout operation. A specially engineered hopper bolts directly on top of the intake guard, further enhancing the augers capacity.

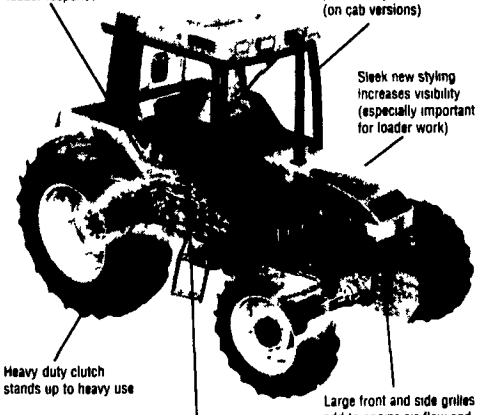
Farm Plan

GENERAL-PURPOSE TRACTOR YOU CAN REALLY GET INTO.

We Have One New Power Shift Ready For Your Farm



Super-responsive hydraulics cycle quickly for precise loader response
Plenty of glass area and repositioned controls elevate operator productivity (on cab versions)
Sleek new styling increases visibility (especially important for loader work)
Heavy duty clutch stands up to heavy use
Synchronized speed and range transmissions are smooth and easy to shift
Large front and side grilles add to engine air flow and performance

The new 3200 and 4200 Series tractors. Five tractors designed to the industry-leading performance criteria set by MAGNUM™ and MAXXUM® These new 42- to 85-PTO hp tractors set the standard for mid-range productivity.

To see which 3200/4200 tractor best suits your needs, come see us today. And while you're here, ask us about Total Product Support — our commitment to the service and parts that add life to your tractor.

KNIGHT

3000 Series Reel Auggie Mixer®

3000 SERIES REEL AUGGIES FEATURE THE FOLLOWING ADVANTAGES:

- Blends by gently lifting, fluffing, and tumbling the entire load, reducing mix time, power requirement, machine wear, and dead spots
- Aggressive upper and lower auger with hardened, replaceable knives, for thorough end-to-end movement
- Shear angle for both the upper and lower auger
- Simple slide tray or three auger discharge available
- Oil bath drive with external grease banks
- Constant Velocity PTO with integral slip clutch
- Hay-Max Kit option for better break-up of most hay and bulk materials
- Tow, truck mounted, and stationary units from 147 to 488 cubic feet

Simply . . . the Best

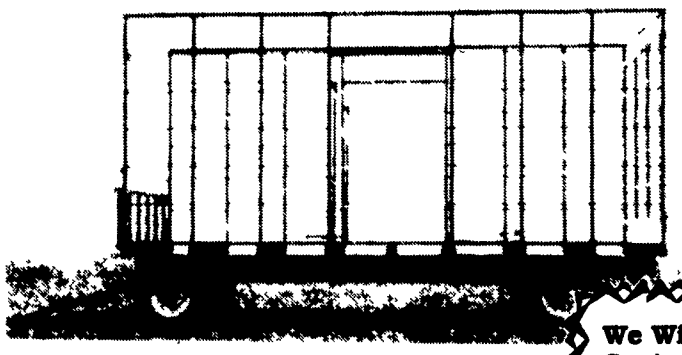
WELL BUILT Rack Wagons



We Will Custom Build Your Wagon

8' wide; 8' high; 16', 18' & 20' lengths
9' wide; 8' high; 16', 18' & 20' lengths

Description & Material Used:

- Two 4x8 fir stringers
- 3x4x8' oak cross members bolted to the fir stringers
- 18 ft. wagons have 9 cross members and 20 ft. wagons have 10 cross members
- Oak flooring nailed to the cross members with screw nails
- Racks are made out of 2" square tubing - 14' gauge - 1" square tubing between the uprights
- Swinging door at the back of the wagon; has quick release and swings 270 degrees one way
- Two 4' side openings with quick chain release
- Racks can be easily dismounted
- Painted John Deere Green or New Holland Red

FEEDER WAGONS
16', 21' and 27' lengths
Available with slant bars or self-locking head gates.

A great feature for feeding cattle in meadows or in feed lots. These wagons can be used to feed round hay bales, square bales or silage out of Ag bags or silos, etc.

The added feature of having the head locks make it nice for quick vet checks, etc.

21' has 26 head locks
27' has 32 head locks

- Feeder bottoms are sand blasted to remove rust & lead

48 HP* MASSEY FERGUSON 253

Tractor everyone can afford.

It's easy to see why the MF 253 has become known as the best bargain in the market. With the high-torque backup from its 48 hp* Perkins engine, it outworks tractors many horses larger. And uses less fuel than tractors with far fewer horses.

Plus it delivers the unequaled implement control of an advanced Ferguson hydraulics system.

And, of course there's our outstanding prices and service support. Stop in for a great deal today.

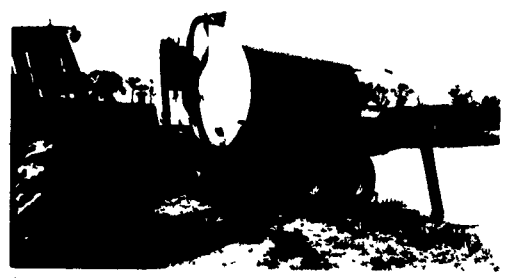
2900 Gal. Vacuum Tank w/8" Loading Boom



HAUL LIQUID MANURE ALL DAY WITHOUT GETTING OFF THE TRACTOR SEAT USING THE SLURRY BUGGY EASY LOADER.
THE SLURRY BUGGY IS DESIGNED FOR YOUR MANY LIQUID MANURE HANDLING JOBS.

Loading out of pit with 8 in boom

1500 Gal. Vacuum Tank

- ✔ A 6-inch hydraulic operated brass valve for unloading
- ✔ Has 3 different manure spreading patterns
- ✔ Tank has a float level indicator and sight glass
- ✔ A 20-inch rear manhole for easy access to tank
- ✔ Tanks are made of 5/16 thick metal
- ✔ Large air-cooled vacuum pump

This 3 point hitch Slurry Mixer's large 22" propeller produces a strong undercurrent that moves liquids, floating chunks of crust, weeds, bedding and dried manure into the propeller that chops, mixes and blends your manure into an even liquid Slurry.

MASSEY FERGUSON

With the ROLLANT 46 ROTO CUT, the incoming crop is sliced by the 14 serrated knives, spaced 2.75" apart across the width of the intake. The resulting sliced material can be compressed to a higher density and is much easier to feed out to livestock. CLASS ROLLANT round balers are a cost effective investment thanks to their output, reliability and ease of maintenance. Their versatility also helps to keep them in action for many months of the year.

BUSH HOG

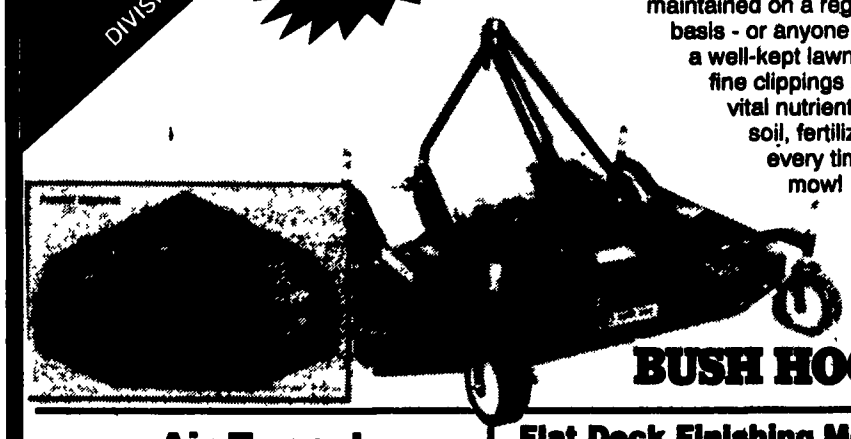
DIVISION OF ALLIED PRODUCTS CORPORATION

The Mulching Mower That Gives Something Back.

New For 1996!

The Bush Hog MTH Series is available in 60 or 72-inch cutting widths with a counter-rotating spindle design that turns the blades in opposite directions. This gives you multiple cutting and finer shredding.

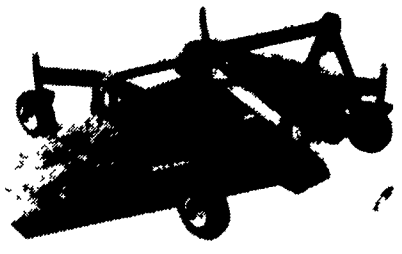
These mowers are designed for areas where the turf is maintained on a regular basis - or anyone wanting a well-kept lawn. And the fine clippings return vital nutrients to the soil, fertilizing every time you mow!



BUSH HOG

Air Tunnel Finishing Mowers

Heavy, 7-gauge steel deck plate, floating top linkage and lower link allow uniform cutting. High blade tip speeds and 1-1/2 or 2-1/4 inch blade overlap assure clean cutting. The high volume discharge chute flexes to allow mowing in heavier or damper conditions.
You can select a 60, 72 or 90-inch model.

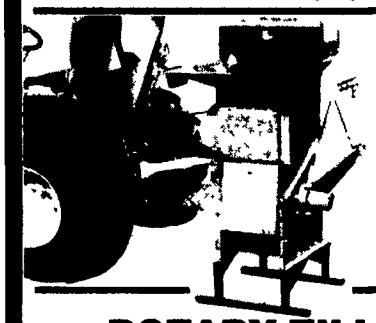


BUSH HOG

Flat Deck Finishing Mowers

For use by both property owners and commercial operators wherever smooth, clean mowing is required. The Bush Hog FTH Series gives you a choice of 48, 60 or 72-inch cutting widths.
All models feature floating top and lower links for a more uniform cut, and wide discharge chutes. Cutting height is easily adjustable from 1 to 6 inches and all gearboxes carry a 2-year limited warranty.

BUSH HOG



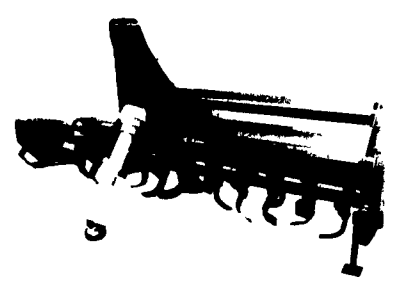
CHIPPER/SHREDDER

The perfect tool to shred grass, leaves and brush into valuable mulch and chew up 5" diameter limbs into useful wood chips. Choice of self-propelled 13 or 18 hp engine models or a handy 3-point tractor mounted unit. A blower attachment and a vacuum clean-up attachment are available.

BUSH HOG

ROTARY TILLERS

Rotary Tillers from Bush hog are available in 38, 50, 62 or 74-inch widths with an offset range of 6 to 12 inches. These rugged chain drive tillers are ideal for home garden work or the demands of professional nurserymen.



BUSH HOG

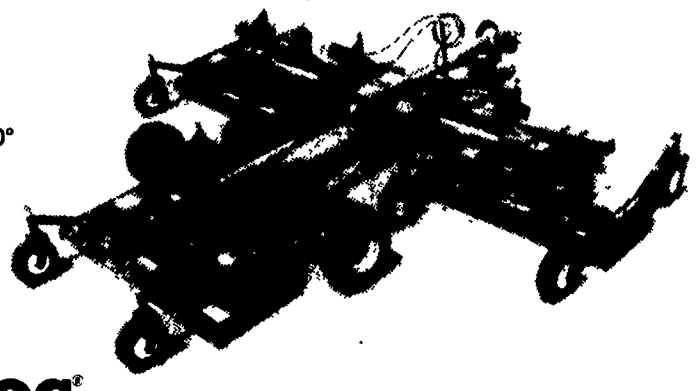
REAR DISCHARGE FINISHING MOWER

One of Bush Hog's new and growing line of Finishing Mowers, the RDTH Series Mowers are available in a choice of 60 or 72-inch cutting widths. Cutting heights from 1-1/2" to 6-1/2", in 1/2" increments. Blades overlap 1-1/2" for a cleaner cut, and the spindle design is field proven for dependability.
Rugged 7-gauge steel deck and high blade tip speeds for finer cutting action. The heavy duty gearbox has a 2-year limited warranty, and the rear discharge design provides an even discharge and distribution of material.
RDTH mowers attach with a handy 3-point, Category I hitch, and are recommended for 15 to 40 horsepower tractors.

BUSH HOG

BEST TURF MOWERS FOR A QUALITY CUT.

The Bush Hog TD Series Tri-Deck Finishing Mowers are available in 15 or 17-foot cutting widths and are ideal for sod growers, golf courses, land owners, municipalities and recreational sites.
These mowers are designed for precise cutting on even or uneven terrain...they feature a 30° up and 10° down wing flex and are rated for 40 and 45 minimum tractor horsepower. Gearbox rpm is 540, and deck construction is rugged, 7-gauge steel.



BUSH HOG

ZERO TURN MOWER

SETS THE STANDARD FOR COMFORT AND DEPENDABILITY.

Convenient, user-friendly and dependable - three words that best describe Bush Hog's true Zero Turn Mowers. Choice of two cutting widths - 48 or 60 inches, 18 or 22 hp Kohler Command gasoline engines and fingertip controls offer quick adjustment of speed, direction of travel and breaking. There are no gears to shift or pedals to push.

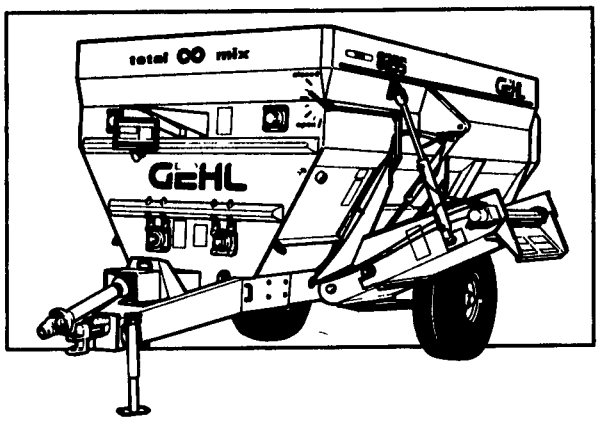
GEHL

TMR "Total Mix" Mixer Feeders



"Total Mix" TMR mixer feeders let you mix more long-stemmed hay into your ration - up to 30% by weight depending on hay type and moisture content

- "Hay - slicer auger "- Incorporates knife assemblies into the two bottom augers.
- Better mixing action - Four-auger design creates a double figure-8 mixing pattern for fast and complete mixing of all feed ingredients.
- Five sizes - 150 to 455 cubic feet capacities.

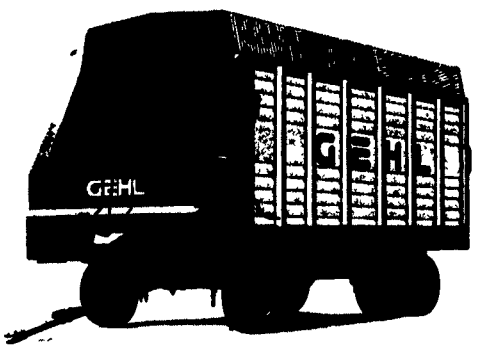
YOUR BEST FORAGE BOX VALUE



Gehl's new BU960 Self-unloading forage box has been redesigned for improved performance and durability. Features include:

- ☐ True variable-speed drive for infinite unloading speeds.
- ☐ Single lever control.
- ☐ Improved beater design.
- ☐ Stronger drive chain and reinforced roof.
- ☐ Standard highway light package.
- ☐ Optional folding 18-inch conveyor extension.

PIEDMONTESE CATTLE AUCTION

SATURDAY, MAY 4, 1996

At the Mt. Hope Sale Barn in Mt. Hope, Ohio.

A REAL OPPORTUNITY HERE!
A GOOD GROUP OF QUALITY PERCENTAGE CATTLE
COW/CALF PAIRS AND BRED COWS. All calves and many of the cows are 50% or higher Piedmontese. We have several 15/16 cow/calf pairs.

OPEN HEIFERS. A very good set of open heifers are 50% and higher Piedmontese. We will have 50 to 70 head of these heifers. There are a number of polled heifers and very good quality.

PIEDMONTESE BULLS AND FEEDER CATTLE will also be included in this sale. The bulls are full blood & 15/16. These bulls are ready for service.

APPROXIMATELY 150 HEAD at this auction. This will be a real opportunity to build up your herd with cattle that produce the meat that everyone is looking for - lean, low in fat, low in cholesterol, low in calories. Piedmontese trims the fat genetically, without sacrificing tenderness and flavor.

ALL SPRINGHILL FARMS' CATTLE will be tested for out-of-state shipment and are on a vaccination program.

Facts about Piedmontese cattle from Italy:
(1) When Piedmontese bull calves are 5 days of age, producers contract them to feeders at 2-1/2 times the going price for calves that are not Piedmontese
(2) The Italian cattle feeder has a ready market for finished double muscled bulls. An animal wieghing 1100 lbs. will net apprex. $240 more than any other breeds.
(3) The Italian retailer is happy, too. He cuts steaks from 80% of the carcass versus 40% for normal carcasses. Steaks can literally be cut from end to end on a Piedmontese carcass.

Source: Beef Cattle Science By Dr. Ensminger

APPROXIMATELY 20 HEAD OF RIDING HORSES will be sold after cattle. There will be horses in the sale that have worked cattle. Also a couple of pleasure horses.

#1 VOLUME BUYER AWARD: A yearling heifer will be awarded to the highest sale buyer.
#2 VOLUME BUYER AWARD: 10 straws of semen to be awarded to second highest buyer.
Northeast Piedmontese Association will be available to answer question.
